A. F. of L. Finds Reds Behind CIO Plan

CHARGE 'ONE BIG UNION' IS IDEA OF COMMUNISTS

Conferees War Over Lewis Scheme.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—Peace negotiations between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations thus far have been confined almost exclusively to a violent dispute over the communist origin of the plan of settlement proposed by John L. Lewis, dictator of the C. I. O.

The negotiators have kept the fight over the communist origin of Lewis' plan a secret, but the facts were learned tonight by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The plan which the A. F. of L. leaders charge is communist-inspired is for "one big union"—to be composed of the A. F. of L., the C. I. O., and the railroad brotherhoods. In producing his scheme at the first White House "peace" conference a week ago Lewis surprised not only the A. F. of L. negotiators but his colleagues on the C. I. O. committee and President Roosevelt as well.

A. F. of L. Discovers Parallel.

Soon after the White House conference, it was learned, the A. F. of L. negotiators found a deadly parallel between the Lewis proposal and a scheme which the communist party of the United States has been urging since June, 1937. At that time the scheme was set forth in a resolution adopted by the communist central committee approving a report by Earl Browder, the party's general secretary.

[The C. I. O. and communist plans are compared on page 8.]

Authorship of the plan submitted by Lewis at the White House conference is attributed to Len de Caux, communist editor of the C. I. O. News and Lewis' press agent.

The A. F. of L. negotiators, it transpired today, accused Lewis at the next conference of attempting to put over a communist plot. Lewis, it is said, bellowed with rage when the communist issue was raised and began delivering ultimatums in the name of a mandate from the President, who requested the negotiations.

Lewis' Threat Is Quoted.

"We have a mandate from the President of the United States and he has a mandate from the 130,000,000 people of the United States," Lewis is quoted as saying. "If you put out anything about this communist business you'll wreck the peace negotiations and the responsibility will be on your heads."

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, it was learned, assisted Lewis in putting pressure on the A. F. of L. negotiators to prevent publication of anything concerning the communist origin of the Lewis scheme. Miss Perkins directed her appeal to Dan Tobin, head of the Teamsters' union and chairman of the Roosevelt for President Labor committees in 1932 and 1936.

When the A. F. of L. rejected the Lewis proposal the day it was submitted, on the ground it was "not even designed for serious consideration," Mr. Roosevelt persuaded Tobin to join the A. F. of L. negotiators.

Thereafter the A. F. of L. committee agreed to discuss the Lewis plan and set forth reasons why it could not be accepted.

Evidence Shown Hillman.

Both Sidney Hillman and Philip Murray, Lewis' colleagues on the C. I. O. negotiating committee, vehemently denied the A. F. of L. accusation that Lewis was trying to put over a communist plot. Hillman, it is understood, rebuked Lewis when he was confronted by the evidence showing the communists had first proposed what Lewis called "my plan."

Secretary Perkins in a statement Sunday said:

"Since President Roosevelt called the [labor] peace conference . . . messages calling for peace and speaking for approximately 1,500,000 workers in both labor groups have reached the United States department of labor."

According to sources close to the A. F. of L. negotiators, however, not a single officer of an A. F. of L. national or international union has demanded a settlement with the C. I. O., unless it could be accomplished on the terms proposed by the A. F. of L. at negotiations in December, 1937.

STEPPING STONES

Kidnap Charlie McCarthy and Escape in Taxi

New York, March 15 [Wednesday].—[Special.]—Charlie McCarthy, the radio ventriloquist's dummy, was kidnaped last night.

Charlie McCarthy.

And the police said it was no gag. They were searching for the wisecracking little dummy, who brought fame and wealth to Edgar Bergen, early today without a clew to his whereabouts.

The kidnaping was revealed shortly before midnight when a colored hotel page boy, little bigger than Charlie himself, was found staggering out of a pile of snow at 11th avenue and 37th street.

The page boy, Frankie Brown, told this story when he was freed of the towels that bound his hands and feet:

Late last night he was summoned to a room in the Belmont-Plaza hotel, where he is employed. The man who summoned him said:

"I'm Edgar Bergen. Go over to the Waldorf and get me my mail and a suitcase, which contains Charlie McCarthy. Be mighty careful with Charlie. Go to room 17-G. The floor matron will let you in."

Resplendent in his gaudy uniform, the midget page boy went across Lexington avenue to the Waldorf. He got the mail and Charlie without difficulty.

Carried Off in Taxi.

He was staggering along under the weight of the bag when two men rushed up, threw a towel over his head, and tossed him and Charlie into a taxicab. They drove off laughing, but tied the page boy up in a business-like manner and threw him out into the snowpile.

Bergen, who had gone to a theater and then to the Stork club with his secretary, learned of the kidnaping upon his return.

He discounted theories that Charlie, avowedly underpaid, might have had himself kidnaped to cut in on some of his earnings that Bergen collects.

HURRY! TODAY'S LAST CHANCE TO ESCAPE INCOME TAX PENALTY

Carter H. Harrison was a busy man yesterday.

Mr. Harrison is the collector of internal revenue at Chicago. It is to him that you and a quarter million other Chicagoans must make your 1938 income tax return before midnight tonight.

Yesterday his desk in the United States courthouse was a mass of papers and records. Mr. Harrison was scribbling frantically. He was not, however, casting up the millions of dollars that have been paid into his office. He was making out his own income tax return.

The largest check received to date at the Chicago office has been for about $200,000. Most large taxpayers pay on the last day.

Income taxpayers will receive aid in preparing their returns today from deputy collectors stationed in THE TRIBUNE'S public service offices at Madison and Dearborn streets and in the Tribune Tower. So far this year 15,287 taxpayers have been given help at these offices.

Cashier's cages in the collector's office at the United States courthouse will close at 8 p. m. today, but clerks will be on hand to receive returns until midnight.

$8,041 Spent to Grow Old Cuts Helen Menken's Tax

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—The board of tax appeals ruled today that Helen Menken was immune from income taxes on $8,041 she spent growing old in "The Old Maid," Pulitzer prize play of 1935. She said she spent the money for costumes showing her gradually increased age in the play. The board decided it a "business expense."

Police Watch for a Toper Who Profits on Each Swig

All police districts last night were ordered to be on the lookout for a toper who gets a 25 cent drink and makes $9.75 profit every time he visits a tavern. The customer has left a trail of counterfeit $10 bills in South Chicago, East Side, and Grand Crossing drinking places.

Laundry Walls a Prison Make—for Builders

The hopes of Joseph Lenzini, proud owner of Highwood's largest laundry, were severely dashed yesterday. He went around last evening mumbling about "haste" and "waste."

Mr. Lenzini's troubles involve two things. One is the new $15,000 laundry building he is erecting at 506 Waukegan avenue, Highwood. The other is a well the Snelten brothers of Northbrook have been drilling inside the new building for the last two weeks.

Demands Speed and Gets It!

When Mr. Lenzini awarded contracts he specified that the building and the well both must be completed by May 1. He demanded speed and until yesterday he was well satisfied.

Even though the well contractors lost a 300 pound bit at the 200 foot mark a week ago and have been fishing for it ever since, Mr. Lenzini was not alarmed. There was still time.

But all that was changed yesterday by the visit of Mayor Charles Portilla of Highwood, a landscaping contractor. He looked at rig and walls. "Say, I don't think you can get that truck out of this building," he said.

The truck and drill weigh eight tons. There is a heavy steel crane on the truck to carry the drill and the cables. This rig was driven to the drilling spot inside the building lines two weeks ago. Since then, however, the walls of the laundry have risen around it.

Must Tear Down to Get It Out.

Lowered and retracted as far as possible, the crane still projects 11 feet into the air. The front windows of the laundry are wide enough for the truck, but a heavy steel beam forms the top of the windows at a height of 10 feet.

Last night it was decided that the only way to get the drilling rig out of the building was to tear out a 9 by 12 rear window and the walls above and below it.

That will be done when the well is finished.

"We were too busy fishing for our bit," explained Cornelius Snelten.

"And we had our minds on the deadline," said D. J. Baruffi, builder.

Meanwhile Mr. Lenzini has been taking cold comfort from Chaucer, who wrote: "Ther nis [is] no werkman, what-so-ever he be, that may bothe werke wel and hastily."

GERMAN ARMY MARCHES INTO BOHEMIA AS HUNGARY AND RUMANIA SEIZE LAND

Grab Portions of Ruthenia; Poles Ready to Strike.

LONDON, March 15 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Rumanian troops have occupied more than twenty villages in the eastern part of Carpatho-Ukraine [Ruthenia], a Reuters [British] news agency dispatch from Prague reported early today. Prague received the information from Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia.

The dispatch also said Premier Augustin Volosin, who yesterday declared the independence of Ruthenia, formerly the easternmost province of Czecho-Slovakia, had fled to Rumania. The eastern part of Ruthenia has about 40,000 Rumanian inhabitants and has a common frontier with Rumania.

Poland Watches Action.

Prior to the Rumanian occupation of the villages, King Carol called his cabinet into emergency session in Bucharest to study the Ruthenian crisis caused by its isolation from Prague and the invasion by Hungarian troops.

At the same time Foreign Minister Josef Beck of Poland received the Rumanian ambassador and the Hungarian minister in Warsaw to discuss the situation. Poland's frontier with Ruthenia is opposite that of Hungary and Rumania. Poland increased its forces along the border "for the protection" of the frontier. The number of troops was not disclosed.

Hungarians March On.

BUDAPEST, March 15 [Wednesday].—(AP)—With her armies already halfway across Carpatho-Ukraine [Ruthenia] Hungary announced early today that the dissolved Czecho-Slovak government's answer to an ultimatum demanding evacuation of the eastern province was unsatisfactory.

The Hungarian foreign office announced that in consequence of the unsatisfactory reply "immediate measures will be taken."

The ultimatum had been delivered with German approval, Hungarian sources said.

The foreign office said the Czech answer received at 11 p. m. yesterday, four hours before a 12 hour clause of the ultimatum expired, refused Hungarians in Carpatho-Ukraine the right to form their own armed formations, one of Hungary's demands.

Czechs Begin Withdrawal.

Hungary yesterday delivered a 24 hour ultimatum, expiring at 3 p. m. [8 a. m. today, Chicago time], demanding withdrawal of Czech troops. This ultimatum Czecho-Slovakia agreed to accept. The withdrawal of an estimated 10,000 Czech troops in Ruthenia actually began yesterday evening.

The Czech reply agreed to protect Hungarian lives in Carpatho-Ukraine, another Hungarian demand, but a special announcement here asserted:

"In recent hours reports have been received that Hungarian citizens have been assailed and persecuted."

The foreign office said the Czech refusal to allow Hungarians in Carpatho-Ukraine to arm themselves was made at the request of the new independent government proclaimed at Chust, the capital, yesterday by Premier Augustin Volosin.

Reach Capital Today.

Hungarian troops yesterday were reported to have reached Szolyva and Homonna, half way up to the Polish border. They were expected to reach Chust today.

[A dispatch from Bratislava, Slovakia, reported forty persons were killed yesterday in a battle between Czech troops and Euthenians in Chust. It was said the fighting developed when Czech forces surrounded a hotel occupied by the German consul. A British agency reported from Prague that there were more than 100 casualties when "Czech troops suppressed an attempted revolt" in Chust.]

Up to the time of Volosin's announcement the plan had been for Hungarian troops concentrated near Munkacs and Ungvar to wait until Czech troops had withdrawn before entering upon an "invitation" to take possession.

Hungarian reports said Czech border forces began unexpectedly to fire across the frontier near Munkacs. Hungarian forces returned the fire, then crossed the frontier and seized the Czech detachment. They seized the town of Podhering, south of Munkacs, and marched on.

War Flashes

High points in the middle Europe war news:

1—Hitler's army began the occupation of Bohemia and Moravia, last remnants of the Czech state. Hitler announced he had taken the Czechs "under the protection of the German reich."

2—Rumania seized part of eastern Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia), occupying more than 20 villages.

3—Hungarian troops invaded Carpatho-Ukraine. Hungary planned to seize the province and establish a common frontier with Poland.

4—A Polish army was massed along the southern frontier of Poland, ready to march.

5—Slovakia formally seceded from Czecho-Slovakia, as desired by Hitler. Carpatho-Ukraine followed suit.

Hitler Places Czechs Under His Protection

"The German people:

"After Germany a few months ago was forced to take its fellow compatriots [Sudetenland] living in closed settlements under protection against the unbearable terroristic régime of Czecho-Slovakia similar renewed symptoms appeared increasingly in the last weeks.

"This must lead to unbearable circumstances in a space in which so many nationalities live next to another.

"As reaction to these renewed attacks against the freedom and life of national groups these latter now have detached themselves from Prague.

Charges Chaotic Excesses.

"Czecho-Slovakia thereby ceased to exist. Since Sunday chaotic excesses occurred in many districts in which numerous Germans fell as victims.

"By the hour the calls for help of those affected and persecuted increased.

"From the populous German language islands which the generosity of Germany left in Czecho-Slovakia last autumn there again is beginning to flow into Germany a stream of fugitives deprived of their possessions.

"Continuation of these circumstances must lead to destruction of the last order in a territory in which Germany is interested vitally—a territory indeed which belonged to the German reich for over a thousand years.

Tells Order for Troops.

"In order finally to remove this threat of freedom and in order to create the presuppositions for a necessary new order in this space of living I have decided to order German troops to march into Bohemia and Moravia effective today.

"They will disarm terroristic bands and Czech forces protecting them, take under protection the lives of all those threatened, and thereby guarantee a basis for introduction of fundamental regulation which will do justice to the meaning of the thousand year old history and practical necessity of the German and Czech people.

"Berlin, fifteenth of March, 1939.

[Signed] "ADOLF HITLER."

NAZIS TELL MEN 25-35 IT'S A CRIME NOT TO HAVE 4 OR 5 CHILDREN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 14.—"Every healthy young German between the ages of 25 and 35 years deliberately commits a great crime if he fails to present the German people with at least four to five children," the Schutzstaffel's Black Corps periodical declared today.

Prague Asks People to Be Calm When Troops Arrive.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on Back Page.)

BERLIN, March 15 (Wednesday, 8 a. m.).—Reichsfuehrer Hitler's army occupied the central Czech provinces of Bohemia and Moravia this morning. German troops reached the outskirts of Prague at 8 a. m. (1 a. m. Chicago time).

An official statement issued here early today said Hitler had "taken the Czech people under the protection of the German reich."

The announcement was given to the Czech people by the Czech ministry of national defense in Prague at 4:30 a. m. The announcement, which was made over the radio, warned the population not to resist the German army, since this would be against the best interests of the country. Upon the announcement of this final blow to the already dead Czecho-Slovak republic church bells began to toll in mourning throughout Bohemia and Moravia.

Czech Plea Futile.

The announcement was made shortly after the close of a dramatic three hour meeting here between Reichsfuehrer Hitler, who now is acknowledged to be the supreme master of central Europe, and Emil Hacha, Czecho-Slovak president. Hacha had come to Berlin in a forlorn effort to save what he could of Czech independence.

Within twenty-four hours he had witnessed the complete disintegration of the republic—the secession of Slovakia and Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia).

At 4:15 a. m. the conference broke up and the white haired Hacha returned to his hotel, accompanied by his foreign minister, Frantisek Chvalkovsky. German officials said the Czech leaders had accepted all of Hitler's conditions.

The Czechs were grave but kept their composure perfectly. As they drove away from Hitler's chancellery an honorary military detachment rolled drums.

Statement Issued.

Later an official statement concerning the Hitler-Hacha conference was issued. It said:

"The conviction was expressed by both sides that the purpose of all efforts must be the guarantee of quiet, order, and peace in this part of central Europe.

"The Czecho-Slovak state president declared that he, in order to serve this purpose and in order to reach a final satisfaction, places the fate of the Czech people and land trustingly in the hands of the Fuehrer of the German reich.

"The Fuehrer accepted this declaration and expressed his determination that he will take the Czech people under the protection of the German reich and that he will guarantee autonomous development of its national life in accordance with its own peculiarity."

Three Armies March.

Even as this drama was being unfolded in Berlin the armies of three invading nations were marching through the dismembered Czecho-Slovak republic. The army of a fourth nation, Poland, was stationed on the frontier ready to march.

The German military steam roller, after having crossed the border and occupied the city of Maehrisch-Ostrau [Moravska-Ostrava] last night, continued southeastward across northern Slovakia. The Nazi troops marched from Maehrisch-Ostrau to Frydek, Mistek, and Zilina. Clashes were reported at Frydek. From Zilina the Germans continued eastward. Their strategy appeared to be to block the Poles from marching in.

Farther to the east Hungarian troops marched northward through Carpatho-Ukraine toward the Polish border. Early this morning they were halfway across the country.

Rumania Grabs a Slice.

And still farther to the east, at the tip of Carpatho-Ukraine, the Rumanian army marched in and seized a slice of territory.

In the midst of this confusion Czech and Slovak troops fought one another with tanks and heavy artillery in the Tatra hills.

The Hungarian invasion apparently was meeting little resistance. Czech forces under Gen. Svatek engaged the Hungarians in battle when the invasion started and were successful in holding up the advance for four hours. But last night the Czech government, with Poles, Slovaks, and Hungarians encircling Ruthenia, felt it would be useless for the army to try to oppose the overwhelmingly stronger forces, especially since it was expected that German reënforcements would arrive soon. The government ordered its troops to withdraw to Rumanian territory.

Drama Over the Radio.

The Czech defense ministry's solemn announcement of the approaching Nazi occupation was dramatic. It was repeated over the air every five minutes. It read:

"Attention! Attention! Order from the president of the republic! Order from the minister of national defense to all formations:

"German army infantry and aircraft are beginning occupation of the republic's territory at 6 a. m. Their advance must not be resisted.

"The slightest resistance will bring most unforeseen consequences. In that case they would intervene with utter brutality.

"All commands have to obey the order. The units will be disarmed. Military and civil airplanes must remain in airports. None must take to the air."

Czech Citizens Defy Nazis.

Dispatches from Maehrisch-Ostrau, the third biggest city of the dead republic, described the march of German troops into the city.

These reports said that when the German tanks arrived the citizens stood up in front of them and started singing the Czech national anthem.

The Germans, it was reported, thereupon fired two volleys into the air. The crowd dispersed and the tanks moved on. Later there were more demonstrations of Czech patriotism and more shots were fired.

The commander of the occupational army, it was said, assumed the powers of governor and under his instruction the vice burgomaster of Maehrisch-Ostrau ordered the citizens to go home. A curfew was imposed from 9 p. m. to 6 a. m. Weapons, explosives, and radio sets were ordered delivered to military authorities.

Germany has 210,000 troops on the frontiers of Czecho-Slovakia, armed with the most modern of death dealing weapons. Another 300,000 German troops are massed behind them, ready for all emergencies.

Thousands of military trucks filled with soldiers in full field equipment passed through Vienna en route to the Czech border.

At 2 a. m. heavy artillery and more than 100 tanks passed through the city, heading in the direction of Brunn. Rumors persisted that shots were exchanged between Germans and Czechs on the border near Brunn, but confirmation was unobtainable.

Numerous women in Vienna received mobilization orders in registered letters from the labor bureau.

Similar to Previous Grabs.

The death knell of Czecho-Slovakia was sounded yesterday noon when the Rev. Father Joseph Tiso, who was removed by President Hacha last week as premier of Slovakia and who was reappointed to the post yesterday, appealed to Hitler to "extend his help immediately to the independent Slovak state."

Before issuing this appeal, Tiso and his colleagues in a secret meeting of the Slovak diet had proclaimed their country's independence. They obeyed the instructions they had received from Hitler in Berlin last night.

This appeal was the exact counterpart of the telegram which Dr. Arthur Seyss Inquart, Nazi leader in Vienna, sent to Hitler just a year ago asking him to enter Austria.

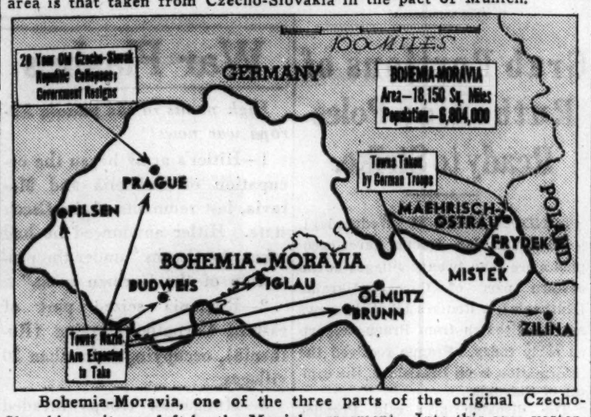
The entire campaign for the overthrow of the Slovak and the Czecho-Slovak governments was modeled on the system the Nazis used to attain power in their own country, in Austria, and in the Sudetenland.

Today the whole of Germany resounds with denunciations of the Czechs, who are called barbarians, the same as it resounded with denunciations of the "Red barbarians" before Hitler came to power in Germany, of the "Schuschnigg barbarians" before the seizure of Austria, and the "Benes barbarians" before the conquest of Sudetenland.

[Kurt Schuschnigg was deposed by the Nazis as chancellor of Austria, and Eduard Benes was forced out as president of Czecho-Slovakia.]

The Death of Czecho-Slovakia

The armies of three nations, Germany, Hungary, and Rumania, marched into Czecho-Slovakia yesterday, thus speeding the breakup of the nation set up as a result of the world war. In the map above the ruled area is that taken from Czecho-Slovakia in the pact of Munich.



Bohemia-Moravia, one of the three parts of the original Czecho-Slovakia, as it was left by the Munich agreement. Into this area yesterday marched German troops. They were ordered to occupy the two provinces, including Prague, the Czech capital.

The Polish army was massed on the border yesterday, ready to invade Slovakia, another province of Czecho-Slovakia, but German troops were distributed to prevent the Polish invasion.

PRAGUE IS CALM AS NAZI TROOPS BEGIN ENTRANCE

Fear Stricken Jews and Emigres Run to Cover.

PRAGUE, March 15.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—German troops, coming to give Adolf Hitler's "protection" to the shattered Czech state, reached Kobylis airport at the outskirts of Prague today at 7 a. m. [1 a. m. Chicago time].

Three automobiles carrying officers previously entered the capital to confer with Prague authorities.

Loud speakers at intervals admonished the population to remain quiet when the troops entered. It explained that they were coming by agreement between Chancellor Hitler of Germany, the Czech president, Emil Hacha, and Foreign Minister Frantisek Chvalkovsky.

Shop Girls Fill Streets.

Groups of several hundred solemn faced persons gathered before loud speakers. Streets were filled with shop girls going to work and with delivery wagons on their early morning rounds. Stores opened as usual.

There was much discussion, but it was quiet. People spoke in undertones.

Jews [there are about 35,000 in Prague] and between 500 and 1,000 German emigres were panic stricken. They sought ways of leaving what was Czecho-Slovakia but exits were closed. Many went into hiding.

They went to bed with a safe feeling in Czecho-Slovakia Monday night. Last night they went to bed in Bohemia with an uneasy feeling. They got up this morning in a state subject to German wishes. A boundary had passed over them during the night.

Events Move Swiftly.

The 20 year old federal republic of Czecho-Slovakia was formally dissolved yesterday by what was left of its government, five and a half months after its first dismemberment by the great powers of Europe at Munich.

Business Partly Paralyzed.

Reports from several provincial cities said that anti-Jewish demonstrations occurred and that business was partly paralyzed. In Brunn all stores were closed.

Prague's police kept crowds moving to prevent attacks on Jews and to forestall clashes between Fascists and anti-Fascists. There were some minor disturbances late last night and the police broadcast a prohibition against loitering. The streets thereafter were deserted.

An ironical touch was added to the disappearance of the Czecho-Slovak federated state by the fact that at noon yesterday a Hungarian-Czech commission fixed the final boundary between Carpatho-Ukraine, Slovakia, and Hungary.

CHICAGO'S CZECHS MASS TONIGHT IN PROTEST SESSION

Chicago's Czechs will hold a mass-meeting tonight in the Pilsen park auditorium, 26th street and Albany avenue, to protest Nazi aggression in central Europe. Jan Masaryk, son of the founder and first president of the Czecho-Slovak republic, who resigned as his country's ambassador to England after the Munich conference, will be one of the speakers.

The keynote address will be made by Joseph Martinek, who for twenty-five years has edited Czech and Slovak publications in America. Martinek, an American citizen, spent the last four years editing newspapers in Czecho-Slovakia. His address will outline his views of Germany's aims in the present imperialistic movement.

POLAND'S TROOPS MOVE UP TO AID HUNGARIAN ARMY

Soldiers Mass at Border of Carpatho-Ukraine.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, March 14.—Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, Polish "strong man," today ordered the garrisons on the Carpatho-Ukrainian [Ruthenian] frontier greatly strengthened. In addition several divisions are proceeding to new positions. The order followed a talk between the marshal and Foreign Minister Col. Josef Beck.

Although the troops have not yet been ordered to advance into Carpatho-Ukraine, they are guarding against attempts of Carpatho-Ukrainians to enter Poland.

It is obvious here that Warsaw will attempt to attain a common frontier with Hungary, which, it is assumed here, is only a matter of hours. The attitude of Germany, which originally opposed the common frontier, is still unknown.

Receives Nazi Envoy.

Beck received Hans Adolf von Moltke, the German ambassador, last night, who left for Berlin after the conference. It is understood Beck informed the German ambassador of Poland's determination to "see the issue through" and establish a common frontier with Hungary now that Carpatho-Ukrainia is cut off from Prague through Slovakia's declaration of independence.

Sympathetic as the Poles are to Slovaks, it would be intolerable to Warsaw, according to the official viewpoint, should Germany extend her encirclement plans without Poland at least being compensated with a common frontier with Hungary.

This has been Beck's aim since the dismemberment of Czecho-Slovakia by the peace of Munich last autumn. Inasmuch as King Carol of Rumania has withdrawn his opposition and Italy appears friendly to the idea, Beck has decided to act.

Ready to Aid Hungary.

The original intention in Poland was to help Hungary in all possible ways short of military aid. In the present circumstances, however, even this is possible should Hungary encounter too much resistance in her invasion of Carpatho-Ukraine.

What Poland fears apart from German interference is the establishment of an independent Ukrainian state. This explains Poland's determination to go further than it would have a short time ago.

According to reports here tonight, Hungarian troops are within eighteen miles of the Polish frontier.

Vienna Cancels Military Parade in Honor of Hitler

VIENNA, March 14.—(AP)—A military parade, which was to have taken place at noon tomorrow in the presence of Reichsfuehrer Hitler on the anniversary of his triumphal entry into the city after the annexation of Austria, was canceled today.

At Swords' Points

Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, whose armies invaded Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia), in yesterday's dismemberment of Czecho-Slovakia. German troops also were on the march bent on preventing a wholesale land grab by Poland and Hungary.

King Carol, the boss of Rumania, sent his troops into the eastern part of Carpatho-Ukraine, which is inhabited largely by Rumanians.

Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, dictator of Poland, held his armies ready to march across the border of Slovakia. They were near the German army which occupied towns on the Silesian-Czech-Polish border.

TISO, SLOVAKIA'S PREMIER, LEADS CATHOLIC PARTY

Dr. Joseph Tiso, new premier of the republic of Slovakia, is the leader of the Slovakia Catholic People's party, one of the eight major parties in shattered Czecho-Slovakia. This party represents the extreme Roman Catholic elements in Slovakia. It secured 564,273 votes in 1935, winning eleven seats in the senate. This party is the result of a secession from the Czecho-Slovakia Catholic People's party, formed in 1918 of a combination of parties and having great strength among the peasants.

Dr. Tiso, who is a Roman Catholic priest, on the occasion of his appointment as premier of the autonomous province of Slovakia Oct. 7 last, made a speech in the Zilana town hall in which he said:

"I accepted this nomination in order to show that we want to live by peaceful means; that we do not want war, and that we believe in peaceful solution of all difficulties. We Slovaks will be able to lead the foreign policy of fighting against communism."

BRITAIN, FRANCE TO STAND ALOOF IN CZECH CRISIS

Chamberlain Says There Has Been No Aggression.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 14.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today told the British parliament there has been no aggression against Czecho-Slovakia and that his government has no intention of intervening in central European events.

The British premier declared the pledge he gave last September under the Munich agreement, which was reached under his policy of appeasing the dictators and which carved up Czecho-Slovakia to give Sudetenland to Germany, was "one against unprovoked aggression against Czecho-Slovakia. No such aggression has taken place."

Promised Frontier Guarantee.

The pledge to which Chamberlain referred was contained in an annex to the Munich pact expressing the willingness of Great Britain and France to guarantee Czecho-Slovakia against further loss of territory after the surrender of Sudetenland.

When a member of the house of commons charged that the British government now is completely disinterested in Czecho-Slovakia, Chamberlain declared this was an "unwarrantable assumption." He made it clear, however, that his government would take no action.

In addition to Chamberlain's stand that no aggression has taken place against Czecho-Slovakia, the British government takes the viewpoint that the promise to guarantee the new Czech frontiers has not yet come into force because those frontiers have not been delimited finally.

France Also Stands Aloof.

Dispatches from Paris indicated that France would follow the British lead and remain strictly aloof from the destruction of what remains of the Czecho-Slovakia republic. In fact, it was suggested that the British and French were not too greatly displeased by the development.

The reason for this, it was said, was that it was hoped Germany's new move would delay indefinitly Italy's territorial claims against France. This reasoning was based on the belief that with his army occupied in expanding eastward, Reichsfuehrer Hitler would have little time to support Italy's demands. Italy, in turn, was not expected to attempt to secure French territory without German support.

A BROKEN PLEDGE

The pledge to Czecho-Slovakia, which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain indicated yesterday would be ignored by the British and French governments, was expressed during the Anglo-French negotiations with Germany last September. It constituted a willingness by Britain and France to guarantee Czecho-Slovakia against further loss of territory after the surrender of Sudetenland to Germany. Subsequently, this undertaking was embodied in the Munich agreement signed by Britain, France, Germany, and Italy. An annex to the Munich agreement read:

"His majesty's government in the United Kingdom and the French government have entered into the above agreement [the Munich pact] on the basis that they stand by the offer contained in paragraph VI. of the Anglo-French proposals of Sept. 19 relating to an international guarantee of the new boundaries of the Czecho-Slovak state against unprovoked aggression."

[The paragraph referred to reads: "Accordingly, his majesty's government in the United Kingdom would be prepared as a contribution to the pacification of Europe to join in an international guarantee of the new boundaries of the Czecho-Slovak state against unprovoked aggression. One of the principal conditions of such a guarantee would be the safeguarding of the independence of Czecho-Slovakia against unprovoked aggression in place of the existing treaties which involve reciprocal obligations of a military nature."]

"When the question of the Polish and Hungarian minorities in Czecho-Slovakia has been settled," the annex continued, "Germany and Italy, for their part, will give a guarantee to Czecho-Slovakia."

Slovakia Turns Into Republic and Hitler Becomes Its Boss

BRATISLAVA, Slovakia, March 14.—(AP)—The 2,400,000 inhabitants of Slovakia, too bewildered by the swift rush of events to cheer much, today found they constituted a new republic under Germany's protection.

Adelbert Tuka [Vice premier] [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The Slovak parliament in a silent, rising vote severed connection with the disintegrating Czecho-Slovak republic whose end was formally decreed in Prague.

A new Slovak republic was formed and Dr. Joseph Tiso, backed by a promise of military aid from Adolf Hitler, if necessary, was made its first premier.

Slovaks Astonished.

The first reaction of Slovaks was astonishment rather than elation at the sudden success of their long-standing separatist agitation.

Yesterday they were Czecho-Slovak citizens and restless under what they termed unfair treatment as second class citizens. Today they believed themselves free citizens of a new republic. Crowds thronging the snowy streets of Bratislava congratulated one another on having thrown off "the Czech yoke," even though it was done with exacting obligations to Germany.

Tiso, a stocky Catholic priest who was ousted last week by the Prague government for countenancing separatist agitation, was the central figure in parliament's deliberations behind closed doors in the rambling "Zupny Dom" [District House].

Reports on Talks with Hitler.

He reported on his conversations last night with Adolf Hitler in Berlin in which he was promised German military aid to win independence.

That promise was enough to bring a unanimous vote for independence by the 40 members of the old regional parliament. This assembly had been set up when Prague granted regional autonomy to Slovakia after the Munich agreement, Sept 29. Twenty-three members of parliament, many of them considered unsympathetic to the independence move, did not attend.

Tiso included Prof. Adelbert Tuka in his cabinet, naming him vice premier. Karl Sider, the last premier under Czech dominance, was dropped from the picture. Tiso and his ministers met to form the framework of the new state which is called the Republic of Slovakia.

A close German protectorate, it probably will have a parliament, but great authority will be lodged with the chief of state. A customs union with Germany is expected to be formed and its currency will be tied to the German mark.

May Join Anti-Red Pact.

Close association with the Rome-Berlin axis seemed certain and there was a possibility Slovakia might join the anti-communist agreement to which Germany, Italy, Hungary, Japan and Manchukuo have adhered.

Observers forecast that the new state would plot a course friendly to the Roman Catholic church and that probably communism and socialism would be banned.

They also predicted sweeping rules for regulation of Jews through laws perhaps identical with Germany's stringent Nuremberg racial laws. There are 39,158 Jews in Slovakia.

JACKIE COOGAN TO SETTLE FOR A MERE $150,000

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14.—(AP)—Jackie Coogan, said to have earned $4,000,000 in "The Kid" and other pictures on the silent screen, will receive only about $150,000 under a settlement of his accounting suit against his mother and stepfather, attorneys said today. More than two-thirds of this will be real estate.

The agreement lacks only the signatures of Jackie, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bernstein, and officers of Jackie Coogan Productions, Inc., and the Coogan Finance company.

Jackie last April sued his mother and his stepfather, who had long been the Coogans' business manager, demanding an accounting of the $4,000,000.

DEATH OF CZECH NATION RECALLS RELIGIOUS WARS

Most of Inhabitants Are Roman Catholics.

The breakup of the Czecho-Slovak republic recalls the long religious warfare in the history of the peoples who formed the nation. It was not until after creation of the republic in 1919 that full religious tolerance was granted.

More than 70 per cent of the Czechs and Slovaks are Roman Catholics, according to the 1930 census. But there are strong Protestant groups among them, too. One, the Czecho-Slovak church, founded in 1920, has a membership of 800,000. Its tenets correspond to Unitarianism.

While Catholicism is not the official state religion of the Czechs and Slovaks, its church is the only one directly supported by state taxes. Churches of the other faiths receive funds through special appropriations.

Professor Explains Background.

The religious and racial background of the Czechs and Slovaks was explained yesterday by Dr. Matthew Spinka, assistant professor of church history at the theological seminary of the University of Chicago. The Czechs and Slovaks are Slavic peoples who came to their present homes from north of the Carpathian mountains in the great migrations of the fifth century.

Late in the ninth century the greater Moravian empire included Bohemia and Moravia, occupied by the Czechs, and Slovakia. Slovakia was larger than it is today, including part of what is now the western section of Hungary. Ruthenia [now Carpatho-Ukraine] was then a part of Galicia.

The conversion of Germany to Roman Catholicism began in the seventh century and the Germans tried to convert the Czechs and Slovaks. But the latter peoples objected because of the political nature of the German efforts.

In the middle of the ninth century Cyril and Methodius, Greek missionaries, were sent from Constantinople to convert the Czechs and Slovaks to Catholicism. [The schism between the eastern and western church had not yet occurred.] Cyril and Methodius established a national form of Christianity among the Czechs and Slovaks in 865 and translated the Bible into Slavic.

The great church schism came in 1054. The Czechs, Slovaks, Croatians, and Poles went with the western Roman Catholic church while the Russians, Serbians, and Bulgarians went with the Greek Orthodox church.

Hussite War Recalled.

The German influence was increasing in Bohemia and until the fifteenth century, the Germans had the deciding vote in the affairs of the University of Prague. They lost this influence in 1409, and that incident played a part in the Hussite wars.

John Huss, one of the famous figures of Czech history, was a church reformer. His doctrins were anti-papal. In 1415 he was accused of heresy and was tried before the church council of Constance, in southwestern Germany. He was charged with denying the doctrin of transubantiation—that the wafer and wine communion are the body and blood Christ.

Huss had not made such a denial. He had not gone as far as the Englishman, John Wyclif, but he was sentenced to death and burned at Constance in July, 1415. The Czechs united in defense of his teachings and the Hussite wars raged from 1419 to 1436.

The armies sent against the Hussites included large German forces, the Germans still smarting over the decline of their power in the University of Prague. One of the incidents of the Hussite conflict was the defenestration of 1419—defenestration means throwing a person out of a window. Hussites in Prague threw the burgomaster and several councilors from windows to death on the spears of soldiers below.

Brethren Win Toleration.

After the defeat of the Hussites in 1436 there arose the Czech Brethren, precursors of Protestant reform. In 1575 they were granted some measure of toleration by Maximilian, the Holy Roman emperor, and by the beginning of the seventeenth century 90 per cent of the population of Bohemia and Moravia belonged to Protestant groups.

The Roman Catholics began to regain power, however. In 1618 began the thirty years war, primarily a religious conflict. And in that year came the second defenestration in Prague. Czech Protestant leaders hurled two councilors and a secretary of the Holy Roman empire from a castle window. These three men were more fortunate than those tossed out 200 years before—they landed on a soft spot of ground and made their escape.

By 1620, the Czech Protestants were defeated and in 1627 they were deprived of political, cultural, and religious liberties. It was not until 1781 that they were granted limited toleration, and full freedom did not come until 1919.

Since 906 when Arpad invaded Hungary the Slovaks have been under Magyar domination and Roman Catholicism was the dominant religion. The Hussites and Czech Brethren had made some inroads, but Protestantism was always in the minority. After the formation of the republic, the Protestants established churches, the Lutheran and Reformed being the strongest groups. Since the world war, about two-thirds of the Germans in Czecho-Slovakia have been Protestant, the other third Catholic.

Energetic and Thrifty.

There is little difference between the language of the Czechs and Slovaks—the variance is mostly dialectical. The Czechs are regarded as the most energetic, thrifty, industrious and practical of the Slav races. Living side by side with Germans for centuries has given them many of the virtues and a few of the failings of the Prussians. The soil of Bohemia, neither rich nor poor, has made the fight for existence difficult, but not too much so for a strong race.

The Slovaks have more of a softness. Their initiative has been retarded by the centuries of Hungarian oppression. Their attitude toward the Czechs is a mixture of admiration and resentment, particularly for the greater culture of the Czechs.

The Germans have always regarded the Czechs and Slovaks as an inferior people—in culture and military alertness.

The Changing Face of Europe Since Hitler Came to Power

Here is a brief chronology of the history of Germany since Adolf Hitler became chancellor of the Nazi reich on Jan. 30, 1933:

Oct. 14, 1933—Hitler announces Germany's withdrawal from the league of nations and world disarmament conference.

Aug. 2—President Paul von Hindenburg dies.

Jan. 14, 1935—Germany wins Saar plebiscite.

March 16—Hitler announces universal military training and approximate quadrupling of regular army "because Germany no longer is obligated by Versailles."

June 18—British-German agreement reached limiting German navy to 35 per cent of Britain's; later modified by Germany.

March 7, 1936—Defying Locarno pact, Nazi legions march into demilitarized Rhineland; Hitler offers to sign 25-year nonaggression pact.

Sept. 8—Hitler demands return of war-lost colonies.

Jan. 30, 1938—Hitler declares himself protector of Germans beyond the reich's borders.

March 13—Germany annexes Austria two days after troops cross Austrian frontier.

Sept. 15—Receives British Prime Minister Chamberlain to discuss growing Czecho-Slovak tension, the first of several international negotiations.

Sept. 29—Four-power conference in Munich averts threatened European war by agreeing to give Sudetenland to Germany; later conferences give parts of Czecho-Slovakia to Poland and Hungary.

Oct. 1—Nazi troops cross Czech frontier; Chamberlain and Hitler sign statement for Britain and Germany never to fight again.

Nov. 2—German and Italian foreign ministers at Vienna award more Czecho-Slovak territory to Hungary.

March 10, 1939—Slovak independence issue becomes acute; Hitler confers with his lieutenants.

BALTIMORE MAN ASKED TO TELL OF MURDER RING

VERSAILLES, France, March 14.—(AP)—A Baltimore business man who barely escaped becoming a victim of the Villa la Voulzie "murder-for-profit" ring in 1937 was called as a trans-Atlantic witness today in the trial of a former German convict, Eugene Weidmann.

The court decided to ask the French consul at Baltimore for statements from 67-year-old Michael Stein concerning an attempt to kidnap him described by Weidmann at his trial today. Stein became suspicious, Weidmann said, and escaped. In similar kidnapings Miss Jean De Koven, Brooklyn dancer, and five others were killed and robbed, although Weidmann said Stein was not to have been slain.

Weidmann testified that the attempt was made to kidnap Stein on July 14, 1937.

4 WARD LEADERS ARE SUPERSEDED IN GREEN DRIVE

Suspected of Laying Down on Job in Primary.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Four Republican committeemen from wards which cast a slim Republican vote in the Feb. 28 mayoral primaries were supplanted in the Dwight H. Green campaign last night.

The executive committee of the Republican city committee voted to set up organizations of Young Republicans and ex-service men in the four wards to make the fight for Green in the April 4 election. The organizations also are to protect the ballot count.

The action was taken after Green had told the committee that the Republican party cannot advance part G. O. P. and part Kelly-Nash. The committee suspected the four ward leaders of bipartisan entanglements with the Democratic organization.

Serritella One of Four.

The four ward leaders who are superseded by the new organizations are State Senator Daniel A. Serritella [1st], Ald. William V. Pacelli [20th], Paul W. Rothenberg [24th], and Samuel O. Shaffer [29th].

After studying the precinct vote tables the executive committee took the view that little effort had been made to get out the Green vote in the four wards. Because ward committeemen are elected to their posts and cannot be ousted, the executive committee decided to send its own workers into the four wards and build up an aggressive staf in every precinct.

The committee today will continue its study of the precinct tables to determine other weak spots in which to establish groups of auxiliary workers.

The fight for the new arrangement was led by County Chairman Edward F. Moore, who was backed by Robert C. Rohn, secretary, and Ferre C. Watkins, Green's campaign manager.

Green States Stand.

"My first interest is in Chicago," Green told the committee. "I am interested also in helping build up the Republican party. Chicago cannot go forward under the Kelly-Nash machine.

"If there is doubt in any man's mind that he can give me his full support in this campaign, I feel he should come forward now and tell me so."

Election tables showed that Green did not get a single vote in some precincts in the four wards.

Committeeman Rothenberg told the committee that his organization got all the votes it could in a ward intensively organized by the Democratic machine.

Shaffer Assails Moore.

Shaffer read a statement to the committee which said:

"Mr. Moore was born a Democrat and remained one until he got a job on the sanitary district during the whoopee period and from that time has pretended to be a Republican. Mr. Moore never has supported the Republican ticket in its entirety. I am in favor of purging the Republican party of Democrats masquerading as Republicns."

Commenting on attacks made on him in the house in Springfield, Moore said: "I'm getting tired of hearing silly charges. I'm proud that I took the stand I did against Republicans who joined Democrats last week in Springfield in ditching the inquiry into the cost of government."

Springfield Bolt Cited.

Some at Republican headquarters took the view that the bipartisan alliances in Springfield and the situation that led to supplanting the four ward committeemen are cut off the same bolt of goods. Senator Serritella is considered to be the guide and sponsor of Representative Arthur T. Broche of the 1st district. Broche was one of the five Chicago Republicans who voted yesterday for the second time with the Democrats to squelch the Republican inquiry into the costs of state government.

Serritella and Ald. Pacelli also have been close politically. In 1929 Pacelli was said to have been sponsored for alderman by Serritella and then for city sealer. Pacelli used to be a member of the state house from the 17th district. Peter C. Granata, another of the Republicans who joined with the Democrats in Springfield yesterday, is from Pacelli's old district. James J. Adduci, another of the five who bolted the Republican ranks yesterday in the house, is from an adjoining district, the 2d.

Green spoke last night at Ebenezer Baptist church, 4501 Vincennes avenue. He discussed the public schools.

"A vote for Kelly and his machine," he said, "will be a vote to keep our schools under vicious political domination."

Gets Support

MRS. LORETTA J. SCHNEIDER.

Mrs. Loretta Bidwill Schneider, 1400 Lake Shore drive, yesterday was awarded $500 a month temporary alimony from her husband, George, formerly a Chicago attorney, by Judge Robert C. O'Connell. She had previously been getting $200 a month. Attorneys representing the husband were in court but did not oppose the $300 a month increase.

Schneider is living in Paris, France. Mrs. Schneider said he has been abroad since 1935, when he inherited $250,000 from the estate of his mother, Mrs. Emily Beck Schneider. Mrs. Schneider said she had accompanied her husband on his travels until September, 1936, when he told her in Belgium he preferred to travel alone.

In addition to granting the increased support, Judge O'Connell awarded Mrs. Schneider $2,000 for expenses and fees for her attorney, Payton J. Touhy.

KELLY PREDICTS VICTORY IN TALK TO 2,000 BACKERS

Ald. P. J. Cullerton entertained 2,000 of his 38th ward workers last night at a meeting in the Midwest Athletic club. Mayor Kelly was the principal speaker. The mayor predicted a sweeping Democratic victory in the election. He said that harmony has been restored in the party and that the Democrats will present a united front. The mayor warned, however, against slackening party work.

Ludwig D. Schreiber, Democratic nominee for city clerk, said in his speeches at three ward meetings last night that he agreed with supporters of Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for mayor, that the voters have the "Go" sign.

"The light is green," he said, "but I say to you we must keep going on straight ahead as we have been under Mayor Kelly. Surely we do not want to stop in the middle of the road, change drivers and get into an untried car and then try to get anywhere. Let's keep going forward with Mayor Kelly."

SENATORS VOTE SCHOOL TAX; KEEP 38 WEEKS TERM

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—The proposed pegged levy for the Chicago schools was cut from $50,275,000 to $48,000,000 today by its sponsor, Senator Harold G. Ward, Democratic floor leader. Then it was approved, 47 to 0. This means dropping the plan for restoring the forty week school year. The term will continue at thirty-eight weeks.

The bill pegs the school levy at $48,000,000 for 1939, 1940 and 1941. The previous levy was for $45,000,000, but this was supplemented by gasoline tax revenue of $2,500,000, which cannot continue to go to the schools under recently enacted laws.

Frank S. Righeimer, attorney for the board of education, said the board could not afford to have the bill involved in a legislative fight. "By March 31 the bill must be passed and the tax levy approved by the board and the city council," he said.

COURTNEY DISMISSES TWO MORE EMPLOYES FOR BACKING KELLY

Two employés of State's Attorney Courtney, who carried their precincts for Mayor Kelly in the recent primary election, were discharged yesterday by First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley. They were the eighteenth and nineteenth to be ousted since Courtney's election defeat.

The latest to be discharged are Andrew P. Schoenberger and Frederick Kammerer. Schoenberger had been on the prosecutor's staf for three years. Kammerer had been employed as a statistician for five and one-half years. He is credited with bringing the prosecutor's records up to date.

Schoenberger and Kammerer live in the 46th ward. On Monday another Kelly adherent in the ward, Assistant State's Attorney Donald Korshak, was informed he would be removed from the pay roll today.

STOCK HANDLERS THANK KELLY FOR SETTLING STRIKE

A delegation of members and officials of the United Packing House Workers' union called on Mayor Kelly yesterday to thank him for settling a recent labor dispute involving members of local No. 44 and the Union Stock Yards and Transit company.

Ben Brown, president of the local union, a C. I. O. affiliate, read a union resolution which attributed settlement of the dispute to the efforts of Mayor Kelly. The mayor in reply commended the workers and their employer on the compromise settlement.

A thirteen day strike at the stockyards ended last December after representatives of both sides had met with Mayor Kelly. A final settlement of the dispute was reached last week with the signing of a one year contract by the union and the company.

7 DESERT G. O. P.; DITCH PARTY'S ECONOMY QUIZ

Illinois House Discharges Searle Committee.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—Republican endeavors to reduce the cost of government in Illinois suffered a blow today when a bipartisan combination in the house discharged the committee recently appointed to conduct an inquiry into Democratic expenditures in the last four years. This was the committee of which Clinton Searle was chairman.

Seven Republicans joined the Democrats in stopping the Republican sponsored inquiry. The motion to discharge the committee required 77 votes and received 78. The Republicans, who control the house when all of its members are in line, mustered only 67 votes in opposition.

Discharge of the Searle committee means that whatever is to be done in the current session to reduce government waste is left to a joint senate-house committee of fourteen members. Seven will be Democrats and seven Republicans. The joint inquiry was authorized last week, over the objections of most of the Republicans, through another bi-partisan alliance that functioned much like the one that went into action today.

Five Chicagoans Leave G. O. P.

Voting today with the Democrats for a second time were five Chicago Republicans—James J. Adduci, Arthur T. Broche, Peter C. Granata, Stanley E. Martynowski, and William J. Warfield.

Harry M. McCaskrin of Rock Island and Leo D. Crowley of Peoria, downstate Republicans, joined the Chicagoans.

Three Chicagoans who voted for the joint inquiry last week stayed in the Republican ranks today. They are William H. Finucane, John A. Pelka, and Michael A. Ruddy.

Abuse Hurled At Moore.

The most bitter name calling heard in the house in years marked today's debate. Edward F. Moore, Cook county G. O. P. chairman, was the target of most of the abuse. Moore was attacked by Crowley, Finucane, and Broche because he denounced as traitors to their party the Republicans who joined the Democrats last week in ordering a joint inquiry.

The vituperation in the debate included such phrases and words as "vice collector," "petty larceny burglar," and "crooked."

Robert J. Branson of Centralia, G. O. P. floor leader, appealed in vain to the Republicans:

"Be true to your party on the biggest political issue of this session."

After pleading with the Republicans not to be fooled by the offer of Acting Governor John Stelle to suggest that a Republican be chairman of the joint committee, Branson continued:

"That is just a political scheme to put the Republicans in a hole; if the Democrats prevent us from accomplishing anything the blame will be placed on the Republican chairman, whose hands will have been tied."

Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago] told the Democrats:

"If you kill the Searle committee, the question the public will be asking is, 'what are you afraid of'?"

Crowley Leads Attack.

Bitter debate began the moment Speaker Hugh W. Cross recognized Schaefer O'Neill [D., Alton], Acting Gov. Stelle's floor leader, who moved to discharge the Searle committee. Crowley got the floor on a question or personal privilege and exploded:

"If I had to make a choice between Judas Iscariot and Eddie Moore I'd take Judas. This brazen gentleman called together his committee last Saturday and had the temerity to insult members of this house, who were voting their convictions and refusing to take orders."

Broche took up the attack:

"Moore should be retired to a flophouse, where he belongs. He's getting ready to sell Dwight H. Green down the river if he hasn't done it already."

DEMOCRATS ASK PAY BOOSTS FOR 100 STATE AIDS

Total $89,000 for 2 Years; G. O. P. Fights Move.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—Salary increases for nearly a hundred well-paid state officials and employés were proposed in the house today by Representative James P. Boyle [D., Chicago]. The bills were challenged immediately by Republican economy leaders.

Rep. L. M. Green.

The proposed increases would total $89,000 for the two year period starting July 1. Representative Leroy M. Green of Rockford, G. O. P. chairman of the house committee on efficiency and economies, took the floor against the pay-boosting plan.

"We ought to be bringing in bills to reduce bloated salaries," Green said. He demanded that the house respond to public opinion by undoing "some of the destructive work done by the last three administrations."

Boyle, who handles most administration appropriation bills in the house, defended the bills by saying the proposed figures are the same as received under Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, the last Republican incumbent. Gov. Henry Horner cut the salaries in 1932.

REVENUE AND SEC AIDS TO JOIN U. S. ATTORNEY'S STAF

William J. Campbell, United States district attorney, yesterday announced the appointment of two special assistants who will serve without extra compensation when their services are required.

The men, both former assistants, are Thomas B. Hart, now with the Securities and Exchange commission, and E. Riley Campbell, now an attorney for the internal revenue department.

Whenever a case developed by one of the new assistants in his own division of the government requires grand jury action, Campbell said, he will now be able to carry it through to a conclusion without turning it over to some one unfamiliar with the details.

Learns of Postal Agent's Vigilance, but Not Well

A letter carrier for seventeen years, James Morden well knew the unceasing vigilance of postal inspectors. So he hid the $7 he took from two letters yesterday beneath a board walk at 4414 South Honore street. Even that was not safe. Morden, who lives at 7154 Harvard avenue, was seized and taken before Unted States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, to whom he pleaded guilty. He was held to the grand jury.

NEW DEAL OPENS PRESSURE DRIVE FOR WPA FUNDS

Democrat Is Purged for Economy Views.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—A tremendous pressure drive was started by the Democratic leadership in the house today in behalf of an extra 150 million dollars for the WPA after President Roosevelt sent up a special message to congress demanding the additional fund.

The President set April 1 as the deadline for congress to act, insisting that a million persons must be fired from the WPA pay rolls in April and May if no additional appropriation is made.

The first move of the leaders, reported to have been suggested by Mr. Roosevelt, was reminiscent of the party purge which failed last fall. Representative Clifton A. Woodgress demanding the additional sum. rum [D., Va.], who has handled all work relief appropriations under the New Deal régime, was deprived of this authority because of his economy views.

Chairman Takes Charge.

Chairman Edward T. Taylor [D., Colo.] of the appropriations committee assumed personal charge of the measure. A subcommittee will assemble at his call to consider whether hearings shall be held to determine the merits of Mr. Roosevelt's argument. Woodrum, ranking member of the subcommittee, will lead a fight for an exhaustive inquiry into the WPA setup, investigating charges of inefficiency, graft, waste, and extravagance.

Woodrum's demotion came after he told Chairman Taylor that he would not steamroller the 150 million dollar appropriation through the house. The action aroused the resentment of many of Woodrum's colleagues. The Virginian is one of the most highly respected and efficient members in the chamber.

The Democratic whip organization, under the leadership of Pat Boland of Pennsylvania, began putting the heat on the 260 Democrats, using the President's assertions that "a real need" exists for the supplemental fund.

Republicans Organize Opposition.

The 169 Republicans organized quietly for a determined stand against the new appropriation, seeking the aid of the Democratic economy bloc. On Jan. 13 a coalition of Republicans and Democrats decisively defeated a motion to restore the 150 million dollar slash in the WPA appropriation by a teller vote of 226 to 137.

In open defiance of the President, Woodrum referred to statements in the Roosevelt message as melodramatic and appeals to emotionalism.

"I am not enough of a mathematician," he said, "to understand why a 17 per cent cut in an appropriation should lead to a 50 per cent cut in the relief rolls. There is no evidence whatsoever of any administrative reforms and savings such as were recommended by congress.

"The matter should be gone into very thoroughly by the committee and I hope that when we get through we will have the facts.

No Audit of WPA.

"The President states that 30,000 aliens have been removed from the rolls as ordered by congress. No economy was effected, however, because their places were immediately taken by others. There has never been a real hearing on the WPA. We have never had a breakdown of administrative expenses, travel expenses, and the like. Congress should determine definitly if this $150,000,000 is needed."

Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.], influential among the southern Democrats, backed up Woodrum's stand. He offered a resolution to broaden the powers of the appropriations committee so as to make possible a full investigation of the WPA.

There was much controversy over the WPA, Cox said. Some believe it is good; others that it is a racket.

"I take it that all would like to know what it is, fish or fowl, sane or insane, good or bad," he said.

In his message the President reviewed his action in regard to the WPA appropriation. At the opening of the session, he pointed out, he estimated that 875 million dollars was necessary to carry the agency during the five months between Feb. 1 and July 1. The WPA exhausted in the first seven months of the fiscal year the billion and a half dollars appropriated at the last session.

Congress chose to appropriate only 725 million dollars, the President noted. He immediately repeated his request for the 150 millions deducted from the fund. He added that he felt impelled again to call the attention of congress to "the very serious situation" which exists.

"Since my messages of January and February, a careful checkup shows that there has been no substantial change in the conditions of unemployment," the President wrote. "On the contrary, recent data have become available substantiating the real need for an additional appropriation of 150 million dollars."

WPA Roll Near 3 Million.

WPA employment has been maintained during February and March at approximately 2,996,000, the President said.

"It is my belief that improvement in business conditions between now and June will result in substantial increase in employment," he continued. "However, based on the experience of the past it cannot be expected that this increase will absorb more than 300,000 of those who are now on the WPA rolls or who have been certified as in need and awaiting assignment."

Far from admitting that the WPA needed reforms, the President insisted that its administration merited "some modicum of commendation." He declared that out of every $100 of federal funds expended by the agency, "only $3.50 is for administrative overhead; $10.50 is spent for materials, equipment, and supplies; $86 is paid out directly in the form of wages."

If no more money is provided by congress the WPA will be forced to discharge 400,000 persons in the first week in April and 600,000 in the first week of May, reducing the total employment to two million persons, the President asserted.

A still further reduction of more than 200,000 persons will have to be made early in June, he continued.

The President denied a report that his continued insistence for more money was a mere gesture.

"Because it has been alleged," he wrote, "that I would be satisfied if no further appropriation were made for the coming three months, I feel that in justice to myself I must make it clear that I am not sending this message to the congress merely for the purpose of going through motions."

Democrats Put on Pressure for WPA

AUTO TAMPERER SENTENCED.

Judge Frank M. Padden yesterday sentenced Thomas Prendergast, 949 Madison street, who was seized by police after a chase on Feb. 27, to five months in the Bridewell. He was found guilty of tampering with an automobile.

POLICE REFUSAL TO HALT PLANT WRECKERS TOLD

Philadelphia, Pa., March 14.—(AP)—The Apex Hosiery company's manager testified today in the concern's $3,514,872 damage suit against branch 1 of the C. I. O. American Federation of Hosiery Workers that police stood around and directed trafic while strikers broke into the plant, beat employés and wrecked equipment.

F. Elwood Struve, the manager, said he was knocked to the floor of his office and kicked by strikers, who stormed the plant May 6, 1937.

Struve said the union supplied food and cots for those who broke into the plant and occupied it 48 days. During that time, he added, there were drunken parties of men and women in the rooms where the costly looms were idle and the yard of the plant was used as a baseball field.

U. S. Pushes Hunt for Pair Named in Film Piracy Plot

Federal agents yesterday continued their search for R. R. Gregg and Barney Gold. The two were indicted Friday by the federal grand jury on charges of violating copyright laws in connection with a plot to pirate motion picture comedies and short subjects. Gold's address is not known. Gregg formerly owned the Pan-American film laboratory, 325 West Huron street. He sold it last December to C. O. Baptista, now the sole owner. Neither Baptista nor the company is involved in the federal case.

PRODUCER FIGHTS COMPETITION OF FREE WPA SHOW

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—The free theater included in the projected $250,000 WPA exhibit at the New York world's fair evoked a protest of unfair competition today from John T. Schless of Chicago. His Merrie England exhibit at the fair will include a reproduction of the famous Shakespearean Globe theater and will charge admission.

Schless, who operated a similar concession at a Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, voiced his protests in telegrams addressed to President Roosevelt and Col. F. C. Harrington, federal administrator of WPA.

The Globe theater, Schless pointed out, will employ many people, including directors, actors and technicians. The proposed free WPA competition endangers the entire enterprise, representing a considerable investment.

TWO U. S. AGENTS TELL EFFORT TO DEPORT BRIDGES

Action Halted by Office of Mme. Perkins.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—Two government immigration officials were questioned today by the house judiciary committee which is considering a resolution proposing the impeachment of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. The resolution was introduced several weeks ago by Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.].

R. P. Bonham.

R. P. Bonham and R. J. Norene, directors of the immigration and naturalization service at Seattle, Wash., were summoned before the committee to tell what they know of Mme. Perkins' activities in connection with the failure to deport Harry Bridges, west coast labor agitator. Bridges, an alien, has been labeled a member of the communist party in testimony before the Dies committee.

Have 138 Questions.

The committee had a list of 138 questions to ask the two government men. They were only partly through the list when forced to adjourn until tomorrow.

Bonham has been closely associated with the Bridges case since its inception. He reviewed for the committee his attempts to deport Bridges and his difficulties with the Washington office of the labor department.

Bonham testified concerning his report to Washington that Bridges had boasted to him that he had seen the Washington office file relating to the Bridges case. Bonham told of applying for a warant for Bridges' arrest, asserting that there was "most unusual supporting evidence" as a basis for the alien's deportation.

Important Charge Omitted.

Both Bonham and Norene testified that in the application for a warant for Bridges' arrest, they informed Washington that their office had repeatedly proved that the communist party advocates the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the United States and that Bridges was an advocate of this doctrin.

Nevertheless, the committee heard, when the warant of arrest was eventually issued, there were only four grounds included instead of the nine grounds submitted by the officials. The assertion that Bridges advocated the overthrow of the government by violence was omitted.

The committee expected to submit a report on Mme. Perkins' conduct of her office in about a week or more. Repeated attempts by administration supporters to put a halt to the hearings have been defeated.

THE ONE BIG UNION

C. I. O. and Communist Plans Compared

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—American Federation of Labor negotiators participating in the New York labor peace discussions requested by President Roosevelt have accused the C. I. O. of trying to put over a communist plot. The A. F. of L. leaders charge that the plan proposed by John L. Lewis for the formation of "one big union" consisting of the warring C. I. O. and A. F. of L. unions, and also the independent railroad brotherhoods, is the same as the plan proposed by the communists. The two plans are presented below for comparison:

THE C. I. O. PLAN

Following is the plan presented by Lewis on behalf of the C. I. O. at the labor "peace" conference at the White House a week ago:

John L. Lewis.

"Between April 15 and April 30, 1939, the Congress of Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor shall each hold a special convention. These conventions shall be held separately and at any convenient place. The purpose of the conventions will be to pass upon and approve the following basic plan of procedure:

"Not later than June 1, 1939, there shall assemble in Washington, D. C., a convention of representatives of the American Federation of Labor, the Congress of Industrial Organization, and the four brotherhoods in the railroad transportation field, heretofore independent.

"This convention is to organize and dedicate the American Congress of Labor, designed to supersede and embrace the membership of the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L., and to include the membership of the railroad organizations.

"The convention will outline its objectives, adopt a constitution, and elect officers for a term of one year.

"The executive board or governing body of the A. C. L. will be composed equally of representatives of the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., with proportionate representation for the four railroad brotherhoods.

"During the year ensuing from the organization of the A. C. L., the services of the United States department of labor and its conciliation bureau shall be continuously available for coöperative mediation on all controversial questions.

"The President of the United States is requested to preside at the sessions of the unified ranks of labor, when its constituent representatives assemble for the purpose of stating objectives, electing officers, and adopting a constitution."

THE COMMUNIST PLAN

The communist plan is contained in a resolution adopted by the communist party central committee in New York in June, 1937. The resolution approved a report by Earl Browder, communist party general secretary. As reported in the communist Daily Worker, it said:

Earl Browder.

"We must continue uncompromising opposition to the splitting activities of the executive council [A. F. of L.]. We must never cease to demand the unification of the trade union movement. In line with this policy, the party has raised the question of the convocation of a trade union unity congress of the unions of the C. I. O., the A. F. of L., the railroad brotherhoods and other unaffiliated unions."

An article by William Z. Foster, the communist party chairman, in the Daily Worker of Oct. 20, 1937, said:

"In the fusion of the two movements, the representation on the top committee of the united trade union movement should consist of an equal number from both the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. The C. I. O. is numerically larger than the A. F. of L., and it is more strategically situated in industry, but it might profitably agree on a 50-50 basis of representation.

"Where amalgamations are brought about between individual unions, the principle of proportional representation on executive committees should enter in accordance to the size of the fusing unions, such representation in the unified committees to include the present C. I. O. officials.

"Provision might be made for the holding of a special broad, representative trade union unity convention, to which the railroad brotherhoods and other independents should be invited. This convention could complete the unification process by the adoption of necessary constitutional provisions, elections of officers, etc."

A. F. L. BATTLES DELAY IN WAGNER ACT REVISIONS

Forces Fixing of Hearing Dates Next Week.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—The senate education and labor committee will decide next Tuesday on a date for hearings on various proposals to modify the Wagner labor relations act. The committee received a letter from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, protesting against delay.

Senator Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], chairman of the committee, postponed the Wagner act hearings, originally scheduled to begin March 10, pending negotiations between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. for labor peace.

Call Conference a Stall.

Many senators have voiced the suspicion that a major purpose of the A. F. of L.-C. I. O. peace negotiations, called by President Roosevelt, is to stall and prevent if possible congressional tampering with the Wagner act. The theory is that a promise of peace between the warring labor groups would remove the A. F. of L.'s objections to the labor relations board and thus undermine the movement to amend the Wagner act.

Senator Allen J. Ellender [D., La.] made the motion to wait until next Tuesday, and no longer, before fixing a date for hearings on the Wagner act amendments.

Mr. Green made a vigorous protest against delaying hearings on the A. F. of L. amendments introduced by Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.].

"It is the opinion of the officers and members of the American Federation of Labor that the amendments to the labor relations act are necessary regardless of the outcome of peace negotiations," he wrote. "It is inconceivable that the senate committee would deny the American Federation of Labor a hearing on the amendments offered by Senator Walsh."

Rebuff C. I. O. on Army Bill.

The C. I. O. met a rebuff today when senate and house conferees on the army expansion bill threw out the controversial Barkley amendment. This amendment, adopted by the senate without debate, would have prohibited the granting of any contract to a bidder found to have violated the Wagner act.

In effect the amendment would have barred contracts to any manufacturer accused of an unfair labor practice, for the necessary investigation would have occasioned indefinite delays.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] offered the amendment after it was handed to him by Gardner Jackson, communist lobbyist for the C. I. O.

KITCHEN BARBER FREED; A MAN CAN SHAVE SELF

Jury Decides Issue in Aurora.

Harold Wilkinson may cut the hair of his neighbors on the outskirts of Aurora, but he's no barber. He's just neighborly.

This was the decision yesterday of a jury before Judge Olney C. Allen in the Kane county court at Geneva. The twelve men found Wilkinson not guilty of practising the barber's trade without a license.

This was no light hearted, easy verdict. It required three and a half hours of deliberation and six ballots. At one point the foreman even asked Judge Allen for instructions.

Is a Man Allowed to Shave?

Apparently it all narrowed down to a problem presented to the jury by Defense Attorney Samuel Stephens in his closing argument:

"If you gentlemen shaved yourselves this morning," he told them, "you're as guilty of violating the law as my client.

"If you should pluck your wife's eyebrows, or if she plucks them, or if she washes her own hair, you are as guilty as Wilkinson. Why," in a fine burst of emotion, "I, myself, am guilty! I shaved this morning!"

Wilkinson's trouble was that he cut his children's hair in his kitchen. Occasionally he clipped the hair of neighbor boys. He couldn't get a license [which requires a 2½ year apprenticeship], but the hair cuts helped keep him off relief. Six months ago he was haled before an Aurora justice of the peace, but a six man jury acquitted him. They, too, thought him kind and neighborly.

Six Character Witnesses.

Wilkinson did not take the stand in his own defense. He relied, instead, on six character witnesses, all neighbors. They testified they never saw him give a singe or a massage and never saw a barber supply truck stop in front of his house.

The state's only witness yesterday was the father of Robert and Ralph Waite, 3 and 6 years old, whose hair Wilkinson cut in his own kitchen last September, with C. H. Belmonte, president of the Aurora Barbers' association, as observer.

Waite agreed that Wilkinson cut his boys' hair. But he didn't pay him 25 cents a head, as the state alleged. He paid him 25 cents for Robert's head and a sack of chicken feed for Ralph's.

A. F. L. AND C. I. O. ADJOURN PARLEY UNTIL MARCH 24

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Peace negotiators for the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations adjourned their fifth conference tonight with the announcement that they would meet again March 24 in the department of labor in Washington.

Asked whether Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins or some other representative of the national administration would join the spokesmen of the two labor groups in the renewal of the White House inspired negotiations, A. F. of L. Vice President Harry C. Bates said, as spokesman for the two groups: "I don't think anybody will be present except the personnel of these committees."

More than "making the motions" when you change to OIL-PLATING

...the oil-change plus

Dump Winter-fouled oil. Whatever you do, drain and refill now with something. But drain and refill with Conoco Germ Processed oil and then your engine's OIL-PLATED. Then it's got more than swell fresh oil down in the crankcase—it's got another big plus all the way up... It's got fresh surfacing... OIL-PLATING. That comes from the actual union of this patented oil direct with inner engine surfaces. Conoco Germ Processing gives this oil so much "power of attraction" that it cannot drain down and leave engine parts bare, though your car stands by the hour or speeds by the hour.

Never all Spring and Summer, with Germ Processed oil, can your engine suffer rasping "dry starts"... not with every square inch always oiled in advance by drain-proof OIL-PLATING. Nor will four to five thousand revolutions per minute whirl away this implanted OIL-PLATING. It stays on. It helps the oil-level to stay up. Your OIL-PLATED engine and Germ Processed oil will both be giving you plus mileage Change today to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Co.

presents here each day observations intended to be of value to those it seeks to serve.

VALUES BEYOND FIGURES

By CALEB

THE functions of the Field buyer —of whom there are usually scores traveling far afield by boat, plane, train, canoe, muleback, camelback, and even footpath, gathering months-ahead merchandise — are seldom guessed, and never expressed in the ordinary process of customer purchase.

Long years of foreign market experience—representing, for most of them, lifetime investments in specialization, in selection, in ability to peer beneath appearance and render discriminating appraisal — protect the ultimate user with a "quality censorship" rarely appreciated by any but themselves and a few skilled associates.

In the world at large, the services of these men and women usually remain as unsung as they are unknown. That this should be so is, of course, more or less inevitable in their calling. Itineraries that involve many a romantic and oft-forgotten spot on the library globe, as well as glamorous names like Shanghai, Port Said, Colombo, Peiping, Surabaya, Cape Town, Copenhagen or Cairo—are quietly organized as matters of routine. Somewhere a ship drops anchor in some lonely Scandinavian fjord; a plane roars over Alpine valleys and vineyards: a junk trudges the muddy stretch of a Chinese waterway; tropic rains drum on some murky South American marketplace; danger threatens amid an Asiatic desert; war perils darken over some Oriental port . . . but one and all are the Buyer's accepted lot, and from each he returns as reticent as ever. . . .

To these foreign representatives of ours we dedicate a tribute both long and richly deserved. Scrupulous traditions as to authenticity, inherent worth, and suitability to American trends and American tastes, these men and women have maintained for Field merchandise throughout the store's existence. In some instances life itself has been risked to insure the letter as well as the spirit of some commission's fulfillment . . . without thought of publicity.

From such unwritten world-market romances the values that emerge are, for the most part, invisible. They neither appear in, nor add to, the established figures on thousands of price-tags. Yet their contribution to customer satisfaction are none the less valid and vital! Whatever the product of loom or needle, potter's wheel, painter's brush, sculptor's chisel, gem-cutter's steel or diver's vat—question never troubles the customer's mind. For somewhere, long before its display at Field's, a buyer who knew his business pronounced approval upon it, and thereby assured its purchasability.

CONSTIPATED?
Don't Let Gas, Nerve Pressure Keep You Miserable

When you are constipated two things happen. FIRST: Accumulated wastes swell up the bowels and press on nerves in the digestive tract. This nerve pressure causes headaches, a dull, lazy feeling, bilious spells, loss of appetite, and dizziness. SECOND: Partly digested food starts to decay forming GAS, bringing on sour stomach, acid indigestion, and heartburn, bloating you up until you sometimes gasp for breath. Then you can't eat. You can't sleep. Your stomach is sour. You feel tired out, grouchy, and miserable. Adlerika gives you the DOUBLE ACTION you need. This efficient carminative cathartic relieves that awful GAS almost at once. It usually clears the bowels in less than two hours. No waiting for overnight relief.

CITY'S TAX RATE FIXED AT $9.12; UP 39c OVER '37

Homeowners' Cost to Be 4½% Higher.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

The 1938 tax rate on real estate and personal property in the city of Chicago is $9.12 per $100 of assessed valuation, it was announced yesterday at the office of County Clerk Michael J. Flynn. The rate is 39 cents higher than the 1937 rate, but is 40 cents below the 1936 high of $9.52.

Work will be started at once on the computation of individual 1938 tax bills. This work normally requires about three weeks, so the mailing of the bills should be completed early in April. The bills will be due within thirty days after the mailing is finished.

County Town Rates Held Up.

In the absence of Flynn, the rate announcement was made by his assistant, Martin F. Hogan. Hogan said the rates for the towns in the county outside Chicago will be announced today or tomorrow.

Although the 1938 rate is higher than the 1937, the total tax bill for the six governments levying in the city will be $3,284,133 smaller than the 1937. The governments are the city, school board, county, and the park, sanitary, and forest preserve districts. The 1938 taxes in the city for these governments will total $177,774,005, compared with $181,058,138 for 1937.

Rates Increases 4½%.

The 1938 rate is 4½ per cent higher than the 1937 rate. For the average home owner in the city the 1938 tax bill will be that much larger than the last. Few of the assessed valuations on residential property were changed in making up the 1938 assessment rolls.

The following example is given to show how the 1938 rate will increase a small homeowner's tax bill.

Assume the 1938 full value fixed by the assessor is $4,000. This is reduced by the usual 37 per cent equalization factor to an assessed valuation of $1,480. The rate of $9.12 per $100 will produce a tax bill of $134.97. Last year on the same assessed valuation, the $8.73 rate produced a tax bill of $129.20, or $5.77 below the 1938 bill.

1938 and 1937 Rates Compared.

With the exception of the forest preserve district, the 1938 rate for each of the governments exceeds that for 1937. Following is a comparison of 1938 and 1937 rates making up the total city rate:

City	$3.60	$3.50
Schools	3.18	3.02
Park district	.98	.91
Sanitary district	.67	.61
County	.60	.56
Forest preserve	.09	.10
Total	$9.12	$8.73

The rate increase was caused entirely by a drop in assessed valuations of real and personal property. Total valuations in the city were $1,948,179,881, or $125,796,510 below 1937. Real estate valuations were $1,552,835 lower, personal property [including capital stock] was down $106,199,099 and railroad property was $18,044,576 lower.

Personal property	499,336,478	605,535,576
Railroad	80,894,234	98,038,811
Total	$1,948,179,881	$2,073,976,391

The rate increase will fall most heavily on real estate, which will be billed for 70 per cent of the total taxes compared with 66 per cent for 1937.

WOMAN DROWNS SELF IN LAKE; BOY RESCUERS FOILED

Leaping into the lake from the rocks at the foot of Waveland avenue, Mrs. Mary Berg of 1520 Wellington avenue ended her life last evening. Two boys saw her plunge and jumped into the icy water in a vain attempt to save her. The coast guard recovered her body off Montrose avenue.

Mrs. Berg, who was 47 years old, was the wife of James Berg. He is a jewelry salesman, who was out of the city. Relatives said she had been ill.

The boys who tried to save Mrs. Berg are Stanley Corman of 714 Barry avenue, a student at Lake View High school, and Thomas Franks of 821 Wellington avenue, a student at Lane Technical High school. Both are 15 years old.

N. Y. MILK PRICE CONTROL SCHEME FALLS TO PIECES

U. S. Suspends Order; Voluntary Peg Off.

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—The New York milk industry was in chaos tonight following the complete collapse of its artificial marketing structure and the failure to negotiate a voluntary plan to replace it.

In Washington today Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace suspended the federal order under which the government in coöperation with New York state sought to regulate the marketing of milk in this area. His action followed a recent decision by Federal Judge Frank Cooper of New York holding unconstitutional the marketing act of 1937 under which the order was issued.

Dealers Refuse to Peg Price.

With the dual dictatorship outlawed the New York state department of agriculture and markets had tried to get farmers and dealers to agree to peg the prices of milk voluntarily.

But today Holton V. Noyes, commissioner of the state department, announced the failure of attempts to obtain the coöperation of 90 per cent of the dealers, which was necessary to establish voluntary regulation.

"Until some plan is adopted, or the invalidated system of control has been restored by legislation or a higher court," Noyes said, "the dairy industry will have to function without official regulation of prices.

"Responsibility for what may happen rests upon the industry. A temporary period of great uncertainty is facing the industry because of the many unfavorable factors now present, such as the largest surplus of milk in years, declining cheese and butter prices, and the absence of a price regulating system."

Dairymen Seek Way Out.

Nearly 300 dairymen from six central New York counties met again today at Utica in a meeting at which threats to strike and withhold milk from the New York market were repeated. They predicted that unless milk prices are pegged, the farm price will fall to about half the old pegged level.

They decided, however, to promote in Syracuse on Friday a plan similar to the invalidated federal state marketing agreement. Several speakers cautioned against a strike at this time.

The confusion besetting the industry focused attention on the faults in Wallace's attempt to dictate conditions under which milk for the metropolis is handled. His dictatorship began last September under two laws, both of which have been declared invalid.

Under the dictatorship, consumers complained of exorbitant prices. They are still paying them. New York pays 16¾ cents a quart for grade A milk and 13¾ for grade B, both of which have a required minimum butterfat content of 3 per cent. In the free Chicago market, grade A, the only fluid milk permitted to be delivered, has a butterfat content of 3.25 per cent and sells for 12 cents.

FARMERS SELL MORE MILK, BUT GET LESS FOR IT

Farmers in the Chicago dairy territory produced more milk but got less for it last year than the year before. This was brought out in reports of officials before 3,000 dairymen attending the fourteenth annual meeting of the Pure Milk association in the Auditorium hotel yesterday.

The association's 12,000 members in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana produced 1 billion 145 million pounds of milk in 1938 and received for it approximately 20 million dollars. They produced about 26 million fewer pounds the year before, but their checks totaled 4 million dollars more.

A resolution was passed calling for an additional 1 cent a hundred pounds to be deducted from member's milk checks, making a total of 14 cents a hundred to be paid to the association by farmers. This increase in the "check-off" is for use when needed to expand the organization's processing plants to handle surplus milk.

All Colleens

Colleens who will compete for the honor of being queen of the Shannon Rovers' St. Patrick's day ball met yesterday at the Morrison hotel. The ball will be Friday night at Temple hall, 332 South Marshfield avenue. Each of the beauties who hope to be queen will represent an Irish county.

THREE INDICTED IN BLACKMAIL OF COSTER-MUSICA

New York, March 14. — (AP) — A Brooklyn grand jury today indicted Joseph Brandino, 61 years old; his sister, Mary, 31, and an unnamed fugitive for conspiracy to extort $50,000 from F. Donald Coster-Musica, self-slain president of McKesson & Robbins Drug company.

Mary Brandino.

Assistant Attorney General John H. Amen said the trio had attempted to blackmail Coster-Musica from 1925 to 1938 under threat of exposing his identity as the arch-swindler, Philip Musica.

Amen said the indictments were the first of a series in connection with blackmail conspiracies directed against Coster-Musica during the years he masqueraded as a dignified financier. The indictments charged conspiracy, extortion, and blackmail.

SLUG SCHOOLBOY FOR BICYCLE.

Three colored youths slugged and robbed Robert Brunell, 16 years old, a newspaper boy, under a viaduct at Wallace and 49th streets yesterday as he was returning home from high school. They took 50 cents and his bicycle. He lives at 6053 Drexel avenue.

CICERO SETTLES $9,000 CONTRACT WITH SCHOOLMAN

The board of trustees of the J. Sterling Morton High school in Cicero yesterday settled with L. M. Hrudka, ousted school superintendent, by paying him $9,000 salary for the year ending next September. Hrudka was dismissed last July, but held a contract calling for his employment at this salary for an additional year. He had filed suit to collect.

Jerome J. Cerny, president of the board, said he and his fellow members were confident they could give satisfactory answers to charges against the Morton school. These charges, including allegations of political interference and irregularities in the buying of supplies, were made several weeks ago by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, which warned that the school's accredited standing was in danger.

A report defending the school administration is to be filed with the association before the end of the month, Cerny said. A W. Clevenger, chairman of the North Central body, said an investigation was to be made by the state department of public instruction.

STATE TO OPEN QUIZ TOMORROW AT ST. CHARLES

Committee Will Examine Recaptured Youth.

A legislative committee empowered to investigate affairs at the St. Charles School for Boys will hold its first hearing tomorrow in St. Charles. One of the first witnesses to be questioned will be Lynwood Hale, 16 years old, who escaped from the state school on Saturday and went on a two day crime spree.

Hale was captured early Monday by Elgin police after he had looted a farm home, broken into two stores, and had forced a man and a woman, at pistol point, to drive him from Geneva to Elgin.

Seek to Learn What's Wrong.

Senator Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton, head of the committee assigned to find out what is wrong with and at St. Charles, said at Springfield that the committee was greatly concerned with the Hale escape. It may bring about legislative action to make the school either a penal institution or a home for dependents, he said.

At present, Senator Gunning said, the school is almost a reformatory, although many youngsters of 10, 11, and 12 who have committed no offenses are committed there as dependents. Many older youths who have committed crime—like Hale—are held there as wards of the state or wards of a court, and there have been complaints that the boy criminals corrupt the others.

Plan to Prosecute Boy.

Assistant State's Attorney W. Ben Morgan of Kane county said his office intends to prosecute Hale for the burglary of the home of Roy J. Chrystal, a farmer living near St. Charles.

Prosecutor Morgan said there might be a question of the right of the Kane county authorities to prosecute the youth on the ground he is a ward of the County court of Winnebago county which committed him to St. Charles for automobile theft. The prosecutor said he expected the question would be debated after the Gunning committee visits St. Charles.

PARKER DENIES BOGUS MONEY GUILT; TRIAL SET

Frankie Parker, once known as the airplane bootlegger, pleaded not guilty yesterday when arraigned in the Federal District court on charges of possession and sale and conspiracy to possess and sell $17,000 in spurious $20 bills.

Frankie Parker.

Secret service agents arrested Parker after finding the counterfeit money. It had been buried in glass jars on the Tam o' Shanter golf course in Niles. It was identified as part of the spurious money manufactured by an international swindler known as Count Victor Lustig, who is now serving a twenty year federal prison term.

Judge Charles E. Woodward set Parker's trial for April 10. A. Bradley Eben, assistant United States district attorney, said he understood the state would proceed on Monday with the second express money order forgery trial of Parker, George [Bugs] Moran, prohibition gang leader, and Frank Hicketts. They were acquitted at their first trial.

RELEASED RAPIST HELD TO JURY FOR ROBBING WOMAN

Vernon L. Royals, ex-convict and rapist, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 yesterday by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan of the Felony court, for robbing Mrs. Gladys Marinier. Royals, who is 24 years old, was arrested two days after he entered Mrs. Marinier's home at 2942 Chase avenue, and robbed her of $25, a watch, and a revolver. Last July Royals was released from prison after serving five years for rape and two years of a murder sentence which later was reversed.

THIEVES LOOT TWO APARTMENTS.

Thieves yesterday stole property valued at $150 from two apartments at 2307 Wilson avenue. Clothing valued at $75 was taken from the flat of Miss Anna Walter, and in Harry Gonor's home a ring and a watch were stolen.

Held Up in Office

MISS JUANITA SNYDER.

Two gunmen, one of whom shielded his face with a newspaper, seized a $1,040 pay roll late yesterday in a holdup of the offices of the Wrigley Building restaurant at 410 Michigan avenue. The offices are on the third floor of the Wrigley building.

Miss Juanita Snyder, 23 years old, a secretary, was making up the pay roll when the robbers entered. Both trained pistols on her. "Give us that pay roll!" ordered one. The money was in a cardboard box, which Miss Snyder surrendered.

The bandits then ordered Miss Snyder and Frank Zern, 4324 Sunnyside avenue, a janitor, to lie on the floor. They warned them against making any outcry. Miss Snyder, who lives at 8017 Eberhart avenue, was taken to the detective bureau to view pictures of known holdup men.

COURT UPHOLDS INDICTMENT IN U. OF I. SLAYING

Urbana, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—A motion to quash an indictment against Mrs. Margaret Strothers, colored, charged with the murder of William Spurrier, University of Illinois sophomore, was overruled in Champaign County Circuit court today by Judge John H. Armstrong.

Spurrier was fatally shot early on the morning of Feb. 16, when he and five other university students appeared at the Pullman hotel, a colored resort, and demanded admittance. Mrs. Strothers barred them and one of the group threw a beer bottle through a window. Mrs. Strothers opened fire and one shot struck Spurrier in the chest.

Mrs. Strothers is in the Champaign county jail. When the motion to quash the indictment was overruled today defense counsel entered a plea of not guilty and Judge Armstrong set her trial for April 24.

15 COUNTY JAIL PRISONERS BEGIN TERMS IN JOLIET

Fifteen prisoners, sentenced in the Criminal court, were taken from the county jail yesterday to begin their terms in the Joliet penitentiary. Among them were Philip Reiman, former model Evanston policeman; Jack Moro, and Chester Griezek. Reiman was sentenced to one year to life for robbing stores on his beat. Moro was sentenced to twenty years for the holdup murder of John T. Parker, 523 South Oakley boulevard, a filling station owner, on Nov. 13, 1937. Griezek is to serve from one to ten years for selling fake jobs to state applicants.

MOTHER AND SON GET 10 YEARS IN ESTATE SWINDLE

Pleas Changed to Guilty in Mail Fraud Trial.

Danville, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—A mother and her son, former Chicago suburban residents, were sentenced today to serve ten years in a federal prison and pay fines of $3,000 each for swindling residents of Chicago and central Illinois towns out of more than $125,000 with a fantastic scheme.

Their mail fraud trial, begun yesterday before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, ended abruptly today when they changed their pleas to guilty. The judge imposed the maximum penalty of five years on each of three counts, and then ordered two of the sentences to run concurrently.

Son Living in Splendor.

The defendants are Mrs. Maude Ault, 48 years old, and Robert, 29, who spells his name Alt instead of Ault. Mrs. Ault was living at the Majestic hotel in Chicago when she was arrested Sept. 17, while her son maintained a large home in suburban River Forest, where he was known as a well to do sportsman.

Mrs. Ault wept as they were sentenced, but her son remained stoically calm. Their attorney told the judge that they had such an obsession about the scheme through which they obtained vast sums of money that they almost believed it themselves.

The government charged they mulcted their victims of money with which they said they would pay returns of 200 to 1 when they collected their share of an estate valued at between 30 and 50 million dollars.

Plot Hinges on Convict.

They said a millionaire bootlegger, one Max Orendorff, had offered them half his estate for help they were in position to give him in obtaining his release from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. The government said everything about the story was fictitious, including Orendorff.

But the scheme brought between $125,000 and $150,000 to the defendants from about thirty persons in Chicago, Champaign, Monticello, Tolono, and Danville in eight years beginning in 1930, federal prosecutors said

Even Mrs. Ault's brother, Lorenson K. Bandy of Monticello, said he was swindled of his life savings, $15,000.

2 GET JAIL TERMS IN FEDERAL PAY CHECK FORGERIES

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday sentenced two men to the county jail in federal pay check thefts and forgeries. Francis A. Kauffman, 18 years old, a former army private, got six months for stealing $51 in pay checks from fellow soldiers at Fort Sheridan. Arthur Brown, who lives at 4058 Calumet avenue, got ten months for stealing, forging, and cashing a $27.50 WPA pay check.

"What are we going to do about these mounting forgeries of government checks?" Judge Woodward asked Assistant United States District Attorney A. Bradley Eben. "I have put a number of violators on probation, but I am beginning to think that does very little to deter others." Eben said this type of case has taken most of the secret service agents' time in the last year and a half.

OSCAR G. MAYER RE-ELECTED HEAD OF U. I. TRUSTEES

Board Silent on Vice Quiz in Student Death.

The board of trustees of the University of Illinois met in the Blackstone hotel here yesterday and took action as follows:

Henry Perly Rusk.

1. The present officers of the board, headed by Oscar G. Mayer, Chicago packer, were reëlected.

2. Henry Perly Rusk, a member of the faculty of the university's college of agriculture since 1910, was appointed dean of the college of agriculture, succeeding Joseph C. Blair, who retires in September.

The trustees were silent on the grand jury investigation of vice and gambling dens surrounding the university campus at Champaign. Nor did the trustees have anything to say about the expulsion of five students whose companion, William Spurrier, was shot to death Feb. 16 by the colored proprietress of a disorderly hotel in the university city.

Reëlect Chicagoan Treasurer.

The trustees, three of whom are elected by the people every two years for terms of six years, spent all day at the meeting.

Inasmuch as they direct the spending of over 5 million dollars a year in money provided by taxpayers of the state the trustees devoted considerable time to the reëlection of Frank M. Gordon of Chicago as treasurer of the university and Lloyd Morey of Urbana as controler. Then the trustees reëlected Mr. Mayer, Louis C. Moschell of Pekin, and Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb of Chicago as members of the executive board. This board has full power to act between meetings of the trustees. H. E. Cunningham of Urbana was reëlected secretary.

Will Direct Extension Work.

As dean of the college of agriculture, Prof. Rush will be director of the extension service in agriculture and home economics and director of the agricultural experiment station.

A. C. Willard, president of the university, said the trustees felt they should not comment on vice and gambling at Champaign while an investigation is in progress. The inquiry, which is being directed by Assistant Attorney General Walker Butler, is "progressing nicely," Dr. Willard added. A grand jury recently found that vice and gambling had been flourishing openly up to the time of the shooting of the student.

JAPS WILL FIGHT TO SAVE FISHING, RUSSIA WARNED

Angered by Auction of Siberian Lots.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 14.—Japan will fight rather than give up the right to fish in soviet Russian waters, Viscount Tadashiro Inouye, a member of the house of peers, declared in parliament today.

The long drawn soviet-Japanese dispute over fishing rights was brought to a climax by the Russian determination to auction off in Vladivostok tomorrow 293 fishing lots off the Siberian coast which formerly were assigned to Japan.

The Japanese have announced they will not participate in the bidding at Vladivostok, but Viscount Inouye said the Russians are mistaken if they think "Japan has no intentions of fighting to the last over the northern fisheries."

Supply Vital to Japan.

Most of the lots are near Kamchatka peninsula and in Russian territorial waters of the Bering and Okhotsk seas. They are a vital source of supply for Japanese food and industry. The lots are parceled areas—just like real estate divisions—near the shore, ranging in size from 100 feet to several miles. The shallow places are abundant with fish, particularly salmon.

Japan bases its claim to continued rights in the fishing grounds on the Portsmouth treaty of 1905, which ended the Russo-Japanese war. At times the Japanese have been assigned as many as 400 lots. The most recent one year agreement expired on Dec. 31, 1938.

Renewal Is Refused.

Ambassador Shigenori Togo conferred with Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov in Moscow, but failed to obtain a renewal. The Japanese then were angered by the Russian announcement of the auction without the usual reservation of lots for the Japanese.

Japan some weeks ago threatened that if no agreement were reached, the Japanese would resort to "free fishing," with warships protecting the fishing fleet. Russia indicated that the situation might become critical if the Japanese took such action.

In recent weeks, it is believed, both Japan and Russia have been moving additional troops to the border of Siberia and Manchukuo, where a number of clashes have taken place.

Armed Trio Raid 3 Hotels Near Loop; Get Only $48

Three bandits who threatened to beat one victim because he had less than $2 raided three small hotels near the loop early yesterday morning. They obtained $48.11. The trio all armed with revolvers, appeared first at the 830 South Michigan avenue hotel, where they held up the night clerk, a guest and one bellboy, getting $26. Next they went to the Marshall hotel, 1232 North La Salle street, getting $20 from the cash drawer. Their final appearance was at the 4140 Drexel boulevard hotel where they obtained less than $2 from John Davis, the night clerk.

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—The former Pauline Warren, third wife of Potter D'Orsay Palmer, Chicago millionaire, who divorced him last December, was married yesterday to William Watts Rose Jr., magazine writer and son of Col. William Watts Rose of Cleveland.

They were married in Leesburg, Va., and returned to New York last night to celebrate in night clubs.

After Polly, as Pauline Warren is called, divorced the Chicago heir to $30,000,000, he married Louise Lowery Abatiello, a waitress in a hot-dog stand at Sarasota, Fla.

HITLER'S PROGRESS EASTWARD.

The second phase of Hitler's eastern program now causes the dissolution of the Czecho-Slovakian union. Slovakia is a state independent in theory, a German dependency in fact. The Czechs are restricted to the confines of Bohemia and German influence over the whole territory is virtually consolidated.

These developments were implied in the Munich agreement, although at the time France and Great Britain endeavored to soften the actual bluntness of the surrender by professions of concern for the Czecho-Slovakians and promises that they would receive financial aid and the guaranty of their restricted frontiers. Nothing came of that.

Mr. Chamberlain probably realized at the time that the considerations which had prompted him to buy the peace of Europe would remain in force and that the Munich agreement meant that western Europe had abandoned all programs which might conflict with Germany's expansion in the east. The French frontiers, after twenty years of power politics, are in France, and there is no excuse for the American frontiers being anywhere except in America.

The surgical operation which began last fall has aroused the indignation of a great many people, it exhibiting, as they thought, a ruthlessness on the part of the aggressors and a submissiveness on the part of the defenders which, if it continued as the controling attitude in Europe, would eventually engulf the freer peoples. There was a warm spot in American feelings for Czecho-Slovakia, possibly in recognition of the success of American ideas in this post-war republic.

Many Americans thought the Czecho-Slovakians had the most worthy of the newer European republican forms. However that may be, it is true that very little of what could be regarded as even sham democracy now exists in the general direction of Germany's expanding movement. The peoples are fiercely nationalistic but they are not democracies. Our government will have to do a great deal of distortion to find a crusade against despots growing out of Germany's eastward ambitions. People who hoped for better things will continue to regret that Czecho-Slovakia was the victim, but the further progress of Hitler's program does not now involves countries which, left to themselves, would evolve and maintain a different and better form of government than the one rolling down on them.

For a short period in 1918 Germany realized the fruits of a great victory in the east. Before the signing of the Brest-Litovsk treaty the German army had reached the Black sea and Germany had occupied the Ukraine and the Crimea. At the expense of revolutionary Russia and the bolshevists Germany was where Hitler dreams of going. Its subsequent failure on the western front and the allied victory in which American troops were the decisive factor took away that great but briefly possessed empire, with its resources and much needed grain. Russia had to give it up. France, Great Britain, and the United States forced its relinquishment. Nevertheless, the Germans were there once, and now, stronger than ever, they may be on their way back.

These twenty years have worked changes as startling and remarkable as anything the world has seen, but they were written into the treaty of Versailles and they were fostered by the policy of the victors, who tried to encircle and hold down a people who could not be expected to submit longer than they had to. The German government, which might have been a peaceable member of the family of European nations, could not survive its external and internal enemies. Herr Hitler was the result, and the powers which were so securely on top twenty years ago are now unable to make any protests or offer any resistance, even if they cared to do so.

Josef Stalin, upon whom the reliance for an eastern check on Germany was built, so conducted his terrorist purges that he destroyed all confidence in the ability of the Red military forces to offer any support to the system of alliances. He isolated Russia. France has now isolated itself. Hitler has the Napoleonic restlessness which makes the routine of government intolerable. He must be the master of crises recurring at stated periods every year, but so long as he is going east his energies are engaged in the direction which offers the least peril for western Europe. The excuses which our government has adopted to become the champion against the autocratic states disappear as Hitler's program works out where we cannot possibly build up an issue, even to satisfy the most international of our planners.

THE PLAY BOYS AND THEIR HOUSES.

Senator Wagner's bill to increase the lending limit of the Federal Housing authority from 800 million dollars to 1 billion 600 million brought the whole subject of what is called slum clearance up for criticism by Senator Tydings. Every community would like to rid itself of unfit houses. It is easy for fraud to flourish under the name of clearance.

Federal resettlement projects have three burocratic characteristics—humbug, subsidy, and discrimination. They cannot guide or stimulate private building, because no private builder can reduce costs by avoiding taxes or attract tenants by rent subsidies. A federal built settlement is a liability to a community at large because most of its taxes are thrown on other property. It never takes its tenants from the occupants of unfit houses, because, with all the unfair advantages offered, the rents still are beyond the earnings of the ill-housed people. A federal resettlement may take what is called a slum location, but it cannot then take over the people. Its tenants will get more for their money, at public expense, but they will be people who were fairly well housed before they moved in.

It is probably not the fault of the persons who obtain new advantages that they are the beneficiaries of discrimination against others. There was something to be had, and they got it. All around them are people just as much entitled to the government subsidies, if any one is, and they do not get them. When burocracy has attained its final stage of development the subsidies go by political favor. In the land of the proletariat the new rich have grown up with the dictatorship.

THE EXPORT-IMPORT BANK.

Many will be astonished to learn that the congress which was expected to proceed independently and with the greatest caution has already passed bills extending the President's discretionary powers, concerning which there were grave doubt and serious objection.

The bill renewing the power of the President to operate an export and import bank was ready for the President's signature when he recently returned to his office. He signed it March 4. The name—the Export-Import bank—itself suggests that it must be both useful and important. When one considers that the volume of foreign trade of the United States in a year has run to the vast sum of 10 billions of dollars, the bank must be quite a business.

It so happens, however, that the year in which the trade of the United States amounted to the vast figure just given there wasn't any export and import bank. Exports and imports represent commercial trade, and there are abundant private banking facilities to effect payments and collections.

The trade of the country did not have the benefit of an export and import bank until Feb. 2, 1934. Using the authority of the national industrial recovery act, the President brought it into existence by proclamation. A million dollars of the 3 billion dollars recovery fund were used for its common stock, and the Reconstruction Finance corporation subscribed for preferred stock.

The bank had a very specialized purpose. It was not to facilitate trade with Great Britain, France, Germany, or South America. It was to promote trade with Russia, the land of wholesale murder, following the resumption of relations on Nov. 16, 1933. The general idea of the Litvinov-Roosevelt agreement was that there was going to be a big increase in trade between the two countries. As Russia was not regarded as a good risk in informed quarters, the government undertook to take care of the financial arrangements. But no sooner was the bank created for that purpose than Senator Hiram Johnson secured the passage of the law bearing his name which prohibits financial transactions with any government in default of its obligations to the United States. As all trade with Russia must be made through a direct agency of the soviet government, this left the Roosevelt administration with a bank but no business to do.

Thereupon some one thought of China. A credit of 50 million dollars was extended to that country to purchase grain. Only 17 million 105 thousand dollars of that amount was used. In April, 1937, a loan of $1,600,000 was authorized for the purchase of locomotives in this country. This loan matures monthly over a period of five years. On Dec. 15, 1938, a credit was extended by the Export-Import bank to the Universal Trading corporation of New York up to 25 million dollars, the proceeds to be used in financing the exportation of American agricultural and manufactured products to China, and the importation of wood-oil from China. It was announced that this was a five year deal and the loans were to be guaranteed by the Bank of China.

The Export and Import bank is not needed to finance any transactions which are sound. In trade with governments, when the risk of loss is considerable, the government cannot afford to be involved any more than individuals can. The possible use of such a bank to finance trade with countries at war or to enable countries to prepare for war was enough to warant a death sentence for the bank. It is significant that military trucks have been purchased by China with the 25 million dollar credit given by the bank in June. Closing of the Export-Import bank was a sound precautionary step congress should have taken. It is to be hoped that before any of the other expiring powers are continued time will be taken for more careful consideration than was given to the Export-Import bank bill.

WAR PSYCHOLOGY.

[Providence (R. I.) Bulletin.]

We suppose that if there is such a specialist as a war psychologist, Dr. William Brown of Oxford is it. He has studied the states of mind which produce war, which carry it on, and which reflect upon it after it is over as few men have.

Gilbert Murray gave him a fine lead the other day by saying that a government is no more moved by hatred and violence when it declares war than it is when it raises the income tax.

"Right," says Dr. Brown, "but a government's declaration of war comes after the real mischief has been done." For war begins in the unconscious mind of the individual. Propaganda, deliberate misstatement, and honest misunderstanding generate an emotional setup over which reason eventually has no control.

Little by little this emotional background is built up until at length it leads to action which calm intelligence recognizes as illogical but about which the calmest intelligence can do nothing. This emotionalism, which is bad enough in the individual, grows monstrous under the emotional contagion of groups. Entire nations succumb to it. Leaders and public react upon each other until an irresistible war psychology has been created. It is then that righteous governments declare war as calmly—even more so!—as they raise the income tax.

How to avoid the creation of such a devastating force? Voice your skepticism, says Dr. Brown, while there is yet time. Bring your doubts to the surface. Better to recognize self-assertiveness, says he, than to choke it back where the effects may be envy and hatred. Better to air your grievances and stamp them out than to let them smolder until they are beyond control.

FIRST PAGE NEWS, 44 B. C.

Today is the Ides of March, upon which dictators should tremble and not permit their friends to gather closely about them in political conference. Upon this day their greatest prototype, Gaius Julius Cæsar, came to the end of the trail that had crossed the Rubicon and was brutally thrust beyond the Styx by a coterie of believers in the republican form of government.

Thanks largely to Shakespeare, this story is more familiar to the masses of today than any other in ancient history. The dramatist followed Plutarch's account of the assassination so closely that some of his passages are easy adaptations of the prose [translated from Greek] into blank verse. But there is another classic authority for the tale, the lively Latin historical gossip, Gaius Suetonius Tranquillus—a modern in his flair for anecdote and picturesque detail.

According to Suetonius, Cæsar did not say, "Et tu, Brute," but merely groaned under the stabbing. He admits, however, that some writers quote him as saying to Brutus, in Greek, "You, too, my child?" This has caused recent historical novelists to depict Brutus as Cæsar's illegitimate son. Suetonius even gives the post mortem report: there were twenty-three wounds, of which only the second one received, in the breast, was fatal, according to a physician named Antistius.

"All the conspirators made off, and he lay there lifeless for some time until finally three common slaves put him on a litter and carried him home, with one arm hanging down."

That bit of tragic detail, "with one arm hanging down," has been admired and envied by writing men ever since.

WHY WE BECAME A HERMIT.

"Are you really Mr. Collins? My, you're youngish!"

"Did you hear the one about the Scottish pubs?"

"Did you get that little thing I mailed you last week?"

"Are you cousin to Rip Collins of the Cubs?"

"I would so much like to have you meet my daughter;

She has talent, all our friends and neighbors say."

"My, you must meet lots and lots of interesting people."

"If I had the Line, I'd run it more this way."

"Are you really 'Quizzicuss' and all those others?"

"How can you tell what you print is not a theft?"

"Do you ever print the work of folks you don't know?"—

Goodness gracious! Mr. Collins must have left!

Three cheers to you for awakening an interest in Chicago's old houses. Such information one will seek in vain at the Historical society. But tell me why has no one taken notice of the prince of them all? Surrounded by squalor, confronted by street car lines and general din where once was the shade of elms, it lifts its head snootily above all this newfangled environment and turns its back on the elevated trains.

This building stands at 9th and Wabash, "catacorner" from St. Mary's church, and far outdates it, because it can be plainly seen on a panoramic view of Chicago published in 1858. There was a mansion! When it was built it must have been one of the most outstanding homes in the city. Please, Mr. Linemaster, turn those scouts of yours loose. John T. Mitchell.

[Gaius Trebonius, one of the conspirators in the assassination of Julius Cæsar on March 15, 44 B. C., had served under him in the Gallic wars as legate or corps commander.]

The Alps, the plains of Gaul, the narrow sea,
And chafing armour strap, and heat, and cold—
Things great and trivial within the bold
And ardent orbit of his life bound thee
To him—to Cæsar! Shout of victory,
The after-tales of strategy, well told
In Rome: all this and more there was to hold
Thy soldier heart entrenched in loyalty.
But this was not enough for thee. What fame
If thou hadst kept thy soldier's constancy,
And turned thy Roman heart against the shame
Of making one in that conspiracy!
Rome might have fixed forever more thy name
In one fine phrase: Trebonian loyalty!

THE HEART—OUR MOST DEPENDABLE ORGAN.

SONGS are sung about the "old oaken bucket that hangs in the well" which did such yeoman service in assuaging the thirst of the weary traveler. But when poets permit their muses to toy with the human heart—what comes forth? Merely a roundelay describing the structure as Cupid's own special target. Nothing is said about its endurance, power, or effectiveness. After all, our chief health concerns are directed toward keeping each and every organ in good trim. While the heart may not be the seat of the soul or of the emotions, as was believed by ancient writers, nevertheless it constitutes the very center of our being.

It starts to function long before birth and continues its rhythmic action until life ceases. It is about the last part to give up. We can understand its faithfulness when we realize that it observes no holidays and that the only rest which it secures is that short interval between contractions. This explains why—with a rapid beat—it is more likely to wear out. The inactive periods are so brief.

Imagine a mass of muscle fibers—approximately the size of one's closed fist—that is always on the job, ticking away seventy or more times per minute day in and day out. Each pulsation is powerful enough to force blood to the most remote cells whether the individual is standing, walking, or running. We will thus gain some conception of the work performed and the respect which we owe to its integrity.

But the heart is not indestructible. Its substance may be attacked by microbes or damaged by bacterial toxins, and if it is asked to do too much there may come a time when it will fail. Its cells are subject to the same rules of wear and tear, to forces of degeneration, which may harm simultaneously the nervous system, the liver, and the kidneys.

The most common difficulty results from rheumatic fever, which is a disease of childhood and early manhood or womanhood. This is probably an infection and when the joints become inflamed and swollen the body's pump may be involved. Certain it is that an all too high percentage of cases of rheumatism are followed by some cardiac impairment.

This means that every illness accompanied by painful joints must be regarded as fraught with some danger and it should be obvious that the sooner the initial malady is conquered the less chance there will be for complications. Every afflicted youngster, therefore, must receive the benefit of skilled medical and nursing care, with every remedy calculated to lessen the possible after effects.

But, you say, "Rheumatism is a joint disease; how does it affect the heart?" While the chief symptoms are exhibited in and about the hinges of the body, the malady is general in character and unless due precautions are exercised the muscle as well as the valves may be weakened.

But the bright side of the whole matter lies in the fact that even though some invading force—such as infection—may come along the heart has great powers of recovery and adjustment. The main chamber can thicken and hence overcome resistance or compensate for some defect. If given half a chance it will carry most of us through our allotted span—even beyond. But just because it is a patient, willing servant we have no right to demand that it shall be oblivious to the vicious influence of bacterial poisons, to absorption from foci of infection, or to a burden which human tissues are not built to withstand.

Even though you have been told that you have cardiac trouble, that fact may not mean that your years will be abbreviated or that you cannot carry on efficiently. The objective is to adjust the physical load—activity—to a point a little below that which the organ can sustain. If shortness of breath develops on severe exertion, such as climbing stairs rapidly, the common sense remedy is to ascend the flight slowly. Many a distressing episode has been avoided by adopting a more leisurely pace in walking—avoiding hurry with its associated overstrain.

PETS AS DISEASE SPREADERS.

D. M. writes: Is it possible for a dog or cat to contract a disease from a human being and, in turn, spread that ailment to other members of the family?

REPLY.

This question has been argued pro and con for many decades. Certainly some parasitic diseases may be spread in this manner. In the presence of scarlet fever, smallpox, etc.—while the animal may not exhibit the malady—the virus may be carried in the fur. Diseases such as anthrax, tularemia, Rocky mountain fever, rabies, undulant fever, etc. require animals for their dissemination. While it is possible for an animal to be infected from man, such instances are exceedingly rare.

RIGHT, BUT ALSO WRONG.

Mrs. P. writes: A claims that the juice of half a lemon taken every morning prevents and cures rheumatism, and no other fruit is as good. B says that both oranges and grapefruit have just as much power.

REPLY.

B is correct. Oranges, lemons, and grapefruit are all citrus fruits and are excellent sources of vitamin C and alkalis.

None, however, is a cure for rheumatism. This disease is usually associated with the absorption of toxins or pus from some infected area. The treatment should aim to remove the cause and increase the patient's resistance.

FEVER AND DELIRIUM.

Mrs. C. writes: I have three children aged 8, 4, and 2. When the eldest and the youngest have a temperature they twitch and become delirious. The other child complains only of a headache when she has a high fever. Why is this?

REPLY.

The nervous system in a child is in delicate balance. It is more easily affected by fever and toxins. Hence the frequency of delirium, twitchings, or convulsions. Two of your children are more susceptible and should be watched more closely. Lowering the fever by means of tepid sponges will prevent these seizures.

MUCH BETTER OFF.

O. A. writes: Do you think that the people of today are better off physically than they were years ago?

REPLY.

Yes, much. This is borne out by the fact that the average life expectancy today is 61 years, whereas one hundred years ago it was approximately 30.

PRISON COSTS.

Hawthorne, Wis., March 12.—The several articles describing the luxurious manner in which the politicians of Illinois pamper the prisoners in the various penal and semi-penal institutions of the state were certainly illuminating. The policy seems to be based upon the assumption that nothing can be too good for the criminal.

I am wondering, however, whether the figures in the article of March 7 describing the luxuries of the women's "prison" at Dwight tell the whole story. In this article we are told that the place costs the Illinois taxpayers more than $600 per inmate annually, while the average cost at the men's prisons is said to be only $200, and at the palatial school for boys at St. Charles [with one adult employé for each three inmates] something more than $500 per inmate.

But are not the actual costs vastly more than as stated above? It is my impression that these figures make no allowance whatever [I may be mistaken and am seeking information] for the rental value of the physical equipment in either case. From what I have heard I understand that the land, buildings, furnishings, machinery and so forth at St. Charles are [normally] worth not less than $1,000 for each inmate. At the usual good times rate of 10 per cent for taxes [in these cases lost to the state], depreciation and rental, or interest, this should increase the cost of each inmate by not less than $100 annually. No doubt the cost at Stateville and other institutions is considerably more. Still further, I have been told by an Illinois official that the institution at Dwight actually cost the immense sum [is this information correct?] of $10,000 per inmate. If this is correct the more than $600 per annum cost at Dwight per inmate should be increased by $1,000, making a total of more than $1,600. JOHN A. SIMPSON.

TWO YEARS OF LABOR PEACE.

Oak Park, Ill., March 10.—From general indications it would seem that we may again get a touch of at least 1936-'37 prosperity; but how can it be made to last a bit longer?

The government could do a good deal to bring about this prosperity by just adopting the opposite procedure from that which caused the late 1937 recession. In other words, declare a moratorium [pardon the use of this word] of labor disputes for at least two years, making it punishable by jail sentences, as has happened in North Chicago, to those who cause the disputes.

Should a majority [not minority as in 1937] of laborers in a particular plant during that period feel that they have just cause for complaints, let there be a local arbitration committee of local business men, representatives of employers and employés, and perhaps even a union representative who would only be asked for advice and not dictate as before.

Then after eighteen months of this moratorium had run out let labor and capital get together and say what their intentions would be for another year after the two years of peace.

Labor would benefit in that their firms would again be able to plan by making future contracts and not be forced to cut wages as many firms have already done because of lost income from broken contracts due to unfair strikes in cases where delivery was important.

Capital would again come out of hiding, at least for the two years when prospects of favorable earnings would again be possible. MAURICE LOVEN.

THE NEGROES AND THE D. A. R.

Chicago, March 10.—Mrs. Sisson's explanation of the Marion Anderson D. A. R. situation is weakest where she attempts to make her strongest point. "In voting to maintain the policy that was forced upon them by circumstances seven years ago, the national board made no attempt to set itself up as a critic of art, nor to pass judgment upon the prevailing sentiment and custom of the capital city."

That congress should see fit to make a law separating white from colored students is to be deplored, but the decision of private concerns to follow the example is not a matter of force. The D. A. R. might well look to the south for better examples. I have just returned from a visit to a progressive Texas city where the law of segregation is as old as the hills. In this city, as in hundreds of others in southern states, Negroes are not denied the use of public halls. Indeed, on many occasions Negro orchestras are invited to play on the stages of the best theaters, and in keeping with the law certain nights are set aside when none but colored patrons are allowed to attend.

It is fortunate for the country that the Anderson incident occurred. It simply reveals to us what small people make up the population of the nation's capital. FRANCIS S. HATCHER.

A VISIT TO THE COURTS.

Chicago, March 11. — All of the tax hysteria today could have an outlet if the voters would open their eyes and visit the courts of justice in their own city. A HOLY DAY.

La Moille, Ill., March 10.—The time of the year known as Holy week will soon be here again. Intelligent people, 557,000,000 Christians, and scores of others believe that Jesus was the greatest person who ever lived on earth. One of the great historians of the world today has said that although no one has fully understood him, the world became a different and better place to live in when Jesus came.

I wonder if it would not be well to honor him more than we do? We respect other great men on weekdays by closing banks and stores on some anniversary. Why not honor Jesus by closing all places of business everywhere on Good Friday between the hours of 12 and 3 p. m.? This is the accepted time when Jesus hung on the cross and gave his life for what he thought was right. Would it be asking too much? What do the business men think about it?

INVESTMENT LOSS.

Barrington, Ill., March 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About 15 years ago [1] a daughter invested some of her mother's money in good faith, part of it in a farm mortgage and part in special assessment improvement bonds, both of which paid interest regularly for a few years, and then when the depression came the special assessment bonds became delinquent—and after repeated crop failures and drouth [2] she was obliged to take over the farm, which has decreased in value about half of the amount originally invested.

3. In case of her mother's death, will the daughter be held liable for these losses by the other heirs of the estate? P. B.

1. You do not make clear whether the daughter was acting as the mother's agent, or whether the daughter borrowed the money from the mother to invest on the daughter's own account.

2. The antecedent of this pronoun is not clear.

3. Depends on the foregoing facts and on additional facts as to negligence, etc. If you wish to pursue the question you should have a personal interview with an attorney.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dean Austin Pardue, former Chicago boy, now of Buffalo, N. Y., who is preaching each noon this week at the Harris theater, yesterday told his Episcopal hearers what the scriptural word "heart" means in modern language.

"When we see the word 'heart' in Scripture," said Dean Pardue, "it refers to the subconscious mind. It means that the church which uses the term 16 times in the service of holy communion, and the inspired writers of the Bible who refer to it 831 times, have found in centuries past what the modern psychologists have discovered within the last few years. It is this: Control the 'heart'—the subconscious mind—and you control the man."

Christianity, he said, appeals to the inner attitudes of life and does not seek the control of the dictator.

Morning Rush Hard on Beauty and the Nerves

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"There is nothing more detrimental to one's looks and nervous system than the great American method of rushing early mornings from bed to subway in 15 minutes flat, and I'm sure that doctors will bear me out." Thus speaks Jean Tennyson, lovely blonde opera star.

"A good 'getting up,' of course, begins the night before. Always try to get your eight hours when you have a hard day of office, house, or school work before you. And be sure to have plenty of fresh air in the room at night, for you will be certain to feel logey if it has been too warm.

"Have a good alarm clock, for there is nothing more agonizing than waking up with a start to see that you have only fifteen minutes to get to the time clock. If you are a heavy sleeper, put the clock across the room so that you will have to get out of bed to turn it off.

"It is better, though, if you don't have to get out of bed so hurriedly. Stretch yourself luxuriously and extensively, then sit on the edge of the bed and stretch some more. Stand in front of the window and take ten deep breaths, and if you are the exercise taking type, do your exercises.

"Before you take your shower, drink half a glass of water with a few drops of lemon or grapefruit juice in it, it does wonders in clearing out your system. And in spite of all the jokes to the contrary, if you finish off your shower with a thorough dash of cold water and a brisk rubdown, you'll completely lose your eight o'clock in the morning feeling.

"If you can, eat your breakfast before you dress so you have a little time to digest it before going out. Drink as big a glass of fruit juice and as much water as possible, and be sure that the menu includes at least one egg in some form. The main thing is not to gulp your food; the favorite cartoon of the suburbanite wiping the crums off his mouth as he catches on the last car of the 8:15 probably explains the prevalence of stomach disorders in this country.

"One of the main advantages of allowing yourself plenty of time in the morning is that it gives you a chance to take care of any unexpected little incidents such as a run in your only pair of stockings, without snarling both the thread and your temper. And you won't find yourself two blocks away from home with brown shoes and a black hat, if you don't just grab the first thing you find in the closet."

How to glorify blonde tresses is one of the subjects of the booklet, "Bring Out the Beauty in Your Hair," by Antoinette Donnelly. On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. By postpaid mail, 7 cents.

Infant Welfare Lecture

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Richard E. Bailey is selling tickets to a lecture Dr. Eduard Benes will give at 8:30 o'clock the evening of March 30 in the auditorium of the Oak Park and River Forest High school. Circle 25 of the Oak Park center of the Infant Welfare society is sponsoring the lecture.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

From the notebook:

One of the gadgets to see—and to own if you like such whims—is the new purse mirror with flashlight attached. You can make up in the dark, read your theater program, or find your keyhole if the hall is dim. It's rather fun and not as bulky as you'd expect it to be. The mirror is a double one, conventional in its size and oblong shape. Attached to it in a cylinder that really makes a convenient handle is the little flashlight. This goes on with the turn of a tiny switch and throws a brilliant light on the mirror.

Every day we like our handy little makeup cape better and better. Every working woman who wears dark dresses—as most of us do—ought to keep one in her desk. It flips on in a jiffy and completely protects the shoulders and front of the dress. You can slather powder on when you refresh your makeup and your dress won't need brushing. Our original idea that such little things are more trouble than they're worth was 100 per cent wrong. No one could steal that cape away from us.

Janet Gaynor may not know it, but she's brought joy to the Chicago hairdressing profession. Gaynor is the latest movie star to adopt short hair, following in the footsteps of Irene Dunne, Shearer, and a few others.

Thick pork chops, stuffed with corn and crums, browned and puffy; sliced apples, cooked juicily tender in the meat drippings, and a chocolate-date-coconut pudding with cream or whipped cream—these are the high spots of today's short-cut dinner.

Because the thick chops require long, slow cooking, it will be necessary to plan on spending about an hour and ten minutes on this meal.

SHORT-CUT DINNER
Pork Chops with Corn Stuffing and Apples
Sliced Glazed Sweet Potatoes
Buttered Kohlrabi
Lettuce and Tomato Salad
Hot Rolls [from Bakery]
Chocolate Pudding with Dates and Coconut

Pork Chops with Corn Stuffing

[Serves Four]

4 pork chops, cut double-thick
¾ cup fine bread crums
¾ cup canned cream-style corn
Salt, pepper, celery salt

Have the dealer cut pockets in the chops from the side next the bone. Combine bread crums and corn, and season to taste. Stuff pockets. Season the chops with salt and pepper and brown on both sides in a hot skillet. Add a small amount of hot water, about ¼ cup, cover the pan, and reduce the heat. Cook gently until chops are tender, about an hour. During the last 15 minutes of cooking add sliced apples to the pan and let them soften and brown with the meat. Be sure that the meat cooks slowly, for if it doesn't it will dry out and lose flavor.

Use fresh or canned sweet potatoes. If fresh, peel and slice, and cook until almost tender in boiling, salted water before glazing. If canned, simply slice and glaze. To glaze, heat the slices gently in a sirup made with ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup water, 3 tablespoons butter, and a little salt [for four potatoes]. Turn frequently to coat all sides of the slices. Orange juice may be used instead of water.

Kohlrabi should be cooked quickly in boiling, salted water to cover. Peel the bulbs, slice crosswise, and add to the water. Cook uncovered until tender when pierced with a fork. Add salt, pepper, and butter, and serve hot. The flavor is mild and pleasant.

There are two ways to prepare the dessert. Use a good chocolate mix and follow directions on the package. They probably will tell you to add only milk and to cook in the top of a double boiler until thickened. This is the first step for both methods of preparation. Cool the pudding and [a] add chopped dates, pour into serving glasses, sprinkle with coconut, and top each serving with a dab of whipped cream, or [b] fold whipped cream, chopped dates, and coconut into the cooled pudding and pile into sherbet glasses. Chill.

One Pattern—Two Dresses

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

At first glance, the two frocks illustrated seem to be made from two different patterns. Such is not the case. Look closely and you will see that the same slim lines prevail in both, but that the dress at the left has the unmistakable stamp of youth, while the other is rich in distinctive maturity.

Young women and young matrons will like the version with the bolero. It's a grand model for late spring and for summer. The scheme illustrated suggests a print for bolero and the skirt of the one piece dress, with the top of a lighter and a plain shade. The waistline dips up into the bodice, and the skirt is flared. The V neckline is flattering to the throat.

The dress for the mature silhouette has a lapel collarline and long sleeves, and omits the bolero. Otherwise the style is identical to that of the other model. Dark prints and plain dark colors are slenderizing in their effect and are, therefore, the best choices for this frock.

Style No. 2667 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material, with 1¼ yards of 39 inch contrasting.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Front Views and Profiles
By June Provines

Americana, 1939.

Two elderly women were sitting in the Palmer House bar sipping cocktails.

"Well," said one, "bottoms up, and let's go to the dime store."

Private Lives Notes.

One of the songs Miss Shutta sings at the Chicago—and she sang it the day she was granted a divorce from George Olson—is Hoagy Carmichael's I Get Along Without You Very Well.

And sitting in the front row at Angela Is Twenty-Two Monday night at the Selwyn was Peggy Fears, in pale blue chiffon and an ermine coat, and perhaps the last string of pearls she says she is down to, with her former husband, A. C. Blumenthal.

Radio Influence.

The teacher of the music appreciation class at Redmon school in Paris, Ill., played the William Tell Overture by Rossini and told the pupils to raise their hands if they recognized it. The needle had hardly begun to travel around the record when hands were waving excitedly.

"Hi, yo, Silver!" chorused the children.

Manuscript Retriever.

The world of letters owes Erika Mann, author of School for Barbarians, who is lecturing tomorrow evening at the Skokie school in Winnetka under the auspices of the North Shore branch of the Progressive Education association, a debt beyond that of writing her own books. When the Mann family left Germany at the time of Hitler's rise to power the manuscript of Thomas Mann's Joseph and His Brethren was inadvertently left behind. At considerable risk to herself, Miss Mann returned to Germany, wearing smoked glasses and a peasant's dress, and retrieved the manuscript.

Incidental Info.

A fashionable Michigan avenue women's wear store was opened up for an hour last Sunday evening to allow a customer from Mason City, Wash., to buy his wife's spring outfit. He selected coats, dresses, hats, undergarments, and accessories, then went to the children's department and made purchases for his children. It was worth the store's while to open up. Total bill, $2,500.

Postscript.

We forgot a little tale in telling about Franz Blom, authority on Latin-American archæology, who is in Chicago in connection with the proposed museum at New Orleans. A slight tale, come to think of it. Dr. Blom, who is a Dane, attended the second international congress of anthropological and ethnological scientists in Denmark last summer. The tall Danish king came to the congress.

"Yours is a Danish name," he said to Dr. Blom when he was presented.

"Yes, your majesty; I used to spit cherry pits into your back yard when I was a boy," answered the archæologist.

Drama League Has Breakfast for 2 Notables

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE CHICAGO DRAMA LEAGUE, which had announced to its members in its February bulletin that there would be no special parties during Lent, is reneging on that announcement in delightful style. The league gave an interesting breakfast party and tonight it will sponsor a cinema première that is expected to be a great success. The breakfast was at the Blackstone hotel, and so many members and guests were present that there were tables all around the balcony as well as in the crystal ballroom.

Sinclair Lewis and Dennis King were especial guests. Others of the theater world at the speakers' table were Philip Merivale, Flora Campbell, Mary Howes, and Richard Kendrick of the "Angela Is Twenty-Two" company and its producer, John Wildberg, and Vera Zorina and Charles Walter of "I Married an Angel." Mr. King is the fortunate gentleman who marries an angel [Zorina] every night at the Grand Opera house and Mr. Lewis stopped being a novelist long enough to become the author of "Angela Is Twenty-Two."

Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher, president, presided, looking springlike in a fuchsia sailor and veil and a round bouquet of white and purple violets. A few others at the party were Mrs. Townsend McKeever, with her ever-present corsage of lavender orchids; Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, Mrs. Daniel Taylor, Mrs. Oakley Brown, with a smart black straw hat with a crown of wide open pink roses; Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell and her guest, Mrs. William Kent of California; Mrs. Jason F. Whitney, Mrs. Harry Fuller, Mrs. Horace Bridges and her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bridges, and the younger Mrs. Bridges' sister, Miss Jane Parker.

Others Appear in Spring Hats.

Others present were Mrs. Lloyd Bailey with a bright red bird, poised as if for flight, on a tiny black hat; Mrs. Carl Defebaugh, Mrs. William E. Vogelback, with an aquamarine veil over a little black sailor; Mrs. Robert White Jr.; Mrs. Archibald Freer and her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Karcher; Mrs. Philo A. Otis, and Mrs. Harold Pynchon, in a brand new hat of coral silk with two blue quills trimming it.

Mrs. Pynchon is chairman of the committee that has planned the Drama league's movie party tonight. It will be at the Esquire theater and the film to be shown is "Peg of Old Drury." Mrs. Pynchon is looking forward to a visit from her daughter, Edith Atwater, who is arriving in Chicago on April 2 to spend a week here. She is on tour with "Susan and God," which will close during Holy week.

Lovely Zorina, who in private life is Mme. George Balanchine, was among those who went on to the symphony concert from the breakfast. She was in the box party of Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, whose other guests were Mrs. Phillip Miller, Mrs. John C. Murphy; a stunning Argentinian, Mme. Leborg, and Benedict Nicholson of London.

Miss Mary Hale, a debutante of the season just past, entertained at the concert in the box of her parents, the William B. Hales. Her guests were Miss Judy Butler, Miss Phyllis and Miss Sylvia Peter, Miss Caroline Clark of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Harlan T. Pierpont Jr.

Mrs. William C. Jackson was hostess in her box to her daughter, Mrs. Russell Stern, Mrs. H. K. Farrar, Mrs. William Thompson, and Mrs. Jules Delescaille.

Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Charles H. Hamill, Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. Dewes Burgweger, Miss Mary West, Mrs. Ralph C. Otis and her daughter, Mrs. Wade Fetzer Jr.; Mrs. Oliver S. Picher and her daughter, Mrs. Picher Purcell; Mrs. Wentworth P. Mackenzie, Mrs. Edward C. Kohlsaat, and Mrs. H. Newton Hudson were others who enjoyed the playing of the orchestra and Albert Spalding.

Mr. Spalding, who will play with the orchestra again tomorrow night and Friday afternoon, will be the especial guest at a reception Mrs.

Fashionable dots are unusually effective in this deep vee neckline blouse for a spring suit. A waistcoat front, a softly full windbreaker backline, and unusual short sleeves and collarline are smart details. The blouse may be worn either inside or outside the skirt.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

W. C. Fields is in this picture—but it's Charlie McCarthy's show. Which show, taken as a whole, really isn't much to write home about.

Mr. Bergen's wooden meal ticket quite hogs the choice lines and situations, though there are laughs for the veteran comedian—notably during the sequences when, in a portable shower bath of his own devising, he is fondly showered by a pet elephant, Queenie, who has been taught to warm the bath water in her trunk. . . .

The story, written by Charles Bogle—none other than Mr. Fields, himself—presents the writer as Larson E. Whipsnade, circus proprietor. . . . His show is in the red and he is always just one hop ahead of the sheriff. . . . Bergen, Charlie, and Dummy Mortimer Sneed are part of the company. Heart interest is provided by the romance which blossoms between Edgar and Whipsnade's college girl daughter, Vicky, who, for a time, feels she should wed for money [of which Edgar has none] in order to pay papa's debts. . . .

Whipsnade is NOT a sympathetic character. He throws that cunning Charlie to the alligators, bullies his troupe and, while Charlie, Edgar, and Mortimer are sitting in a captive balloon nobly planning to forgive him and be nice to him, what does the ol' davil do but cut 'em loose! . . . Nope, you won't like Whipsnade, and will find the scenes featuring him mighty labored bits of fooling. . . .

Fresh as paint, though, is Charlie, and cute as a bug's ear. It's hard to realize that his mamma was a tree.

Supporting players and director did the best they could, I'm sure.

Mr. Fields is not through as an actor—perish the thought! But I feel that in future he should let some one else do his writing for him and refuse, with fire in his eye, to ever, ever, EVER again let anybody make of him a stooge for a ventriloquist's dummy.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

[Hollywood notables are contributing columns while Ed Sullivan is on vacation.]

The Play Is the Thing.

BY SPENCER TRACY.

An actor is as good as his rôle, and don't let anybody kid you. What he needs most is real parts that have something to say. Audiences are fed up with synthetic characters. Actors, are, too. You can't blame them. Fortunately for all of us in this business of entertainment, motion pictures lend themselves to realistic treatment of subject matter and characterization. Characters drawn from life, even if partly fictionized for dramatic purposes, give the actor something to work with. Don't take my word for it. Consider the biographical rôle. It not only has stepped up the standard of pictures but of acting.

Go over the list of top pictures and performances of recent years. For my money put down Charles Laughton in "King Henry VIII." I'll see Paul Muni any time in a "Pasteur" or "Emile Zola." And what a job Robert Morley did as King Louis XVI. in "Marie Antoinette." In each case they gave me the impression, not of acting, but of living the character. That's a test for any actor. With real characters like those the actor can get away from himself. Instead of molding a rôle to fit his personality, he submerges himself in the character. Only then can the actor make himself believable.

To me, the charm of Helen Hayes' truly great performance in "Victoria Regina" was her ability to make the audience see and understand Victoria. Never once did she step out of character. It was not Helen Hayes on the stage, but Victoria living once more. I think that while Miss Hayes was before the footlights she was Victoria. An actor or actress can get in that frame of mind. I haven't been to New York recently, but they tell me Morley is terrific in "Oscar Wilde," and that Massey as "Abraham Lincoln in Illinois" is one of the best things to hit Broadway in a long time. Just to add emphasis to my contention that an actor's greatest need is real characters to play.

An experience I will be a long time forgetting was playing Father Edward J. Flanagan in "Boys' Town." It got under my skin as nothing else ever has done. I was against playing the rôle. Portraying a living man seemed too tough an assignment. Knowing Father Flanagan made me appreciate my own inadequacy to do him justice. He couldn't be acted. He had to be lived. As Father Flanagan I was not acting in the common sense of the word, but merely reflecting his personality. By absorbing his philosophy and imitating his characteristic gestures it was possible to give the rôle some semblance of realism and depth. The credit isn't mine. It belongs to Father Flanagan.

I'll be satisfied if I can play real characters from now on. The prospects look good, with Sir Henry Morton Stanley and his African adventure as my current rôle. I understand I'm to do Thomas Edison. I'm looking forward to that. Then, lined up for me, is Maj. Robert Rogers in "Northwest Passage." Rogers, of course, is a fictitious character, but you have a feeling that the author knew such a man. He lives in the book, and it's up to me to make him live on the screen. The same is true of a good many characters now being brought to the screen. Scarlett O'Hara and Rhett Butler in "Gone With the Wind" have been accepted as real people. You don't think of them as being imaginary. With a lot of others, when I read the novel, I said, "That's not Butler, it's Gable."

Synthetic characters and stories that merely scratch the surface can lead only to synthetic actors and claptrap pictures. It is real characters that will keep the actor eating regularly.

Jacobi Hears Spalding Play New Concerto

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Frederick Jacobi, a bustling little man from the east, was present in Orchestra hall yesterday for the world première of his violin concerto. After a performance of the work by Albert Spalding and the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock conducting, Mr. Jacobi was called to the stage to share the plaudits of the audience.

The new concerto is a short, concise work which packs into its three miniature movements a wealth of novel, alert sounding material. Its general character is intense—almost nervous—but there is a relaxed, lyrical section in the middle. A feature of the concerto is the rhythmic lift of the final movement.

Except for a short passage at the beginning the new work is not very alarming harmonically. There are pages that a theory student could parse without once having to scratch his head.

Mr. Spalding not only played the concerto but returned to the stage after the intermission for two movements of Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole." The Spalding fastidiousness of style, which does not preclude the use of a big throbbing tone when the music calls for such an effect, brought on a big ovation at the end.

To begin this tenth of the Tuesday programs Mr. Stock and the orchestra gave Beethoven's Fourth symphony a performance characterized by general simplicity of style and by a tonal restraint that fell just short of austerity. The violins' shining delivery of the first theme of the adagio still constitutes one of the biggest moments of any season.

Excerpts from "The Fire-Bird" ballet of Strawinsky brought the afternoon to a clanging, roof-raising conclusion.

Prosecutor Dewey Goes to Georgia for Vacation

Critic Predicts Greatness for Norina Greco

BY CECIL SMITH.

The San Carlo Opera company turned its attention to the double bill of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" in the Auditorium theater last night. Aroldo Lindi remained on the sick list, though he is now on the road to recovery. Sydney Rayner substituted for him as Canio in "Pagliacci," singing with admirable vocal solidity and with a sense of freedom that sometimes had the boomerang effect of tempting to force more volume than was pleasant.

Leola Turner's performance of the bird song was typical of her dependable, tasteful artistry. Mostyn Thomas brought down the house after his lusty, if far from subtle, projection of the prolog.

In "Cavalleria Rusticana" Norina Greco, making her last appearance of the current engagement, sang with magnificent vibrancy. Despite her present limitations she is the most exciting emotional singer of Italian rôles we have heard since the late Claudia Muzio. Her vocal method is often awkward and recalcitrant. If she knuckles down to hard work in the studio, however, she can become a genuinely great dramatic soprano, for she already has both the basic voice and the necessary temperament.

José Limon of the Humphrey-Weidman dance group tells me that the arrangement of the Bach passacaglia I heard last Saturday night was played by two hands and not four, and that I should have credited Lionel Nowak, talented young Cleveland pianist, with a remarkable pianistic feat in giving the music such fullness.

Both Tiny Dots and Big Spots Are Style News

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Shoppers who have steered an uneasy course around outsize plaids, horse blanket checks, or the frenzy of many stripes, yet crave something light and effective for the spring wardrobe, will cheer for spots and dots. Good, clean, crisp dotted materials, with spots ranging in diameter from peppery little pin points to discs the size of a fifty cent piece, promise plenty of interest in the street scene for spring and summer.

Stunning duets of smart brimmed hat and bag or tilted sailor and bag, or turban and scarf, or hat and gloves are made of eye-catching dotted stuff in surahs, flat crêpes or novelty textures.

Dotted silk or linen blouses come attached to clever navy blue or black suits. Linings of boleros and long coats are of bright dotted materials. Belts, cuffs of gloves, bow trim on blouses, pocket flaps, piping for trim, and any number of similar details in suits and dresses flaunt this spotted fever of fashion. Petticoats, Pullman pajamas, housecoats, and even new spring lingerie come with the dots of bright or pastel colors for snappy contrast.

The newest pet of the designers, a soft surah that resembles old fashioned foulard, comes with dots of oyster white, powder pink, red, willow-ware blue, yellow, and other colors printed handsomely against every cclored background. Spectacular dinner and dance dresses are made of yards of dotted sheers and clinging crêpes; these are flounced affairs with a torrid Martinique flavor complete to swathed bodice and accented small waistline. Even the new ribbons come with spots and dots.

Fashion photograph. . . . Medium sized polka dots catch the appreciative eye in this copy of Chanel's waistcoat model to wear with suit for early spring. Very short sleeves, the front waistcoat effect, a comfortable windbreaker back, and the well fitted collar that can be worn over the suit collar are new details.

The Housewife

Are you too busy a home manager to find much time for needlework, yet like to have something to "pick up"? Then the charming needlepoint doorstops we saw the other day are intended especially for you.

These bits of lovely color are worked just like large pieces of needlepoint. The design of flowers, or a cock, or a dog are already done for you, and you need only fill in the background. Then fasten it neatly to the wooden doorstop which comes with it and you have something both artistic and practical. It's not expensive, and in one package you get the yarn, the doorstop—the whole thing.

SYNOPSIS.

Ross Craddock's father, now dead, turned Craddock house into flats and installed his old maid cousins, Mary and Lucy Craddock, in a flat apiece, on either side of the one occupied by Ross. After Mary's death Lucy prepares to leave for a change of scene. Their cousin, Peter Renshaw, is staying in Mary's flat while he settles her estate. Ross orders Lucy to vacate her flat because she objects to his attentions to her foolish young niece, Mavis Grey. Lucy tells Peter she wishes Ross were dead. He advises her to take the trip. Lucy gives her cousin, Lee Fenton, permission to use her flat while she is away. Lee, who is in love with Peter, has just escaped an unpleasant experience with a married man, Rush, the porter, admits Lee. He mutters belligerently against Ross. After Rush, Lee has a time dismissing Mrs. Green, the charwoman, who says she is ill and needs a drink of brandy. That evening Peter prevents Bobby Foster, Mavis' suitor, from making a scene in a cabaret where Mavis is with Ross. Peter is awakened in the night by a crash. He sees Mavis running from Ross' flat and Ross cut and bleeding. Mavis had thrown a decanter at him. Peter lets Mavis stay the rest of the night and he sleeps on a couch. Later he is again awakened and sees Mavis again coming from Ross' flat. She says she went to retrieve her purse. Lee awakens from a nightmare to find her night-gown and foot covered with blood. Her bloody footprints lead from Ross' door. Lee knows she walks in her sleep. In terror she washes away the blood stains and goes to tell Peter. Ross' valet arrives and finds Ross has been shot and killed. He summons the police.

INSTALMENT XIV.

A PULSE OF FEAR.

Lee looked around at Peter. It was rather an odd look.

"O, Peter dear," she said, and there was a pitying sound in the words. She couldn't see any way out of this without somebody being hurt, and she was afraid, not for herself, but for him.

Peter went on.

"Everything will be absolutely all right, only—Lee, you're not listening, and you've got to listen. They may send for one of us at any moment. They won't be so long over Peterson and Rush, and then it's pretty sure to be either you or me."

"I wonder whether Rush saw Mavis go out," said Lee quickly.

"That's just it. I hope he didn't. But whether he saw her or not, it's going to be very nearly impossible to keep Mavis out of this. You see, there were those two glasses, both used, and the very first thing the police will do is to find out where Ross spent the evening and who was with him. Well, he's always at the Ducks and Drakes. Every one knows him there.

"Unfortunately I was at the Ducks and Drakes myself, and if I'm asked I shall have to say that I saw Ross and Mavis there because when dozens of other people must have seen them it will only add to the general fishiness of it pretend I didn't. What I do hope is that they won't have any proof that she came back here. I'll hold my tongue about that.

"I did walk in my sleep and I did go into Ross' flat."

"I don't really give a damn about Mavis. She got herself into this, and we're all going to want a lot of luck to get her out of it. But it's you——" He came over to Lee and dropped his hands on her shoulders—"you, my dear—you. They'll ask you all sorts of questions. They may press you pretty hard. Because you don't belong here, and your coming in like that just on the very night that Ross was shot—well, it's bound to make them sit up and take notice."

Lee's eyelids lifted slowly and she looked up at him. She was not nearly so pretty as Mavis—the features too irregular, and just now her whole aspect too pale, too drawn with fatigue. His hand tightened on hers, and he said:

"You've got to hold your tongue about yourself, my dear. You came here, you were very tired, and you went to bed. You slept all night, and when you heard the commotion on the landing you came out to see what was going on. And that's all. Do you hear? That's all."

She kept her eyes on his face.

"Peter—" Her voice went away to just a breath. "Peter—weren't there any—footprints—inside that door?"

If he had thought there was the slightest chance of persuading her that the whole thing was a dream and that there never had been any footprints, Peter might have grasped at this serviceable lie, but as he saw no chance of getting Lee to believe in it he let it go. He said.

"That's all right—I smudged them out."

"How? O, Peter!"

"Well, I was waiting for Peterson. I rather banked on his doing just what he did do, tearing off downstairs to get Rush and leaving the door open so I was all ready with some damp paper. If there were footprints, I knew I shouldn't have time to get rid of them altogether, but I thought I could bank on being able to mess them up so that they couldn't possibly be identified. I'd plenty of time to do it, get back, and get rid of the paper, wash my hands, and run out in my dressing gown to join Peterson when he came back with Rush."

"It was very clever of you." Lee's lashes fell for a moment and then rose again. "Peter, do you think I did it?" she said in an exhausted voice.

She startled him horribly. He said.

"What do you mean?" And then, on a quick note of anger. "Don't be a damned little fool!"

Lee stepped back from him, her gaze mournful and steady.

"No, Peter—please—I can't bear it. It's all shut up inside me, and if I can't talk about it—O, don't you see?"

He saw, and the anger went out of him. He said.

"What do you want to talk about?"

"I want to tell you. I'm so afraid. It's no good just bottling it up, and I can't tell any one else. You see, it was rather horrid about those Merville people. I don't know whether she ever meant to sail. I've begun to think perhaps she didn't. Anyhow at the last minute they had a row and she walked out and took the child. I don't know if it was a real row. It may have been, because he was awfully worked up. And he didn't want to let me go—yes, I know—you said so all along and we quarreled about it. And you were perfectly right, which is lovely for you, but not quite so much fun for me.

"But that doesn't matter now. What does matter is this. That Merville man was just slime—he really was. And when he took hold of me I saw scarlet, and, Peter, if I could have got my hands on a pistol I'd have shot him. I would, and I'd have liked doing it." The color came into her face just for a moment and then ebbed again.

"A good riddance, but possibly a bit awkward. On the whole, just as well that there wasn't a pistol."

Lee nodded.

"I know. And I got away all right. I threw the big inkstand at him and the ink went into his eyes. I didn't wait after that." There was a faint satisfaction in her tone, but the strained note came back again. "I got here and I was most awfully tired, but I didn't feel like going to sleep. I rummaged around for a book and I found a stupid murder story. It really was stupid and I didn't get very far with it, because I went to sleep and the last bit I remember was about a man creeping down a long passage in the dark and when he'd got about half way he found a pistol and all at once a door opened at the other end and he saw the most dreadful face looking at him and he fired at it with the pistol he had just picked up. As if any one would!"

"What has all this got to do with Ross?"

"It might have started me off dreaming. I did dream, you know, and I did walk in my sleep, and I did go into Ross' flat. If my footprints were there, it proves that I went in. Suppose—just suppose I got that murder story all mixed up in a dream with Réné Merville. I might—have taken—Ross' pistol—and if he caught hold of me I might have—thought he was Réné—and I might have—have shot him——"

Peter pushed his hands deep into his pockets where he could clench them unseen, and remarked.

"My child, you'll have to take to writing thrillers yourself. That's a marvelous effort of the imagination. But I don't think I should produce it for the inspector. Nobody admires the police more than I do, but imagination just isn't their strong suit. They have an earthy preference for facts, you know—things like——"

"Footprints," said Lee.

GASOLINE ALLEY—DISAPPEARANCE MYSTERY

Tell a Girl She's Angel, But Only Once

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It's flattering to a young woman's ears, gentlemen, to have you tell her that she is TOO GOOD for you. But don't, for goodness' sake, keep repeating the theme. Once is all we'd ever advocate your confiding the saintly distinction. Well, twice then—but not oftener! Women have a way of taking your poetic phrases as gospel. First thing you know, if you keep up the verbal genuflecting, the lady will be waving you away from her self-built altar. She may begin to wonder what she ever saw in you in the first place, what sort of a deep-dyed career you've been following, anyway, and why you ever had the nerve to approach an angel like her.

We have testimony before us in a communication from a "built-up" angel. The man's line that she is too good for him has her undergoing all of the changes implied above. It looks as if he is being waved away just as we cite above.

After all, now, men, you don't really believe that our sex is so superior, do you? You have evidence enough to suspect that we are victims of human frailties, even as you. Maybe not such incorrigible victims, we say laughing at you, but victims, nevertheless.

Our quarrel with you, gentlemen, is in your personal salesmanship. We refer, of course, to the man who debases himself for no good reason, except a bad case of inferiority. No woman feels like celebrating a conquest over a man who thinks little of himself. Indeed, she can stand from her preferred man a good deal of self-assurance. And if he thinks he is good, she is almost sure to agree with him, if she is interested in him, that is.

Carolyn, of the testimony above referred to, suggests in her communication that this man who tells her she is far too good for him must have associated with questionable women before. "Else, why would he think I am so good?" she asks. And that's the way the feminine mind works when the man is bent on debasing himself.

"Personally," Carolyn confides, "I have found the man very respectful and clean cut."

So, you see, gentlemen, what you do by underselling yourselves.

Film on Life in Russia Barred by Police Censors

The police censor board yesterday prohibited showing of the film "Concentration Camp," depicting life in Russia, which was scheduled to open tomorrow at the Sonotone theater. The board viewed the picture at the detective bureau. Its statement said the film tended to promote hatred and bitterness and "might incite a riot as a result of its vicious foreign propaganda."

Drama League Has Breakfast for 2 Notables

Frank G. Logan is giving from 4 until 6 o'clock this afternoon at her home. Mr. Spalding is a national patron of Delta Omicron National Musical sorority, of which Mrs. Logan is a national patroness.

Members of the sorority, including the pledges of a newly formed chapter at Northwestern university, and some of Mrs. Logan's friends are being invited to meet the famed violinist and his wife, who has joined him at the Drake hotel.

Mrs. Edward F. Swift Catches Huge Swordfish

The biggest fish story told in this column in many years comes from Auckland, New Zealand, and concerns Mrs. Edward F. Swift of Lake Forest. Mrs. Swift caught one of the largest black marlin swordfish ever brought in by a woman. She landed the fish, which weighed 816 pounds, off Cape Brett, Bay of Islands.

The fish was only seven pounds lighter than the fish caught in 1932 by the woman record holder, Mrs. Eastham Guild, the American novelist who writes under the name of Carrie Finn. Mrs. Swift had a long struggle to land her huge fish, says a letter received from a New Zealand newspaper man. She hooked it at 2 o'clock and fought it for eight hours, being almost exhausted at the finish.

Mrs. Guild donated a cup, known as the Carrie Finn cup, to the Bay of Islands Swordfish club, to be awarded annually to the woman catching the biggest fish during the season. Mrs. Swift's catch probably will win her the cup this season.

Only three black marlin swordfish over 900 pounds ever have been caught. The world's record is held by Capt. J. T. Mitchell, who landed a fish weighing 976 pounds when fishing with Zane Grey's party twelve years ago. The second largest fish weighed 957 pounds and was caught by a Mr. Court of Auckland five years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Swift are on their way home from New Zealand and should be stopping in Honolulu for a day or two now. They are due in Lake Forest the first of next month.

John W. Wastcoats Parents of Son

A son was born yesterday at Evanston hospital to Mr. and Mrs. John Washburn Wastcoat [Babbs Burton]. The baby, who is the Wastcoats' first child, will be named Oliver Burton for his paternal grandfather, Oliver M. Burton. Mrs. Burton's sister, Mrs. Donald W. Green, has come from Minneapolis to see her grand-nephew. The Wastcoats live in Northbrook.

A son, their third child, was born on March 4 at the Evanston hospital to Mr. and Mrs. R. Hampton Ripley of Winnetka. He has been named Robert Harris Ripley. His paternal grandmother is Mrs. Robert H. Ripley of Winnetka and his maternal grandmother is Mrs. Willing D. Kirk of Glencoe.

A program of South American music by Mrs. Josiah Wheelwright [Lois Nelson] of Cohasset, Mass., will be heard at a meeting of the South American Study group of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herbert S. Perkins, 70 Scott street.

Four Year Old Needs Mother Who Is a Pal

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"MY MOTHER."

By a Four Year Old.

I'm glad I've got my mother for a mother.

What made me know I'm glad is that I've been over at Barbie's house three or four times lately, and that made me glad that Barbie's mother isn't my mother. She's nice when she's there, only most of the time she isn't there, and when she is there she's always got something else to do besides being with Barbie. That isn't so much fun for Barbara, and I don't see how Mrs. Benton can get much fun out of having a little girl, either.

I like the way my mother is. We do an awful lot of things together. When mother's working around the house I help her. She says I do help. I'm pretty good at dusting the downbelow places on table legs, and at putting the silver polish paste on the silver and then rubbing up all those little bumpy decorations on the handle. Anyhow, that's what mother says. We fix vegetables together, too. I can shell peas and we talk about animals in the country or Mommie tells me stories. And if Mommie isn't in too much of a rush we cook together. I have my own bowl and cutter for cookies.

Of course, lots of times we don't talk at all. We're too busy working. Maybe Mommie's writing letters and I'm building a zoo with my blocks for my little animals I got for Christmas. And we're quiet and the house is quiet for a long, long time. I like that, too.

Another thing I like is that my mother never seems bothered when I ask her questions. There are so many things I don't know about, like why peas are round, and where little girls come from, and why grandpa hasn't got any hair, and where God is. And I have to ask. And when I do my mother answers.

And I shouldn't think Barbie and her mother would like something else, I mean all the fusses about eating and getting bathed and going to bed. I don't know why Barbie acts so funny about doing such nice things. Maybe it's because Mrs. Benton is always in kind of a hurry to get them done. My mother doesn't seem to be in a hurry much. We often have lunch together and when I eat supper before Daddy gets home, at my little table, Jill [that's my dolly] sits across from me while Mommie's in the kitchen singing while she cooks. Bathing and going to bed are pretty nice. We enjoy that, too.

My Mommie seems to know exactly how to be a nice mommie.

I like my mother.

This isn't fiction. Any one who has lived close to a small child knows it isn't.

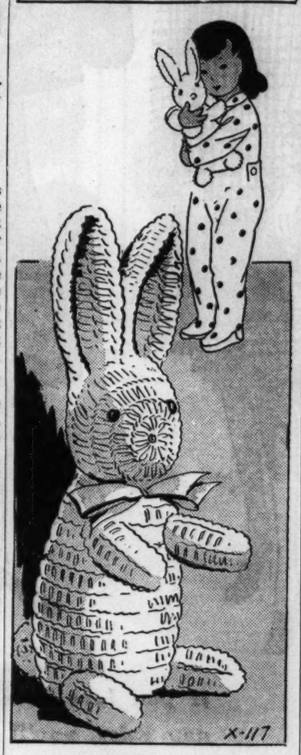
Cuddly Bunny in Crochet Is an Appealing Toy



BY NANCY CABOT.

A soft, cuddly, pink and white bunny, and a small pink and white baby are an appealing team. Bunny is baby's inseparable companion who may be chewed, thrown about, and stepped on without uttering a word of complaint. Hand crocheted in pink and white, this intriguing bunny may be made at a small cost and in a comparatively short time. It then is stuffed, tied up with an engaging pink ribbon at its neck, its eyes are attached, and there it is, ready for play.

For the crochet instructions for the bunny, No. X-117, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The writer has the pleasure and misfortune to play with various types of bridge players, some experts and some very poor amateurs. This argument, however, arose in a game which was supposed to consist of fairly good players. The bone of contention was the insistence of my opponents that 'if you hesitate you must bid.' This remark naturally is correct in its place, but in my opinion it certainly does not cover the following case:

"South, dealer.

"Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K J 5
♥ A 9 4 3
♦ 9 8 4

WEST
♠ A 10 9 6 4
♥ Q J 8 2
♦ K 7 3

EAST
♠ Q 8 3 2
♥ 10 6 5
♦ J
♣ Q 10 9 5 3

SOUTH
♥ K 7
♦ A Q 10 6 5 2
♣ A J 7 2

"With North-South 60 on score I was South, the dealer. I picked up my hand and bid one diamond without any hesitation. West bid one spade and North one no trump. East bid two spades and I passed, not because I was afraid to rebid three diamonds, but because I knew my partner and was afraid he would go to three no trump. Also I wanted to see what he would do regarding the two spade bid. West passed, my partner bid two no trump, and East passed.

"At this stage I hesitated for fully one minute. Naturally the thought in my mind was that, with 60 points on score, three diamonds might be a much safer bid than two no trump. But, as I said before, knowing my partner, I felt that he would only say three no trump anyway, and after the aforesaid hesitation I passed. West then bid three spades and my partner doubled. At this point East broke out in a storm, claiming that I was not ethical, as my hesitation had given my partner some information and his double of three spades was based primarily on that hesitation.

"Now I contend that he was very wrong and that the ruling of 'he who hesitates must bid' had no bearing in this particular case. As the arbitrator, will you kindly advise who was right? M. S., Chicago."

This question of hesitating or not hesitating, and bidding or not bidding when the hesitation has taken place, is one of the most troublesome questions in the entire code of ethics. Experts have no difficulty with it. They know when a hesitation [without a bid] is fair and just and when it is not. Average players, however, unknowingly offend against the code of ethics time and again. The answer is simple if one goes to the trouble to figure it out. A hesitation in the bidding, followed by a pass, is unfair, hence unethical, when such action gives partner possibly valuable information. If the hesitation and pass convey no particular message, or if they can be misconstrued by partner, then they are not out of order.

It should be obvious that the case in hand falls into this category. South really had something to think about over his partner's two no trump bid. Naturally he preferred a three diamond contract, but, knowing his partner's predilection for no trump and for "hogging the bidding," I can understand and sympathize with South's indecision. The fact that I personally would bid three diamonds has nothing to do with the case. The pertinent point is that South did not give valuable information to North. South might have been hesitating about the bid of a new suit as well as the rebid of the diamond suit. If North, after South's hesitation and pass, had raised diamonds with less than adequate trump support he might have been fairly accused of presuming that South's hesitation indicated a rebiddable diamond suit. This did not happen, however. Far from being influenced by South's hesitation, North actually doubled the opponents, which he surely would not have done if he had known that South was straining to rebid his diamonds.

Finally let me point out that the real offender against ethics is not he who hesitates, but the partner who knowingly takes advantage of such hesitation.

Tomorrow's Hand

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

Boston, Mass., March 14.—(AP)—Chicago's Blackhawks, who rose from sixth place to the world's championship in last year's Stanley cup series, were eliminated as a 1939 playoff possibility tonight when they surrendered a two goal lead to the Boston Bruins and lost, 4 to 2, before 7,000 in the Boston Garden.

Roy Conacher.

The defeat and Detroit's victory over the New York Rangers stripped the Hawks of their last mathematical chance of entering the playoffs, dooming them to last place in the league.

Rookie Starts Scoring.

The Hawks, beaten in their seven previous starts against the Bruins, led until the tenth minute of the third period when Bill Cowley tied the score. Roy Conacher, one of the outstanding rookies of the season, ran his string of goals to 24 in 47 games by scoring twice.

Boston opened with its high scoring line of Milt Schmidt and Wingers Woody Dumart and Bobby Bauer. These speedy youngsters barely had time to get warmed up before Ab Demarco, a rookie right wing recalled from the Providence International-American league club, gave the Hawks a lead in two minutes flat, with Baldy Northcott assisting. Northcott carried over the Boston blue line and passed to Demarco, who swooped to beat Frankie Brimsek with a hard, high shot.

Boston Gets Rough.

Wiebe drew his second penalty early in the second period, but the Bruins were held in check until the ninth minute when the Blackhawks started driving with Joe Cooper carrying. He came down the right side and, when he reached the Boston blue line, he fired a long shot that slipped through Brimsek for the second Chicago goal.

The Bruins cut the Blackhawks' lead in half during the twelfth minute, when Roy Conacher took a pass from Bill Cowley and drove a 30 foot shot through several rival players high into Karakas' net.

The Bruins stepped up their attack and the action became so heated that Eddie Shore and Bill MacKenzie came to blows. After Shore had pushed MacKenzie down three times, both were sent off. MacKenzie drew a minor, but Shore's sentences were a major and a five-minutes misconduct, only three minutes of which were served before the period ended.

Bruins Go Ahead.

The Bruins held firm until Shore returned in the eighth minute of the third period and at 9:44, after they had mobbed the Chicago zone, Bill Cowley drove in the tying goal. Conacher and Hollett received assists.

Seibert then put the Hawks in a hole by drawing a hooking penalty. Karakas made three brilliant saves to keep the Blackhawks on even terms until Seibert returned. The Bruins pulled ahead during the fifteenth minute, when Ray Getliffe intercepted a clearing shot about fifteen feet from the Chicago net, whirled about, and lashed a hard shot through Karakas.

During the last minute of play, Conacher registered his second goal of the game by beating Johnny Gottselig to Cowley's long pass over the Chicago blue line and rapping it home.

Kansas and Illinois belong in the minor leagues when it comes to cities with famous names. The Show Me state submits, as a starter: Annapolis, Philadelphia, Atlanta, San Antonio, Albany, Miami, Louisville, Madison, Buffalo, Denver, Brooklyn, Newark, Memphis, Richmond, Portland, Jamestown, Trenton, Hartford, and Helena. If your yen is for foreign effects, you can visit, also in Missouri, the following: Melbourne, Berlin, Edinburg, Milan, Canton, Lisbon, Paris, Mexico, and Cuba. Grayson Quits Stanford Staf for Oil Firm Job

Palo Alto, Cal., March 14.—[Special.]—Dr. Thomas A. Storey, Stanford university athletic director, today announced that Bobby Grayson had resigned as assistant football coach. Grayson, star full back on Stanford's team in 1933, 1934, and 1935, quit to join an oil company.

NEW YORK NAMES ITS STRONGEST INTERCITY TEAM

Easterners Determined to End Chicago Supremacy.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 14.—On to Chicago and victory!

This was New York's slogan tonight even as its last Golden Gloves champion was crowned in Madison Square Garden before a crowd of 15,735.

For five years Chicago's amateur boxers have reigned supreme. In 1934, in this same ring, Manhattan turned back the invaders from the west. Five long years, spaced only by the 8 to 8 tie in 1936. And now New York believes it has the team to prove the greatest amateur boxers in the nation live along the Atlantic seaboard.

From this Tournament of Champions have come eight boxers who in the last two nights have fought to supremacy over the candidates from seven states. Three of these boys are from New York. Two come from Philadelphia. Union City, N. J.; Newburgh, N. Y., and Richmond, Va., provided the other champions on New York's intercity squad.

Meet the Champions.

It may be unfair to single out any of these eight champions who will meet the eight champions crowned last Friday night in the Chicago Stadium. But ability being comparative, at least four of them stand out. And of the entire team we can candidly say it is the best we have seen since New York whipped Chicago 12 bouts to 4 way back in 1932. But first, meet the 1939 Golden Gloves champions of the east:

FLYWEIGHT—John Forte, Philadephia.
BANTAMWEIGHT—William Speary, Philadelphia.
FEATHERWEIGHT—Ray Robinson, New York.
LIGHTWEIGHT—Ennis Johnson, Richmond, Va.
WELTERWEIGHT — Corkean Dulgarian, Newburgh, N. Y.
MIDDLEWEIGHT—Vince Fratello, Union City, N. J.
LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT — Henry Jones, New York.
HEAVYWEIGHT—Buddy Moore, New York.

Chicago knows Bill Speary. Twice National A. A. U. and twice intercity Golden Gloves champion, Speary is a superb boxer. Jimmy Urso, Chicago's flyweight champion, couldn't beat Speary in 1937. Capt. Frankie Kainrath of Chicago couldn't whip him last year, although you'll remember that Frankie was good enough to win from Ulderigo Sergo, champion of all Europe, last May.

Speary Opens Up.

Speary tonight outpointed Peter Beaton of Westchester. New York doesn't like Speary. He's beaten too many of their boys. And thousands booed that decision, although Bill

Fly Bartell Across Channel to Hospital in Hollywood

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 14.—Sick bay news today transcended details of the third Cub intraclub game, though it may be just as well to set down here that the score of the contest was Regulars, 13; Yannigans, 2, the first Regular victory in the three games played to date.

Clinical note No. 1.—Dick Bartell flew to Los Angeles on the first plane this morning to go into Hollywood hospital for observation and treatment anent his rheumatic seizure. Specialists are not willing to commit themselves as to whether the former Pirate-Philly-Giant will be out of action for a few days, a few weeks or a few months.

Cast for Whitehill.

Clinical note No. 2—Earl Whitehill, 39 year old former American league southpaw ace, is suffering from a fresh ankle fracture, mainland study of X-rays taken here yesterday revealed this morning. Whitehill's left ankle was placed in a cast, which will not be removed for two weeks. Earl will be out for a month.

Clinical note No. 3.—Diz Dean's shin splints still are raising hell. But the great man says his arm hasn't felt so well in months and months.

In the game today, Steve Mesner took Stan Hack's place at third and Woody English was at short instead of Bartell.

Lee Bounced Around.

Bill Lee was the victim of a three run first inning. With one out Herman singled and went to third on Galan's single to center. Augie reaching second when Reynolds juggled the ball. Leiber rolled to Collins. Herman scoring, after which Marty singled to left, scoring Galan. Carnett juggled Marty's hit and Joe reached second. Cavarretta beat out an infield single, then Lee cast a wild pitch. Marty scored on the heave but Cavarretta was out trying to race from first to third on the pitch.

A single by English, a walk to Galan, a double by Leiber, a single by Marty, and a double by Cavarretta netted four runs, the Regulars' welcome to Larry French, second pitcher for the Yannigans.

ILLINOIS RACING BODY CLEARS UP DATES MUDDLE

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Illinois racing commission yesterday set the dates on which Chicago area tracks will operate during the coming season. Labor day, crux of a long standing controversy, was awarded to Hawthorne. Washington Park had asked for the same holiday.

With the exception of Sundays, there will be continuous racing in the Chicago area from May 1 to Oct. 31, a total of 158 days. Aurora, as usual, will open the season and will run until May 24. Then the horses will move to Lincoln Fields, where they will race from May 25 to June 24. On June 26 Arlington Park will open its meeting, which will continue until July 29. Washington Park will run from July 31 to Sept. 2. Hawthorne's dates will be Sept. 4 to Sept. 30. Then the Sportsman's Park meeting, Oct. 2 to Oct. 31, will close the season.

Two 30 Day Meetings.

Of the 158 racing days Aurora received 21; Lincoln Fields, 27; Arlington Park, 30; Washington Park, 30; Hawthorne, 24, and Sportsman's Park, 26.

Two of the three commission members, Chairman Leo Spitz and Walter Peacock, yesterday sat in judgment on the dispute between Washington Park and Hawthorne after representatives of these tracks had held two meetings within twenty-four hours without being able to reach a settlement. The controversy had been simmering since applications for dates were filed last November.

Washington Park's case was presented by Walter Gregory and Ben Lindheimer. Hawthorne's representatives were Charles Bidwill, Charles Krutckoff, and Al Sabath.

Sabath Offers Compromise.

In making a final statement before the commission, Sabath said that Hawthorne needed Labor day to cope

BOWED TENDON FOLLOWS KICK IN MIAMI RACE

Star's Owner Decides to Play Safe.

Miami, Fla., March 14.—[Special.]—Stagehand, champion 3 year old of 1938 and potential handicap champion of 1939, will be out of action for a year, Owner Maxwell Howard announced today. Howard has retired the colt because of a bowed tendon, a severe type of injury.

It is the straining of a ligament in the leg or ankle and is exactly what laid up Seabiscuit on the Pacific coast a short time ago and in times past stopped the careers of Twenty Grand, Equipoise, and other famous stars of the American turf.

He Is a Great Horse.

Stagehand seemed certain to take rank with and perhaps surpass these outstanding horses, as he was the leading money winner of 1938 and prior to his defeat in the $50,000 Widener Challenge cup was hailed as the brightest star on the American turf.

Howard said Stagehand's bowed tendon was the result of the injury he suffered in the running of the Widener. He was kicked in the foreleg at the start, Howard said, necessitating a veterinarian's attention until he was shipped from Miami to Columbia, S. C.

"The bow has come in the other foreleg, the one that was not kicked, as the horse in running favored the leg that was injured and thus put extra strain on the other leg," Howard said. "Trainer Earl Sande tells me the bow is only slight, but, nevertheless, I have decided to retire Stagehand for the year, as he is too fine a colt to push when injured."

Can't Fix Responsibility.

Queried by phone as to the injury at the start of the Widener, Sande said that he could not venture an opinion as to which horse did it, but that the blow on Stagehand's leg was a very hard one and much too far forward to have been inflicted by himself. After the danger of infection had subsided, and the horse was ready to be galloped at Columbia, the bow developed, he said.

Stagehand, the son of Sickle and Stagecraft, was just coming to his full strength and power at 4 years of age.

Stagehand has won slightly more than $200,000 and was counted on by many horsemen to be the greatest threat to Sun Beau as the world's leading money winner, even though he is far behind Seabiscuit.

The colt is to remain at Columbia for the present, with the others in Sande's charge, and he probably will be brought on to New York with the opening of spring.

Galento Must Pass Exam to Get Title Bout

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—Tony Galento can fight Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship here in June if he is "physically fit," the state athletic commission ruled at its weekly meeting today.

Promoter Mike Jacobs presented the contracts signed by Louis and Galento several weeks ago and asked official sanction to go ahead with the contest. The likely site is Yankee stadium and the date Wednesday, June 28, or Thursday, June 29, when the Yankees are on the road.

Galento has been requested to appear before the commission Tuesday and renew his license. When that routine detail has been attended to the commissioners will turn Galento over to physicians for a rigid examination.

John J. Phelan, chairman of the commission, said that in the event Galento is permitted to fight Louis he will be under constant medical surveillance during training and that none of his beer guzzling, cigar smoking, and food devouring feats for publicity purposes would be tolerated.

It is taken for granted that Galento will be found to be "physically fit" and that the fight will be sanctioned.

REPORT BOWSER TO BE ANNOUNCED AS PITT COACH

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 14.—[Special.]—The selection of Charles W. Bowser to succeed Dr. Jock Sutherland as coach of football at the University of Pittsburgh is to be announced Thursday, it was learned tonight. The delay, it is said, has been caused by the university's desire to allow the board of trustees to ratify the appointment, which, it is said, already has been made by Athletic Director James Hagan.

This, it was pointed out, would be in direct contrast to the method employed to accept Dr. Sutherland's resignation when Chancellor John G. Bowman called an informal meeting of five members of the board a week ago last Sunday afternoon.

GOLDEN GLOVERS TO SEE FIGHTS ON THEIR NIGHT OFF

Chicago Team Will Go to White City Friday.

The 1939 Chicago intercity Golden Gloves team, which is training at the Illinois Athletic club for the annual bouts with New York's best boxers in Chicago Stadium March 29, will attend the professional boxing show in White City Friday, Coach Johnny Behr said yesterday.

Johnny Brown, Catholic Youth organization 128 pounder, encounters Eddie Dempsey of East Moline, Ill., and Frankie Kainrath, featherweight stablemate of Brown, faces Jackie Cellura of Hamilton, Ont., in two contests of eight rounds featuring the card.

"The show will serve as a relaxation measure," Behr explained, "and at the same time the boys will receive an opportunity to watch several Golden Glove graduates perform."

Wladek Zbyszko, who threw Hans Bauer in Cicero stadium last Wednesday, will meet Mario Plestina in tonight's wrestling headliner in the same arena at 19th street and 52d avenue. Bauer will appear in a supporting struggle against Fred Ledebuhr. John [Bull] Doehring, former Chicago Bears football player, meets Steve Nagy in one of three other engagements. . . . Another mat show this evening will be topped by Frankie Talaber, Chicago light heavyweight star, in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. . . . An amateur fight program will be held tonight in the Bill Rand Boys' club, 7508 Saginaw avenue. . . .

Before meeting a Y. M. C. A. boxing squad from Toronto, Ont., in Libertyville, March 25, the Libertyville Boys' club will meet Culver Military academy boxers in Culver, Ind., Saturday. . . . Billy Gillespie, Stone Lake, Wis., heavyweight, will undergo an operation in the eye infirmary at the University of Wisconsin tomorrow. . . . Bill Jones of the south side, proprietor of one of the oldest gymnasiums for colored boxers in the country, is dead at 55 years of age. . . . The fight in Los Angeles between Sammy Angott, Louisville lightweight, and Georgie Crouch has been changed from March 24 to March 21. . . . Leo Rodak, Chicago featherweight, worked out yesterday in Trafton's gymnasium for a ten rounder with Everett Rightmire of Sioux City, Ia., in St. Louis tomorrow. The match will serve as the semi-final to a bout involving Henry Armstrong and Lew Feldman. . . . Boxers from the Catholic Youth organization will participate in a show in Sycamore, Ill., tomorrow. . . . Five amateur boxers of the Fox Valley gymnasium in Batavia will appear on the program in the Madison Athletic club Friday. They are Virgil McKiness, Verner Millett, Ernie Deutsch, Stanley White, and Math Messmer.—F. M.

Illinois Turf Body Awards Racing Dates

with the uncertainties of September weather. In the interests of harmony he said that Hawthorne would amend its application so as to eliminate the conflict with Sportsman's Park over the first week of October providing Hawthorne got Labor day.

Lindheimer replied that Washington Park needed Labor day to maintain its program of purses and stakes. He said that if Washington Park were given Labor day this season it would not apply for it next year, leaving Hawthorne with a clear field. With regard to Hawthorne's offer to trade September with Labor day for August without that holiday, Lindheimer said that a September meeting was simply out of the question for a track in Washington Park's location.

After hearing these arguments the commission went into executive session and made its decision, giving Labor day to Hawthorne.

At a commission meeting on the previous day Col. Matt Winn of Lincoln Fields had offered to compromise with Aurora by changing his application from a May 22 opening to May 25. Aurora, represented by D. C. Burnett, had asked to run until Memorial day.

They Wanted Labor Day.

Thomas Nash, representing Sportsman's Park, offered to share a portion of the disputed week with Hawthorne by giving the latter track Monday and Tuesday. Hawthorne officials, however, said they wouldn't want those days and would be willing to let the entire week go if they got Labor day.

Aurora—May 1 to May 24; 21 days.
Lincoln Fields—May 25 to June 24; 27 days.
Arlington Park—June 26 to July 29; 30 days.
Washington Park—July 31 to Sept. 2; 30 days.
Hawthorne—Sept. 4 to Sept. 30; 24 days.
Sportsman's Park—Oct. 2 to Oct. 31; 26 days.

The Lantz bill, aimed at the abolition of the present racing commission, may be taken up today by the state senate's committee on license and miscellany. The bill was referred to this group when it was introduced into the legislature in Springfield last Tuesday by Senator Simon Lantz of Congerville. The committee is scheduled to meet today for the first time since the measure was referred to it.

CARDS HAVE A BAD DAY; LOSE GAME, CATCHER

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals lost a game and a catcher today.

The Cincinnati Reds, with the aid of home runs by Ernie Lombardi and Bucky Walters, routed the Cards, 9 to 2. Catcher Don Padgett was lost to St. Louis for an indefinite period when he dislocated his left shoulder as he fell rounding second base.

The one bright spot of the game for the Cardinals was the pitching of young Ken Ruffensberger, who yielded the hard hitting Reds only one hit in three innings. Score:

Cincinnati [N.L.]	000	100	413	9	10	0
St. Louis [N.L.]	010	000	100	2	8	1

INDIANS, 6; PELICANS, 1.

New Orleans, La., March 14.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians, behind the seven hit pitching of Johnny Humphries, Charles Suche, and Joe Dobson, whipped the New Orleans Pelicans, 6 to 1 today in an exhibition game.

Manager Oscar Vitt shifted his infield, moving Second Baseman Oscar Grimes to first and giving Jim Shilling, Pelican graduate, a chance at second. The move helped the attack, Grimes getting a home run and Shilling a single and double.

New Orleans	010	000	000	1	7	3

DODGERS, 6; RED SOX, 3.

Clearwater, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers opened up with a late homer attack today to beat the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 3. Leading 2 to 1, going into the seventh inning, the Dodgers doubled their score on home runs by Fred Sington and Dolph Camilli, and Babe Phelps added two more runs with a circuit drive in the eighth with one on.

Luke Hamlin and Whit Wyatt limited the Sox to six hits, while the Dodgers made eight off a trio of Boston rookies, Wayman Kerksieck, Wilfrid Lefebvre and Frank Dasso. Score:

TIGER YANNIGANS WIN.

Lakeland, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—Rookies held the spotlight in the Detroit Tiger camp today as the yannigans beat the regulars, 3 to 2, in seven innings.

Paul Trout and Bob Harris yielded the regulars only five hits. Dixie Walker, playing first base for the yannigans, continued his heavy hitting with a triple and two singles.

NEWSOM STILL BALKS.

San Antonio, Tex., March 14.—(AP)—Buck Newsom, the Browns' holdout pitcher, and club officials were still far from an agreement today over the big righthander's 1939 salary.

Newsom, who was offered a raise after winning twenty games last year, declared the club refused to increase the amount during conferences the last few days. He has stated he wants $20,000, a $7,500 raise.

ROLFE OFF FOR CAMP.

Concord, N. H., March 14.—(AP)—Robert Rolfe, Yankee third baseman, who has been listed as a holdout, today was on his way to Florida to join the world champions. Rolfe would not say whether he had come to terms.

DYKES CHOOSES STAR PITCHERS TO OPPOSE CUBS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 14.—Thornton Lee, the lefty who harvested thirteen victories for the White Sox last season, will not have the pleasure of doing his bit for his associates next Friday when they meet the Cubs in Los Angeles in the first of the important spring exhibition jousts.

Manager Jim Dykes' original plan was that Lee would have a share of the south siders' first encounter with their back yard enemies, who, since the Sox last saw them, have acquired a National league but not a world title. Lee's right ankle twisted when he stepped on the edge of a base a week ago, has suffered a relapse.

Don't Be Too Gay, Cubs.

Yesterday the ailment appeared to have vanished so Lefty went into action on the mound during batting practice. The exercise was too strenuous and when the manager observed the limp had returned this morning, he ordered his lefthanded expert to restrict himself to crossword puzzles for the next few days.

The Cubs are advised not to regard Lee's infirmity as a break in their behalf. Dykes still intends to offer what he thinks will be pretty good pitching. Last spring he employed pitching rookies but now it's a different matter, because of Gabby Hartnett's alleged declaration that he intended to end the Sox jinx for all time.

So as proof that he, too, intends to be serious, Dykes has nominated John Whitehead to substitute for Lee. John can pitch better than the average worker, even when he is out of shape, but right now he is just about as good as he ever was, except that he can't withstand the strain of a nine inning journey.

Rigney to Start Game.

John Rigney, Chicagoland product who is being figured as a possible 1939 sensation, an expectation based on his effectiveness the last half of the 1938 season, will start against the Cubs and remain for three innings unless there are painful developments. Vic Frasier, the 32 year old rookie, who, since his big league debut ten years ago has learned a lot, will be given the next three. Whitehead will be held in reserve for the finish, an arrangement which indicates Dykes expects to be leading when John shows up and that John will not relinquish the edge.

Along with the forced alteration in the pitching department, Dykes today came across with a voluntary rearrangement of his batting order. Last Sunday the Pasadena Merchants were the opposition in the spring's first game and the class of the competition didn't warant master minding. So First Baseman Joe Kuhel was permitted to occupy the cleanup position, but for Friday, and possibly for an indefinite period, the Sox will have Luke Appling batting in the No. 4 spot.

And Here's the Lineup.

The manager is hoping that eventually Gerald Walker, who is supposed to be better than Appling at distant hitting, will show himself capable of holding the clean-up post. Right now Jerry is a flu convalescent and not able to lay claim to his left field job.

Sportsmen Seek to Block River Drainage Project

BY BOB BECKER.

Duck hunters, farmers, conservationists, and United States engineers will meet in Springfield, Ill., this morning to discuss the proposed Sangamon drainage project which, if carried out, will deprive the migrating waterfowl of thousands of acres of lowlands and reduce hunting grounds for many Chicago sportsmen.

The project calls for a broad, deep channel in the lower Sangamon river for a distance of five miles above the junction of that stream and the Illinois river. This channel will reduce the water table 3 feet. It originally was planned to have this dredged channel about 80 feet wide. Now the width has been set at approximately 115 feet.

L. H. Barkhausen, national president of Ducks Unlimited, is one of a number of sportsmen and conservationists who are in Springfield today to oppose the construction of this Sangamon channel, which would be officially classed as a "flood control" project.

"We are opposed to this dredging and the lowering of the Sangamon river country water table because not even this big channel will prevent the river from overflowing," said Barkhausen yesterday in discussing the effects of the project on wild life.

This morning's hearing was arranged by Senator Scott Lucas so that all residents of the Sangamon valley, property owners, and sportsmen would have an opportunity to register their objections or approve the project. United States engineers may do the work if an appropriation is obtained from congress.

The waterfowl situation in Illinois now is getting consideration from the state legislature for senate bill 23 [to create a migratory bird commission] is on third reading in the senate. This bill would create a commission of ten to go to Washington for the purpose of "securing modifications and amendments to the migratory bird act. The bill defines the present duck laws as "apparently discriminatory and prejudicial as applied to the residents and sportsmen of the state of Illinois."

Others in the spill were Sweeping Vine, ridden by Ted King; General Boy, ridden by Albert Gaither, and Lucky Child, ridden by Bobby Tilden.

General Boy, although riderless, finished second, but was disqualified. The race was won by C. E. Davidson's Navanod at odds of $50.40 for $2. Credulous was second and Tacheone third.

70 Yard Sprints Draw Star Field in Armour Relays

The event that requires the shortest time to complete may provide the big thrill in the eleventh annual Armour Tech relay games Saturday in the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

It is the 70-yard dash, which can be negotiated in slightly more than seven seconds. Armour Tech officials, poring over the list of entries yesterday, discovered that the defending 70-yard champion, John Davenport of the Maroons, will be confronted by a number of speedy gentlemen.

One of them is Myron Piker of Northwestern university, who dethroned Davenport last week as the 60-yard Western conference champion. Piker ran the distance in :06.2. Davenport will have to show much improvement over his Big Ten meet form, since he finished fifth in the 60-yard event.

Another threat in the 70-yard dash is Wilbur Greer of Michigan State, who will be making his first appearance in the Tech relays since 1937.

Wisconsin has a 70-yard candidate in Frank Kaufman, who placed in the Big Ten finals here and who has a time of :06.4 for the 60 yards.

Riggs, concluding a match interrupted by rain yesterday, pulled out a 6-3, 10-8 decision over George Wardman, former Yale player, and Sabin, the defending champion, defeated William Freisenbruch, Bermuda's No. 1 player, 6-3, 7-5.

MORE AGE TROUBLE

Ziegler, Ill., March 14.—(AP)—Complications over the 20 year age limit for players in the state high school basketball tournament spread today.

First it appeared that Byron Roodhouse of the Roodhouse team was a very unfortunate young man because he will be 20 years old Saturday and unable to compete in games that day, even if his team reaches the semi-finals.

But Zeigler High school, first round opponent of Roodhouse on Thursday in Champaign, came up with an even more doleful situation. Its star guard, Walter Neidch, becomes 20 years old at 4:30 p. m. on Thursday.

Zeigler is scheduled to play its first round game at 3 p. m. in the University of Illinois gymnasium, but Principal J. S. Brashears of Zeigler High school said today:

"Of course, we can't let Neidch play even the first game. It will weaken us considerably."

COUNTY PLEDGES HELP WITH CITY SUPERHIGHWAYS

Engineers to Start Work on Preliminary Plans.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Cook county administration pledged its coöperation yesterday with Mayor Kelly's plans for a $100,000,000 superhighway construction program for Chicago. Acting Governor John Stelle previously had indorsed the proposal. Enabling legislation is pending in Springfield. The project is to be a joint one by the three governmental units.

Representatives of the city, county, and state met yesterday afternoon in the county board rooms with 100 delegates from civic organizations.

"I come here to ask the support of the county in this plan," said Philip Harrington, Kelly's commissioner of subways and traction. "Chicago has started its subway. The traction question is being solved. We're now ready to undertake the second half of our transportation problem, the construction of a system of arterial pavements for private automobiles.

Bill Provides for Notes.

"There is no need for demonstrating the demands and requirements of automobile trafic. They are familiar. The locations or the routes and the types of design are engineering questions that can easily be solved. The first step that must be taken is a financial plan. We believe we have such a plan."

The bill introduced in the senate last week provides for the issuance of notes to provide funds for the work. The notes would be retired by future gasoline tax collections. The state would contribute $40,000,000, the city $30,000,000, and the county $30,000,000 in this manner.

"I can assure the city of Cook county's active support of this plan," said President Clayton F. Smith of the county board. "The governmental units each can begin simultaneous construction on a branch of this superhighway system."

Engineers to Start Work.

"The county engineers," said Commissioner Daniel Ryan, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, "will be instructed to begin work on preliminary construction plans immediately."

Others who spoke included Hugh Young, engineer for the Chicago Plan commission; Robert Kingery, manager of the Chicago Regional Planning association; Robert Nau of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Joseph J. Cavanagh of the Chicago Motor club, and several aldermen.

BRUCE SCOTT, 65, BURLINGTON'S ATTORNEY, DIES

Bruce Scott.

Bruce Scott, vice president and general counsel of the Burlington railroad system, died yesterday of coronary thrombosis in Pasadena, Cal. He would have been 65 years old next Tuesday.

Mr. Scott, a native of Kaneville, in Kane county, was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1895. He took post-graduate work at the universities of Wisconsin, Chicago, and Berlin, Germany. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1897 and practiced law in Aurora from 1897 to 1905. From 1906 to 1911 he was a member of the political science and law faculties at the University of Wisconsin.

He became general attorney of the Burlington in 1911 and in 1917 was made general solicitor. His rise to general counsel and vice president followed.

Park Board Orders 12 New Radio Equipped Police Cars

Bell, assistant park general superintendent, said the new cars will be equipped with one way police radios, adjusted to the park radio system. The twelve cars being traded in on the new ones are now equipped with radios built to operate along with the city police radio system. The park district already has sixteen cars equipped with two way police radios adjusted to the park system and forty cars with one way radios adjusted to the city system.

ACT TO DEVELOP SMALL PARKS IN CROWDED AREAS

Board Orders Study Urged by Mayor.

A survey to develop a plan proposed by Mayor Kelly for the development of small parks and playgrounds throughout the city was authorized yesterday by the park board. The survey will be made by a committee of park officials named by the commissioners on the recommendation of Robert J. Dunham, board president.

Dunham read to the board a letter from Mayor Kelly, who suggested that the commission proceed immediately in developing a comprehensive plan for the acquisition, design, and development of new park areas.

Needs Pointed Out.

The letter stated that the mayor believes that numbers of small parks and children's playgrounds should be acquired speedily in areas not now adequately served. It said many thickly populated areas are almost devoid of parks.

Dunham referred to a report made last year by a citizens' committee which investigated park affairs. That committee recommended an immediate concentration of effort in establishing small parks in congested areas where they are needed.

City Plan Being Prepared.

Dunham said the new committee will have available in a short time a plan of the city and its recreational facilities now being prepared by the engineering staf of the Chicago Plan commission and the Chicago Recreation commission. Park commissioners will work out methods of financing new acquisitions.

The committee named yesterday includes George T. Donoghue, general superintendent, chairman; Ralph H. Burke, chief engineer; W. I. Bell, assistant general superintendent; Robert E. Moore Jr., landscape architect; John O. Rees, general attorney; James P. Gallagher, construction engineer; Otto K. Jelinek, trafic engineer; V. K. Brown, recreation director, and Walter Roy, assistant recreation director.

A FAMILY PUTS ITS FOOT DOWN; BARS A SUITOR

Charles Brodman, 19 years old, who was arrested Sunday when he went to call on a young lady he admired and refused to leave, need never hope to see her again, a spokesman for her family said firmly yesterday.

When Brodman appeared in Boys' court on a disorderly conduct charge Monday neither the girl he was calling on, Miss Sylvia Izaks, 17, of 5012 North Sawyer avenue, nor her father, Louis, appeared against him. But she will have nothing more to do with him, a family friend said over the Izaks' phone last night.

Brodman, who said he lived at 4739 Bernard street, told police he had obtained a scholarship at the University of Chicago and attended classes there for more than a year. University officials said neither was the case. He was employed for three weeks in the university's business office, they said, by an organization making a land use survey of the neighborhood.

NEW AIR SAFETY BOARD OPENS A CHICAGO OFFICE

A branch office of the air safety board of the new Civil Aeronautics Authority was opened yesterday in the Terminal building at Chicago airport. Warren Carey and L. D. Cuddeback, veteran airline executive now with the CAA, will be in charge temporarily. They will investigate all airplane accidents in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North Dakota.

This area has 26 per cent of all aircraft in the United States and 23 per cent of the pilots. The Chicago office is the second regional one to be opened by the air safety board, the first being at Los Angeles.

Carey and Cuddeback soon will be transferred to the Pacific coast, it was stated. Ralph A. Reed will head the investigators here, aided by J. E. Jones and E. H. Jose, now in Los Angeles. Phil Salzman, investigator from Washington, has charge of the establishment of the office.

The MASSACRE Chicago's 1939 Trafic Toll

INCREASE POLICE TODAY TO CURB SPRING SPEEDERS

Spring is in the air note: Motorists who feel like stepping on the gas because of the balmy spring air of the last few days had better watch out.

Police Chief James B. Kerr of the park district will place nine additional squads on park boulevards today. Their jobs will be to see that the spring air does not bring an increase in accidents caused by speeding.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 176 persons were killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 141 were killed in Chicago, where 3,652 were injured in the same period.

The red haired baby girl who won Policeman Joseph Faust's heart the moment he saw her six weeks ago became his daughter yesterday. Policeman Faust and his wife adopted Baby Gloria in proceedings over which Judge Albert Isley of Newton presided in County court.

Gloria, now almost 4 months old, was abandoned early in February by her mother, Mrs. Irene Marino. When the infant was brought into the Warren avenue police station Policeman Faust wanted to take her home to 5132 Deming place. Mrs. Faust was enthusiastic, but regulations required that the baby be taken to an orphanage until her status was determined.

Presently Mrs. Marino reappeared and the Fausts took her and her baby both into their home with their adopted son, John, 3½ years old. Mrs. Marino decided it would be an ideal home for Gloria. Attorney Francis D. O'Mara drew up adoption papers. Mrs. Marino went to Wisconsin to take a job and the Fausts became the legal parents of Gloria.

BROKER IS FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN EVANSTON HOME

Melvin Charles Townsend, a member of the Board of Trade since 1913, was found dead of a bullet wound last night in the basement of his home at 2214 Hartzell street, Evanston. He was seated in a rocking chair. A bullet from a .22 caliber rifle had entered his right temple. The gun lay beside him.

Townsend, who was 66 years old, traded through the McKenna & Strasser grain brokerage firm at 141 West Jackson boulevard. His wife, Harriet, told police he was feeling ill when they were ready to go to a neighborhood club meeting earlier in the evening. She went alone. Unable to find him when she returned, she went to the basement and discovered the tragedy. No notes were found.

Besides the widow two daughters and a son also survive.

He Needs Dozen Eggs to Make Cake.

Hans Bendl is chef of the Hotel Utah, Salt Lake city. He has been a chef since 1908, has worked in Berlin, Paris, Cairo, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, New York City, and many of this country's finest hotels. He can whip you up anything from a cheap [$3.50] wedding cake to a festival cake nine feet high and weighing three-quarters of a ton [$250].

But in the kitchen of his own home, Hans has nothing to say. When he tries to make just one little ordinary cake, he says, his wife frowns and orders him out.

"I can make a better one with three eggs and a dab of butter," she says. "You—you must have a dozen eggs."

Leaves Wife at Home.

Yesterday, however, in the 131st regiment armory, 16th street and Michigan avenue, Mrs. Bendl was not around. And Hans, here for the Fourth Salon of Culinary Art and the National Food, Cookery and Allied Trades exposition, was happy. He was making dainty flowers of sugar and coloring. And even the blisters, inevitable when you are handling syrup which has been neated to 320 degrees fahrenheit, failed to bother him.

"When I made a half ton cake for the president of the Mormon church on his eighty-second birthday," Hans said, "I lost a thumbnail from the heat."

His biggest cake, the nine foot high one, took one hundred hours to make. It was in twenty layers, decorated with 200 sugar roses, 100 daisies, 200 fuchsias, and 300 or 400 other flowers. And into it went 100 pounds of sugar, 50 of butter, 1,200 eggs, 150 pounds of flour, 15 of almond paste, a pint of vanilla, a dozen lemons, a dozen oranges, and half a pound of salt.

Master Chefs Show Work.

Hans is only one of the 457 chefs, most of them from Chicago hotels, whose work is on display in the armory. Their genius is shown in everything from breakfast rolls to the fanciest Easter eggs, from sugar animals and buildings to two lobsters, dressed like waiter and chef, serving a model of a ham. Many of the exhibits have been in preparation since Christmas.

Thousands of samples of baked goods also were on display in the Edgewater Beach hotel, where the American Society of Bakery Engineers were holding their sixteenth annual convention. More than 10,000 delegates were registered.

HELD ON NARCOTICS CHARGES.

Three women, one of them a Chinese, were held to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday on charges of violating the narcotics laws.

EXCHANGES ASK BROAD CHANGES IN SEC CONTROL

Want Rules Defined, Simple Reports.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—The New York Stock exchange and fifteen other exchanges tonight recommended to the Securities and Exchange commission sweeping modifications of federal securities regulations.

The recommendations, which were submitted to William O. Douglas, SEC chairman, called for clearer definition of rulese on manipulation and asked that corporations be allowed to simplify the registration statements they file with the commission.

The principal recommendation asked the commission to define what a spokesman termed "good" and "bad" manipulations and suggested that rules be evolved over a period of years regarding borderline cases.

Want Manipulation Defined.

In a statement to the commission the exchanges said:

"There is need for a clear definition of what constitutes manipulation or a fairly complete statement of what is not regarded as such.

"The mere fear of being accused, with the resulting loss of business reputation, of violating a penal statute so vague in its terms that no person may know or obtain clear legal opinion as to whether his contemplated acts will violate the statute, deters men from performing acts which are beneficial and wholly in the public interest.

"At the same time the vagueness of the statute serves to make it a law which does not deter the unscrupulous."

In a letter to the SEC which accompanied the recommendations, the exchanges complained that "markets are thin; prices erratic."

View Recovery Hampered.

This, it was stated, has hampered the raising of capital and stood in the way of business recovery.

"We do not intend to attribute the thinness of the present market wholly to regulations," the statement said.

The commission also was urged to modify the regulation relating to the use of inside information by large stockholders, directors, and officers. This rule applies to profits made from transactions effected within six months of one another.

It was suggested that section 16 [B] of the securities and exchange act of 1934 be repealed. This section provides that suits to recover profits arising from the use of inside information may be brought against large stockholders, directors, and officers.

BILL SEEKS TAX CURB TO RETAIN ILLINOIS FIRMS

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—A bill intended to prevent an exodus of utility holding companies from the state was introduced in the house today by Representative Edward J. McCabe, chief deputy assessor of Cook county. The measure would limit assessments on intangible personal property of non-Illinois companies. Only that amount used in doing business in this state would be assessed.

Officials of the $916,000,000 Standard Gas and Electric company, who announced their headquarters would be moved to New York, April 1, have indicated that such a change might persuade them to remain in Chicago. The firm was incorporated in Delaware.

FOREIGN MONEY MARKET QUIET ON NEW CRISIS

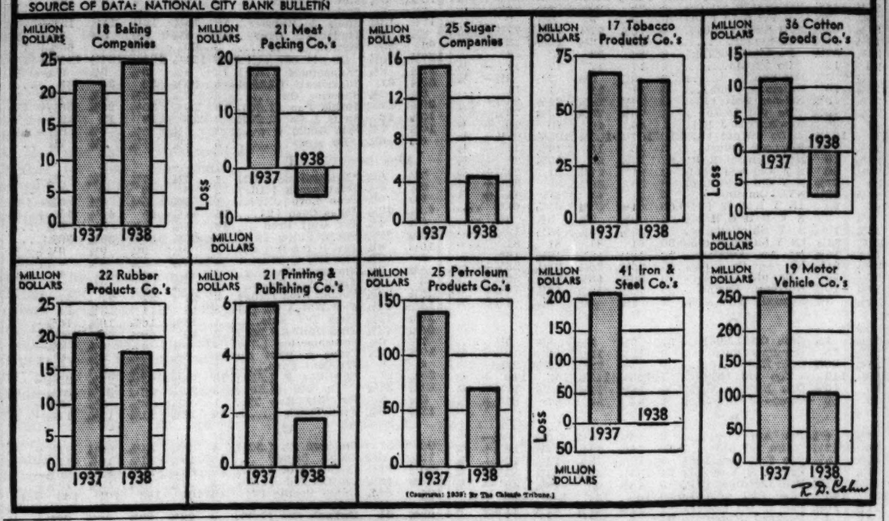
The foreign exchange market, regarded as a sensitive barometer of international developments, was quiet yesterday in the face of the day's developments in central Europe.

British and French currencies were quoted moderately lower in terms of the dollar. Transactions were limited largely to commercial dealings, brokers reported. Prices on the London and Paris stock exchanges were easier. Quotations on the Berlin exchange rose moderately.

Gold amounting to $3,492,000 was engaged in England for shipment to the United States.

Profits of Leading Corporations in 10 Industries in 1937 and 1938

SOURCE OF DATA: NATIONAL CITY BANK BULLETIN



Net of United Engineering in '38 $3,192,619

Reflecting well sustained demand for heavy machinery, particularly on the part of the steel industry, the United Engineering and Foundry company in 1938 had net earnings exceeded only once before in its history.

Frank W. Lovejoy reports Kodak sales increase.

George T. Ladd, president of the company, announced yesterday at Pittsburgh that last year's operations yielded net profits of $3,192,619, equal to $3.82 a share on the common stock, after preferred dividends.

This compared with the record level established in 1937 of $4,043,644, equal to $4.86 a share. Ladd told stockholders there had been an improvement in the heavy machinery business toward the close of the year, and said United's service and products are being extended "into many foreign countries."

Revere Copper Sales Gaining.

Although Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., operated at a loss during 1938, the annual report said that current sales are "considerably better than they were a year ago and that the outlook for the future is more encouraging."

A net profit of $328,667 in the final quarter of 1938 was not sufficient to offset earlier losses, and the net loss for the full year was $2,125,407. This compared with 1937 net profits of $414,759.

The Eastman Kodak company reported for 1938 net profit of $17,339,408, equal to $7.54 a share on common stock, compared with 1937 net earnings of $22,347,345, or $9.76 a share.

"Since the close of 1938," said W. G. Stuber, chairman, and F. W. Lovejoy, president, "sales in general show an increase over the corresponding period of last year." They expressed confidence the company "will share in the business improvement generally forecast for 1939."

Business Volume Lower.

Although the company's volume of business declined $3,350,000 from the peak level established in 1937, much of the reduction was attributed to a decline in the values of foreign currencies, which reduced dollar volume.

The Murray Corporation of America, producer of automobile parts and bodies, reported for 1938 a net loss of $1,495,670, compared with 1937 net profits of $877,364, equal to 92 cents a share.

The Novadel-Agene corporation, which markets a process for bleaching flour, had the highest profits on record last year. Net income for 1938 was $1,535,523, equal to $3.23 a share, compared with 1937 net income of $1,447,797, or $3.05 a share.

BUTTER STEADY AFTER DECLINE CAUSED BY HALT IN U. S. BUYING

Wholesale butter prices were unchanged yesterday, indicating the market had recovered from the shock of last Wednesday's news that the federal government was withdrawing its supporting "peg." The price of 92 score butter remained at 21¾ cents a pound, or 3¾ cents below the level at which the government had stabilized the market for several months.

Quotations had fallen 4¼ cents at New York since the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation announced its withdrawal from the market. There was a ¼ cent recovery yesterday.

As the cash market held steady at its five year low level, prices of butter futures were firm to ⅛ cent higher in light trading on the Chicago Mercantile exchange.

Traders' confidence in the market was supported by the rapidity with which the decline in wholesale prices was passed along to retail buyers, it was reported. There was nervousness, however, over the coming season's production possibilities and the slow rate of reduction in the holdings of the Dairy Products Marketing association, which still total 69,500,000 pounds.

Egg futures closed unchanged to ¼ cent higher, with March storage packs in new high ground for the season at 18⅛ cents.

Miners Seek 30 Hour Week and More Pay

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—Opening negotiations for a new two year contract with Appalachian soft coal operators, the United Mine Workers of America today demanded a six hour day, five day week and a wage increase of 50 cents a day. This demand, if granted, would add an estimated $40,000,000 or more to the nation's annual coal bill.

Contract Expires March 31.

The present contract expires March 31. It provides for a seven hour day and thirty-five hour week, with a basic daily wage of $6 in the north and $5.60 in the south.

In addition to the basic wage and hour demands the union also asks a guarantee of 200 working days a year for all miners, two weeks' vacation with pay, seniority rights, and the right of the union to join the operators in supervising medical care and hospitalization in mine villages.

Operators Reply Today.

When both sides have presented their views the proposals will be submitted to a joint committee of thirty-two members, evenly divided. Subcommittees may be appointed to report on specific subjects.

HOLD SEC USES WIDE POWER AS POLITICAL MACE

Business Men Fear Federal Reprisals.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—The financial community would regard the widely publicized motives of the Securities and Exchange commission with less suspicion if the five year record of the federal agency had been one of fair and wise administration throughout. But the record is stained at several points.

J. Edward Jones, who whipped SEC in Supreme court.

Considerable evidence is at hand to prove the SEC has used its enormous powers of prosecution for political persecution and pressure. Financial houses are fearful the bludgeon will be wielded at any moment.

But, in addition to the political complexion of the SEC under the Roosevelt régime, business men who were interviewed here and in New York were highly critical of the general procedure under which the commission carries on an investigation.

Innocent Firms Suffer.

There have been cases, it was pointed out, when financial houses, innocent of any wrongdoing, were placed under the glare of the SEC spotlight on suspicion and suffered heavily for it. The cost of defending an action brought by the SEC is high and losses are sustained through the withdrawal of accounts by customers who believe the house under inquiry is in ill repute.

The case of White, Weld & Co., investment bankers, is much in point. From a reliable source it was learned that it cost the concern $250,000 to "vindicate itself" in its controversy with the SEC. A. M. White, managing partner of the firm in New York, refused to confirm or deny this report, saying he did not want to comment on the case.

Summons All Partners.

The SEC summoned the thirteen partners of White, Weld & Co. to a hearing on June 1, 1936, for the pur-

Bank Quits as Bond Trustee in Fight for C. & O. Control

New York, March 14.—(AP)—The Guaranty Trust company announced tonight its resignation as trustee for two issues of Alleghany corporation bonds. Wall street circles saw in the move a probable final cessation of the warfare between Guaranty and Robert R. Young for control of the $750,000,000 Chesapeake & Ohio railway.

The trust company's announcement came as a surprise to financial and rail circles, where it had been expected the battle, marked by a brief truce, would be renewed for a final showdown at the C. & O. annual meeting in April.

Alleghany corporation, through a subholding company, Chesapeake corporation, owns about 26 per cent of Chesapeake & Ohio common, but the shares are pledged as collateral for the Alleghany bonds. Young is chairman of Alleghany corporation.

Fight for Profitable Road.

In and out of the courts since early in 1938, Young and Guaranty, with other Wall street interests, engaged in a bitter struggle for voting rights in the profitable C. & O.

Guaranty was in the contest as trustee for the Alleghany corporation bond issues which were short of the necessary margin of collateral. The indentures gave the trust company voting rights when collateral fell below 150 per cent of the face value of the bonds.

The trust company's announcement said it was resigning under the indenture securing the collateral trust 5 per cent bonds of Alleghany corporation, due in 1949 and 1950. The institution will continue as trustee for the bonds due in 1944.

Change Effective April 14.

The resignation will take effect on April 14 or earlier if the Alleghany corporation bondholders meanwhile select a new trustee.

Guaranty explained its action was due to a "conflict" of interests resulting from Alleghany corporation's recent successful quest for an interim appraisal of collateral behind the 5s of 1944. This disclosed collateral value and deposited cash was equal to 152.4 per cent of the face value of the bonds. They were in the clear by virtue of a recent rise in the market price of C. & O. shares.

The other two issues, affected by the trust company's retirement, are still short by a considerable margin of the 150 per cent collateral value fixed by the indentures.

The trust company's statement also disclosed Guaranty had released to Alleghany corporation $75,000 from income impounded under the 1944 indenture. Alleghany had asked Guaranty to release $613,350 for "corporate purposes."

In the absence of further details Wall street circles were disposed to conclude Young had gained considerable ground in his fight to maintain control of the C. & O.

Czech Bonds Collapse on Nazi Dictation

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—Urgent liquidation forcing prices down as much as 14 points hit Czecho-Slovakian issues on the bond market today. Selling followed formal announcement of the resignation of the Prague government. Other sections of the market held firm.

Widest loss in Czecho-Slovakian issues was recorded by the 8s of 1952, which plunged to 60, off 14 points, on the sale of $11,000, par value, bonds. The 8s of 1951 yielded 8 points to 63 on sales of $19,000, par value. Widely different opinions existed in Wall Street as to the eventual influence of European developments on the Czech issues.

Other foreign loans were not under pressure. German, Norwegian, and Japanese bonds scored small fractional gains. Polish funds were in demand, the 8s of 1950 moving up 1⅛ points to 37. Some of the recently buoyant South American issues were subject to profit taking, declining fractionally to about 2 points.

Domestic corporation bonds were steady, with small changes recorded in both directions. Loew's, Colorado Fuel and Iron, and American Telephone and Telegraph registered minor gains.

Some of the rail issues retreated. Delaware and Hudson, Southern Pacific, and Northern Pacific lost fractions. Nickel Plate 4½s of 1978 moved against the trend to gain ¾ point at 59¼.

Interest in United States governments was slight. Gains to 4-32d point were offset by losses up to 2-32d point.

Argentina to Trade Grain for German Rail Equipment

BUENOS AIRES, March 14.—(AP)—Argentina is concluding an agreement with Germany, unofficial but reliable sources said today, to barter 100,000 tons of wheat in exchange for German-made railway equipment. At the present wheat prices here, the deal would amount roughly to about $2,000,000.

NEW DEAL BACKS DOWN ON PLEDGE TO AID BUSINESS

Roosevelt, Others Doubt Tax Change.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—The administration's widely publicized program for "business appeasement" came to an abrupt halt today when President Roosevelt and other leaders indicated doubts about tax revision at this session.

Rep. Bankhead sees no tax revision.

The removal of "deterrents" to business from the present tax structure was the No. 1 step to be taken by the administration in encouraging business to go ahead, according to good will messages to business men recently by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Secretary of Commerce Hopkins.

Mr. Roosevelt and Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead today directly contradicted the earlier New Deal pronouncements with their doubts on a tax revision program.

Doubts Any "Serious Effort."

"My opinion," said Bankhead, "is that there will be no serious effort made for general revision of the tax laws at this session of congress." He added that he expected congress to provide for "continuation of the nuisance and other taxes to stabilize tax returns.

"Some people have proposed repeal of the capital stock, undistributed profits and excess profits taxes in return for a flat increase in corporation taxes," he said. "When that is analyzed it is found to be a greater burden on business."

How to Minimize

The Transfer Loss on Your Estate

YOU CAN'T entirely prevent your estate from shrinking during settlement. But you can take steps to hold this shrinkage to a minimum. Have you planned the transfer of your estate in such a way that it will suffer a minimum loss in value?

From the gross value of your estate will be deducted debts, taxes, fees and administrative expenses. These often amount to 25% of the value of an estate. Yet, in case after case, a substantial part of this loss could have been avoided.

Take, for instance, the common situation in which holdings must be sold to raise cash. Assets disposed of at forced sale usually bring far less than their actual value. Careful planning in advance can often provide sufficient cash to prevent this shrinkage.

Perhaps you and your attorney would like to discuss your estate plan with us. From our long experience in the administration of Chicago estates we can probably suggest steps you can take to minimize the transfer loss on your own estate. We will gladly talk the matter over without obligation to you.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 14.—Shaking off early nervousness, the stock market rallied in late trading today to close at irregularly higher levels. Of 759 issues traded, 295 advanced, 255 declined, and 209 closed unchanged.

Final price changes were narrow on both sides. Activity, which was slow in forenoon dealings, picked up on the late upturn. Volume reached 1,685,190 shares.

The early nervousness was attributed to apprehension that another "Munich" crisis was shaping in central Europe. Easing of the tension later by the Czechs' surrender to Berlin gave traders courage to nibble at stocks.

Leaders in the late recovery were steel, motor and rubber shares. United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown, Chrysler, General Motors, and United States Rubber were popular trading mediums.

Reports of expanding steel orders and motor sales stiffened stocks in these departments. The better outlook for remedial rail legislation in the present congressional session aided carriers. Aircrafts improved on word steps would be taken to extend the 10 per cent profit limitation on warplanes over three years.

Copper shares assumed leadership for a time on reports that opposition was growing in Chile to the proposed copper export tax.

Chicago Stocks.

Fractional advances were registered by most of the leading issues on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE average moved ahead to 11.81, from 11.73 Monday. Thirty-eight of the 91 issues traded finished with gains, 31 lost ground, and 22 closed unchanged.

Bendix recovered part of its recent loss, Abbott Laboratories improved fractionally, and Rath Packing advanced a point, the last two selling at their highest levels of 1939.

Bank Stocks.

A stronger tone dominated trading in bank stocks yesterday. Volume continued small, dealers said, although there was somewhat better dealing in Continental Illinois shares. This stock gained 50 cents and Harris Trust shares, $2. Other issues were unchanged.

TAKE SHACKLES FROM INDUSTRY, OIL CHIEFS ASK

Phillips Executives Offer Recovery Proposals.

Governmental "shackles" must be removed from industry before private enterprise can absorb the unemployed and raise the national income, stockholders of the Phillips Petroleum company were told yesterday. The statement was made in the annual report of Frank Phillips, chairman of the company, and K. S. Adams, president.

Frank Phillips.

Demanding revision of the anti-trust laws, which they described as "antiquated," the executives declared these laws "are promoting practices that are detrimental to the welfare of the nation."

Industry cannot raise the national income to replace government spending until it is given encouragement through revision of restrictive tax laws and "our one sided labor laws," they asserted.

Foresee a Better Year.

Notwithstanding these factors, there are indications that 1939 will be a better year for the oil industry than 1938, the report said. It added, however, that the first 1939 quarter is expected to show a decline in the industry's earnings.

The statement showed 1938 net income was $9,049,122 after a $1,268,703 adjustment to bring inventories down to market values as of Dec. 31, 1938. This was equal to $2.03 a share and compared with 1937 net earnings of $24,113,874, or $5.42 a share. Overproduction and destructive competitive practices within the industry were responsible for the decline, the report said.

Urge Regulative Agency.

Unless the interstate oil compact of six principal oil states is given greater power to adjust production to demand, "a more authoritative method of control should be devised," the executives said. They urged establishment of "a governmental agency with power to sanction and enforce agreements made with industrial groups" in connection with revision of the anti-trust laws.

Such a step, they said, "would permit the necessary constructive regulation of trade practices and operating policies, correct existing abuses, and insure industrial stability and fair treatment for all concerned."

Phillips and Adams called for a half in "political reprisals" between government and business.

Plead Better Understanding.

"With a better understanding and more coöperation between leaders in business and government," they said, "fear and distrust will be banished and confidence restored. Then private spending will replace public spending and business will be accelerated. Perhaps the most encouraging [political] sign at present is an indication that these things may soon be accomplished."

RECENT BUSINESS GAINS REPORTED BY LARGE FIRMS

Finance Company Has 13 Per Cent Upturn.

Officials of the Commercial Investment Trust corporation, the American Brake Shoe and Foundry company, the Celotex corporation, and other companies yesterday reported business gains in recent periods as compared with the corresponding periods a year earlier.

P. W. Haberman, vice president of Commercial Investment Trust, told stockholders at the annual meeting that business from Jan. 1, 1939, to March 7 was about 13 per cent ahead of that for the corresponding 1938 period. The company finances installment sales in the automobile, radio, refrigerators, and stoves.

Report Dividend Earned.

Haberman told one stockholder he believes the company has earned its dividend for the first quarter of the current fiscal year. He told another that the Universal Credit corporation, a subsidiary, has contributed about 50 per cent of the total earnings of the parent corporation. Universal Credit specializes in financing the sale of Ford automobiles.

William D. Given Jr., president of American Brake Shoe and Foundry, manufacturer of equipment for the railroad and auto industries, said at a directors' meeting that shipments in the first two months of this year were 16 per cent ahead of shipments in the corresponding 1938 period. The greatest improvement, he said, was in the automotive line.

Name Audit Committee.

Directors of the company appointed a three man auditing committee composed of men not officers of the company and wholly responsible to the directors. The committee is to employ an accounting firm and personally supervise the audit. Members are: S. G. Allen, chairman of the Lima Locomotive works; W. M. Crane, president of the Crane Paper company, and W. W. Colman, president and chairman of the Bucyrus-Erie company.

H. W. Collins, vice president of Celotex, Chicago building material company, said earnings in the first quarter of the fiscal year, which began Nov. 1, ran substantially ahead of earnings in the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year.

Sales of the Chicago Molded Products corporation, manufacturer of plastics, in the first two months of 1939 were reported 9.6 per cent ahead of sales in the first two months of 1938.

URGES CONGRESS CURB ROOSEVELT MONETARY POWER

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—T. Jefferson Coolidge, one-time treasury official who quit the administration, urged congress today to curb the President's monetary powers.

Coolidge told a senate banking and currency subcommittee that "our banking system is overflooded" as a result of a gold devaluation policy, and, he declared, the President's power to devalue the dollar still further should be allowed to expire on June 30.

Coolidge is one of several men who have left posts in the treasury after policy disagreements. He was the department's undersecretary for a time and now is a Boston banker. He testified in opposition to a bill that would extend dollar devaluation power and the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund until Jan. 15, 1941.

BANK OF AMERICA CRIMINAL CHARGE IS HINTED BY SEC

Commission Cites Data It Got from Treasury.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission suggested today the possibility of criminal action growing out of its investigation of Transamerica corporation, San Francisco branch bank holding company.

The commission's reference to such a possibility was in a brief filed with the court of appeals. The brief was in defense of a federal district court's refusal to enjoin the SEC from investigating the Bank of America National Trust and Savings association as related to Transamerica corporation. Transamerica has a large interest in Bank of America.

Defend Treasury Action.

The brief cited legal precedents in support of its contention that it was proper for the secretary of the treasury to make available to other governmental agencies reports of a national bank.

"The investigation in the course of which the commission obtained information [about Bank of America] from the treasury department," the brief said, "had, potentially, both criminal and noncriminal aspects. Information obtained in the course thereof might have led to and, for all that appears, may yet lead to criminal prosecution."

In district court, Justice Jennings Bailey today denied a motion of four persons for further time to show cause why they should not be forced to testify in the commission's hearing on charges that Transamerica filed false statements with the SEC.

Orders Arguments to Proceed.

Justice Bailey ordered oral arguments tomorrow on whether the witnesses should testify. They had refused on Feb. 14 to answer questions, and the commission asked the court to compel them to testify.

The witnesses were Margaret Mallory, secretary to A. P. Giannini, chairman of Transamerica; Charles J. Smith, retired San Francisco broker; Carl Stamer, vice president of the Pacific Coast Mortgage company, and W. E. Clayton Jr., secretary treasurer of the mortgage firm, a former Transamerica affiliate.

HOUSE DEFEATS MOVE TO CURTAIL U. S. COAL BOARD

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—The house today overrode by a vote of 99 to 80 attempts to curtail activities of the bituminous coal commission.

The action followed bitter debate precipitated by Representaitve Allen [D., Pa.], who sought to cut $900,000 from a $2,900,000 commission appropriation proposed in the $160,000,000 interior department supply bill for the next fiscal year.

Allen said the commission had failed to bring a single benefit to the industry. He said the Guffey coal act was "impossible" in its present form and that "no human commission on earth" could administer the law effectively.

Board of Trade Considers Proposals to Slash Costs

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade at their meeting yesterday discussed proposals for curtailing operating expenses of the exchange. No final action was taken. The question will be considered again at the next meeting, March 21. One of the economies mentioned is the discontinuance of the securities department. It is understood, however, that the department will be retained. A board membership sold yesterday for $1,425, down $75 from the previous sale.

C. V. WHITNEY NAMED HEAD OF PAN-AMERICAN

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney today was elected chief executive officer of Pan American Airways corporation by the board of directors which he has headed since 1931.

The 39 year old scion of the Vanderbilt-Whitney families thus enters actively into transoceanic transportation in the tradition of his grandfathers, Cornelius Vanderbilt and William C. Whitney. The latter was secretary of the navy under President Cleveland.

An announcement by the international air line—which hopes to be flying the Atlantic commercially before this year ends—said that Juan T. Trippe would continue as president and general manager. Trippe and Whitney were co-leaders in organizing the old Aviation Corporation of the Americas in 1928, which started with a line from Key West to Cuba and developed into the present Pan American system encircling the Americas and crossing the Pacific.

Many Business Men Fear Federal Reprisals.

pose of showing cause why they should not be suspended or expelled from membership on various stock exchanges. They were charged with manipulating the stock of the A. O. Smith corporation.

It took more than two years to bring the case to an end. On June 22, 1938, the commission finally exonerated all the partners but one, Farris R. Russell. He was suspended from membership in all national exchanges for ninety days. The commission was forced to admit there was no actual fraud and Russell might not have been conscious that his transactions were unlawful.

Without doubt the blackest blot on the SEC's record is the hounding of J. Edward Jones, oil royalties promoter, for political reasons. Jones eventually whipped the SEC in the United States Supreme court and was found not guilty by a jury on fraud charges in another case.

Recall Clash with Ickes.

Jones, who voted for Roosevelt in 1932, fell into trouble with the administration on Nov. 24, 1934, when he demanded that the President remove Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes because, in his administration of the petroleum code, the cabinet member was showing favoritism toward big oil combines. At the same time Ickes was publicly denouncing "monopolies."

A month and two days after this bold step, Jones was summoned to Washington for an investigation into his personal business affairs by the SEC. It was not long before he learned that Ickes had given orders to his secret investigating staf to investigate Jones' activities and turn over all data to the commission. Investigators from the SEC went through the books and records in Jones' New York office.

List of Clients Seized.

A confidential list of clientele which he had built up over many years was taken and soon his customers were being called on by his competitors. Jones' home and office telephone wires were tapped.

In May, 1935, Jones filed a registration statement with the SEC in order to offer a new issue of securities to the public. The commission charged it contained "untrue" and "misleading" statements and demanded Jones appear for a hearing. Jones countered by charging the commission had pre-judged his case and announced he would withdraw the issue. The commission refused to let him withdraw and that was the issue taken to the Supreme court.

The Supreme court handed down a momentous decision on April 6, 1936, wherein it was held that the SEC's actions in the Jones' case had "no support in right principle, or in law."

Court Criticizes SEC.

"It is wholly unreasonable and arbitrary," the court went on to say. "It violates the cardinal precept upon which the constitutional safeguards of personal liberty ultimately rest—that this shall be a government of law—because to the precise extent that the mere will of an official or an official body is permitted to take the place of allowable official discretion or to supplant the standing law as a rule of human conduct, the government ceases to be one of law and becomes an autocracy."

The Supreme court decision came on April 6, 1936. The next day the United States attorney's office in New York started grand jury proceedings and on May 8 Jones was indicted for mail fraud, a penitentiary offense, in connection with the sale of $800,000 worth of certificates in a realty trust.

Jones Acquitted by Jury.

On April 30, 1937, Jones was acquitted by a jury which was out not much longer than the time needed to eat its last free meal on New York county.

Among his experiences, which Jones recounts in his book, "And So They Indicted Me," is the tale that an investigating accountant for the SEC came to him and offered to throw a monkey wrench into the case against Jones if he would make it worth while with a substantial amount of cash.

Jones also charged that a representative of the Democratic national committee offered to "square things" if he would purchase some of the campaign books in 1936. This was the out-dated convention book which was used to sandbag business men into contributing toward the 1936 campaign.

GRAIN MARKETS RECEDE; EXPORT BUYING LACKING

Grain markets developed a decidedly weak undertone yesterday. Wheat futures in Liverpool and Winnipeg declined ½ to ¾ cent a bushel with May deliveries selling at new seasonal low prices. July and September rye on the Chicago Board of Trade also went into new low ground. May corn sold within ⅝ cent a bushel of the previous seasonal low.

At no time yesterday did the grain markets show a disposition to rally. Bearish sentiment predominated Closing trades on wheat and corn futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were ⅜ cent a bushel lower.

Continued lack of export demand for North American wheat and corn was regarded as largely responsible for the pessimism among traders.

NEW DEAL BACKS DOWN ON PLEDGE TO AID BUSINESS

what the administration program for business recovery really is.

Mr. Roosevelt said that his discussions with congressional leaders have concerned principally the possibility of consolidating existing corporate taxes into one levy. The administration has in mind, he said, a consolidated corporate tax which would bring in more than 1 billion dollars, as do the present taxes.

Wants Nuisance Taxes Kept.

The President emphasized that the question of individual income taxes has not yet come up for discussion. He reiterated his belief that congress should extend the nuisance, or excise, taxes, which expire on June 30. They yield about 700 million dollars a year.

No one in the Democratic party, the President said, desired to reduce now the total amount of taxes paid by corporations. He added that the question of how these levies shall be distributed has been actively discussed.

He said that if three or four of the present corporate levies, such as the undistributed profits, capital stock, and excess profits taxes, were repealed, the government's revenues from corporate sources would be cut by approximately 15 per cent. That would mean that the flat corporate income tax would have to be increased so that its yield made up for the 18 per cent revenue loss.

Burden Would Be Same.

Critics of the administration see no advantage in such a plan, except probably more simplified bookkeeping, because the taxation burden would remain the same.

The President, still in the rôle of taxation expert, told his listeners that they should resort to common sense mathematics in analyzing the tax and revenue problem facing the administration. This was interpreted as Mr. Roosevelt's answer to the economy bloc of conservative Democrats and Republicans in congress Members of this bloc are demanding curtailment of expenditures, a strict debt limit and denial of further monetary powers to the President.

When asked what he thought of the congressional agitation for repeal of his power to issue up to 3 billion dollars in greenbacks, as contained in the Thomas amendment to the agricultural adjustment act of 1933, the President replied that he is against such repeal; that it is useful to have a club in the closet.

Meanwhile the mounting public debt continued under attack. Representative Clarence J. McLeod [R., Mich.], author of a joint resolution to appoint a committee to study the safety point of the national debt, said such a committee should be appointed promptly.

FORD OF CANADA.

Investors' Guide: I'd like to buy some stock in the Ford Motor company, but have found this is impossible because it is all held by the Ford family. I notice, however, that Ford Motor of Canada stock is selling on the New York Curb exchange, and wonder if this might serve my purpose. Is this company a Ford subsidiary? How big is it? Does it make profits?—Mrs. R. B. G.

Answer: This company makes Fords in Windsor, Ont., and sells them in Canada and the rest of the British empire, except for Great Britain and Ireland.

Ford of Canada is not a subsidiary of the Ford company in this country, but the two are closely associated. Edsel B. Ford is chairman of the Canadian company and Henry Ford is a director. Since 1904 the company has had the rights to produce Fords in Canada. Its stock is held by some 20,000 stockholders.

	Earned per. shr.	Div'ds. per.shr.
1937	$ .25	$1.50
1936	2.01	1.75
1935	.46	1.00
1934	.29	1.00

The latest 1938 earnings report showed a net loss for the first nine months of $28,500, or a loss of 10 cents a share. Dividends were $1 a share in 1938.

"How I Got a Loan of $100

"I needed $100 in a hurry. I dreaded to ask friends for a favor. And I had no security for getting a loan at a bank. What was I to do? Fortunately, I heard about Household Finance and so went to a nearby office. The manager was courteous and friendly. He merely asked me a few simple questions. The next day I got the money with 20 months to repay. Only my wife and I signed the papers. I was delighted to get a loan so simply and promptly."

Whether you are married or single, if you need a loan of $20 to $300 the manager of the Household office near you will be glad to discuss your problems with you in complete privacy and without obligation. Why not phone or visit him today?

There Are More "New" Used Cars AT YOUR Ford Dealer Every Day

If you haven't seen your Ford Dealers' big used car stocks in the last few days, you are due for a surprise.

Many "new" used cars come in every day for you to choose from. Never before have Ford dealers had such a wide range of good used cars, especially priced for quick sale, because of the sales of the Mercury 8 and the new features of the fast-selling 1939 Ford "V" Eights.

Remember, only Ford Dealers give you "R & G" protection and the 30-day guarantee in lower priced Used Cars.

What Is the Difference Between Two Seemingly Identical Cars?

In this very paper you may find two cars advertised—they have the same year, the same make, the same model, and perhaps even the same price.

You Can Only Tell by Personal Investigation

why one car is the best buy. That car has been thoroughly gone over in detail before being placed on sale. The reconditioning process has gone deeper than just a glossy finish.
